Ladies and Gentlemen,

the German Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers is proud to invite you to the first Women in Oil and Gas Workshop in Hamburg.

The workshop will focus on females working in different sectors and roles of the E&P business and the importance of gender diversity within all areas of it. You will discuss challenges and difficulties that especially women still have to face on a regular basis. You will learn in what way you can support female colleagues and how women can empower themselves, improve their career path and manage obstacles on the way.
