

BILL DAY BIO

Bill Day is the Vice President-Communications at Valero Energy Corporation, where he acts as the company's chief spokesman and is responsible for daily interactions with a wide range of national, regional and local media outlets. He also oversees Valero's publications, including its summary annual report and social responsibility report, as well as the company's internal communications with employees. Bill joined Valero in August 2005 after spending more than five years as a business reporter and editor at the San Antonio Express-News. His earlier newspaper postings took him to Dallas and Des Moines, Iowa. Bill is a graduate of Leadership San Antonio Class 36 and is a member of the boards of directors of the Children's Bereavement Center of South Texas, the San Antonio Economic Development Foundation and Texas Public Radio, as well as the advisory board at Providence Place. He is a past president of the San Antonio Business and Economics Society and also served as chairman of the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce's Image/Communications Advisory Board. A native of Detroit, Michigan, he lives in San Antonio with his wife and two sons.