“Using Social Media to Advance Your Career”

Presented by
Angela Halterman, Division Director

Despite the rapid growth of social media, misperceptions about these tools are common, especially when it comes to leveraging them for professional purposes. This presentation offers a crash course in using social media to advance your career. It provides an introduction to LinkedIn, Facebook and Twitter; outlines the professional uses of these technologies; and discusses how to get started with them. Also included are pitfalls to watch out for you as embark on your social media efforts.

Angela Halterman, currently the Division Director for Officeteam in the Bellevue, Washington branch. She's worked in many industries from General Contracting, Non-Profit, to Sales and Recruiting. Most of her background was in accounting functional roles, but for two years now has been in the employment realm where she feels most at home. Something she likes the most about her position is finding other people jobs and talking about the market place we are working (or not working) in. She has a passion for knowledge and making the right fit between the client and the candidate and in 2011 she and her team of Staffing Managers have found over 400 people jobs! In her spare time, she's also a mother of a 7 year old daughter. They, along with her husband live in Auburn and enjoy the outdoors, camping, fishing, and hiking and are looking forward to warmer weather so they can get their camp trailer out again and go to the beach.
