Shouldn't the safety of your employees be your first consideration on every project? Does your organization emphasize a strong safety culture that provides for a safe working environment on every job site? How does a safety culture impact your bottom line?

Join us this month as we welcome Wayne Binkins who will help us understand how to organize, maintain, quantify, and improve the safety culture at your organization.

Do you really need employee acceptance and ownership of safety? How about a top notch safety committee, weekly training programs, training documentation, and the ability to monitor your safety success? You bet!

You can start making safety a priority in your organization by attending this meeting. You can't afford to miss this one!
