Leading the Generations

Presented by:
Dr. Todd Thomas
Associate Professor

Northwood University's
DeVos Graduate School of Management

“Leading the Generations” looks at the differences and similarities in the four generations currently represented in our current active workforce and the necessity for bridging the gaps between them. With a focus on improved communication, collaboration and leadership at all levels, this presentation covers a brief survey of generational differences in terms of history, values, communication and rewards. Participants will leave with a better understanding of the elements of these differences and how they play an important role in today’s work environment. More importantly, those attending will also learn strategies they can use immediately to leverage the strengths of the generational diversity in their workplaces.
