The marketplace and the considerations off placing a policy.

The state and federal legal landscape as it relates to a cyber breach event.

There will be some live hacking, to show you just how easy it is to gain information on random strangers and discuss ways to educate your workforce to better establish a more secure workplace.

Lastly, discuss many areas to be aware of regarding the placement of a policy to avoid any potential pitfalls.

Speaker Bio – Nick Maletta:

Nick Maletta, Cyber Liability Practice Leader

Nick Maletta earned his B.A. in Management from the University of Iowa. Maletta joined Holmes Murphy in 2009 as an intern and has quickly advanced his career within the company, serving as an Account Executive and currently as the Cyber Liability Practice Leader. In this business development role, he focuses on the professional liability needs of Architects, Engineers, Lawyers, and Accountants. Also serving as the company's cyber security practice leader he concentrates on the emerging risk and evolving cyber liability policies available to protect Holmes Murphy clients. Through this dedication to expanding his industry knowledge and identifying strong risk solutions, he builds lasting relationships with his clients and peers.

Holmes Murphy is a commercial insurance brokerage, which services the needs of our clients from 13 offices in 10 states in the central United States. With roughly 600 employees, and our headquarters in West Des Moines, IA, we recently celebrated our 83th anniversary, and topped $130M in revenue.
