ABOUT YOUR SPEAKERS

DOUGLAS L. BECK, AuD earned his master's degree at the University of Buffalo and his doctorate from the University of Florida. He began his career in Los Angeles at the House Ear Institute in cochlear implant research and intraoperative cranial nerve monitoring. By 1988, he was Director of Audiology at Saint Louis University. Eight years later he co-founded a multi-office dispensing practice in St Louis. In 1999, he became President and Editor-In-Chief of AudiologyOnline.com, SpeechPathology.com and HealthyHearing.com. Dr. Beck joined Oticon in 2005. From 2008 through 2015 he served as Web Content Editor for the American Academy of Audiology (AAA). In 2016 he became Senior Editor for Clinical Research at the Hearing Review and was appointed adjunct Clinical Professor of Communication Disorders & Sciences at the State University of New York at Buffalo. In 2019, he was appointed Vice President of Academic Sciences at Oticon. Dr. Beck is among the most prolific authors in audiology with 186 publications and more than 1240 abstracts, interviews and op-eds written for the AAA (2008-2015), Audiology Online (1999-2005) and the Hearing Review, addressing a wide variety of audiology and professional topics.

TED VENEMA, PhD, FAAA earned a BA in Philosophy at Calvin College (1977), an MA in Audiology at Western Washington University (1988), and a PhD in Audiology at the University of Oklahoma (1993). He has worked as a clinical audiologist, and also in the hearing aid manufacturing sector (Unitron). He taught audiology at Auburn University in Alabama (1993-95) and also at Western University in Ontario Canada (2001-06). In 2006 he initiated, developed and implemented the HIS program at Conestoga College in Kitchener Ontario. Since September 2015, Ted has been teaching in the online Hearing Instrument Sciences program at Ozarks Technical Community College in Springfield Missouri. Since September 2017 he has been teaching in the Hearing Instrument Practitioner program at Douglas College in Coquitlam BC. Ted is the author of a textbook, Compression for Clinicians, which has now been rewritten and available as a 3rd edition.

JONATHAN MIKHAIL, MS, AuD, FAAA is a clinical research audiologist at Area Hearing and Speech Clinic in Joplin, Missouri. Dr. Mikhail received his Master of Science in Communication focusing on Human Behavior in 2015 and his Doctor of Audiology in 2018 from Wichita State University. His current work focuses on pediatric and adult hearing intervention, educational audiology, electrophysiological testing, and audiological counseling. Previous research by Dr. Mikhail focused on team communication tactics and current trends in clinical counseling related to course offerings in audiology programs.

HANY M. MIKHAIL, MD, AuD, FAAA is the director of audiology at Area Hearing & Speech Clinic, INC. in Joplin, Missouri. Dr. Mikhail is a published researcher in vestibular studies and otorhinolaryngology. He received his M.D. from Tanta University School of Medicine in Montgomery, Egypt and a master's degree in otorhinolaryngology from Ain shams University in Cairo, Egypt. Dr. Mikhail completed his masters in audiology in 1990 and his doctor of audiology in 1999. His current work focuses on adult hearing intervention, hearing conservation, and audiological counseling and rehabilitation.

CASSIE FULLER, AuD is a Clinical Product Specialist for Widex USA. She completed a dual bachelor's degree in Communication Disorders and Psychology with a concentration in Neuroscience from Eastern Illinois University. She then went on to graduate with her Au.D. from the University of Kansas (Rock Chalk!). Dr. Fuller has an array of experiences spanning across multiple clinical settings which include private practice, hospital, and ENT as well as working as a patient care coordinator. She has a love of balancing science and technology along with culture and psychology in the field of audiology. This love translates to her passionate nature when teaching hearing healthcare professionals how to use technology to improve patients' lives. In her free time, she enjoys running, reading non-fiction, podcasts, and long walks with her adorable rescue dog. Cassie currently resides in New York City.

JACK SCOTT, PhD is a Senior Audiologist in Global Audiology for GN. His areas of interests include adult and geriatric hearing health and hearing remediation and its impact on cognition, tinnitus management, vestibular assessment, telehealth, and audiology outreach. Dr. Scott is a certificate holder in tinnitus management from the American Board of Audiology. He is an adjunct lecturer for Northwestern University and an adjunct research associate at Western University. Prior to joining GN Hearing, he had a clinical appointment at Northwestern University, where he co-created their tinnitus program, was an education and training audiologist for Otometrics, and was an assistant professor and clinical supervisor in audiology at Western University in Canada. He earned his Master of Arts degree in Audiology from The University of Texas at Austin, and his Doctor of Philosophy from The University of Texas at Dallas.
