USDOJ Grants Financial Management & Progress Reporting Requirements

This session will highlight programmatic updates from the Bureau of Justice Assistance, as well as a brief discussion of monitoring procedures. The panelists will also provide information and updates on: (1) streamlining the OMB Circulars and Federal Regulations, including A133, and application to grant recipients and subrecipients; (2) completion and federal use of SF-425 financial reports (e.g., policies, roll-up for accounting and internal/external reporting, use in decision making/future awards, does it intersect with FFATA or other databases, etc.); and (3) the OJP Financial Guide (including Title 2 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 200), (4) OIG site visits; common audit findings, site visit results and resolutions strategies (including VOCA) and its effects on grant recipients and subrecipients; and (5) the de minimis indirect rate for sub-recipients (6) the Performance Measurement Tool and U.S DOJ's grant management system (GMS). Participants will have an opportunity to ask questions throughout the presentation.

Presenters: Tracey Trautman, Deputy Director, Bureau of Justice Assistance, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice and Michael Williams, Staff Accountant/Trainer, Office of Chief Financial Officer, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice

10:30 AM - 10:45 AM

Break

10:45 AM - 12:15 PM

The Role of the State Administering Agency (SAA) in the Administration and Monitoring of Byrne JAG and Other Grant Funds – Experiences in the States

As a grant manager responsible for Byrne JAG and other federal grant programs you are well aware of all the moving pieces and requirements between the initial grant application process and progress reporting. One wrong move can put your entire program at risk. During this session you will hear how grants managers from other states have successfully administered their grant funding. Hear about processes and tools you can use to develop your RFPs, meet special Byrne JAG and VOCA requirements, monitor sites visits, and help subgrantees meet reporting requirements.

Part 1: The Tennessee Experience

The Tennessee Office of Criminal Justice Programs (OCJP) is responsible for approximately 22 different state and federal fund sources and oversees approximately 300 grants annually to various State Departments, local governments and non-profit agencies for criminal justice and victim service needs in Tennessee. OCJP manages a systematic, year-round cycle for determining the communities' needs, identifying the justice system's problems, setting program priorities, making grant allocation decisions, managing those funded projects, and evaluating results. In this session you will hear about OCJP's processes and tools used to develop and oversee priorities, score funding proposals, and monitor subgrantee activity.

Presenter: Jeremiah Morton, Senior Program Manager State of Tennessee, Office of Criminal Justice Programs

Part 2: The Pennsylvania Experience

The Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency (PCCD) provides leadership in system-wide coordination and in building collaboration among public servants and private citizens representing all aspects of the criminal and juvenile justice systems and victim services. PCCD awards up to $200 million annually across multiple funding streams to support local and statewide efforts. PCCD utilizes an Advisory Committee structure to provide guidance and inform policy and funding decisions. In addition, PCCD supports Criminal Justice Advisory Boards (CJABs) in getting started and with assistance on strategies and project implementation. In this session, you will hear about PCCD's process from identifying funding priorities through the administration and oversight of funded projects, and how CJABs provide PCCD with an efficient way to evaluate a county's suitability for support of criminal justice initiatives.

Presenters: Jackie Weaknecht, Program Manager & Kathy Clarke, Law Enforcement & Technology Unit Supervisor, Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency
