Interactive Role play for a Better Understanding of Claims Litigation

This will be a fun and informative session that will allow each participant to be actively involved in taking a case to trial. You will interpret policy language and gain insight into the decision to litigate or settle. Participants will be divided into three groups: plaintiffs, defendants and jury. Everyone will be given specific details of a real case and will work within their group to prepare and present their arguments. Staff attorneys will help each side prepare their case as will the Judge and Moderator. The Jury will decide the case based on oral arguments. The Judge will then read the outcome of the actual case. Additional discussion usually ensues as different parties agree or disagree with the court's decision.

Please join us for the start of a joyous Holiday Dinner that celebrates the season.

If you will be able to join us, please e-mail your reservation by December 2, 2010 to Jackeline.Ortiz@PB.com.
