Speakers

CHRISTY CULVER is an associate professor at Marion Technical College. She is a member of the Harding chapter and has given presentations at the 2007 and 2008 Statewide LANs. She received her bachelor’s degree in comprehensive business education from Ashland University, and her master’s degree in curriculum and instruction with emphasis in computers in education, also from Ashland University. She has received numerous education awards, most recently the North Central Business Education Association Post-Secondary Business Teacher of the Year, in 2010.

FR. JOSHUA WAGNER is a 1996 graduate of Westerville High School. He then attended seminary at Pontifical College Josephinum in Worthington, and also earned his bachelor’s degree in philosophy from there as well. He minored in classical languages and literature. He also learned to speak Greek, Latin, Spanish and Italian. He then went to study in Rome, earning a degree in theology from the 400-year-old Pontifical Gregorian University. He then earned a master’s degree in spirituality from the Pontifical University of St. Thomas, also in Rome. When it comes to speaking, preaching, and counseling others Joshua says he truly enjoys his chosen profession. “I love being there for the people.”
