

Golden Corridor Chapter, IAAP presents: Mind-map your way to making a successful e -portfolio in just two hours!

Saturday, Feb. 25, 2012
8:30 am – 11:45 am

Are you fed up of leaving the office late and having little time for your evening? Do you wish you could get your email down to zero; or wish to break out and do something new and different in your career? Yes of course we all do but as the weeks pass the demands on our time increase and dreams fade into the background. As the recession bites, workloads are increasing and the threat of redundancy makes us feel like we're on a never ending treadmill.

We often take our brains for granted and forget they need to be trained. Break free from your own self-defeating behaviors and bad habits by using 2012 to transform your old thinking into a shiny more effective you! Join us to learn more about how mind mapping can put your goals back on track and bring clarity to your life and career.

In part two of our morning, learn about e-portfolios and develop one for yourself using what you learned in the mind mapping session. An electronic portfolio is broadly defined as a collection of work samples, proof of training/education, and things that relate to your professional experience and background in a web-based format which may include visual graphics, downloadable files, audio and video components. It gives you an entirely new platform where you can share your career accomplishments in ways that may not be as practical to do on paper or in a resume alone. The primary difference between a print version of your professional portfolio and an electronic portfolio is the electronic portfolio is created on an Internet-based technology or website so you can easily share it with others. BRING A THUMB DRIVE WITH YOUR RESUME, CERTIFICATIONS, ETC. TO UPLOAD AND START YOUR PERSONAL E-PORTFOLIO!
