American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences

104TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE & EXPO

JUNE 26 – 29, 2013
Hyatt Regency Houston • Houston, Texas

PROGRAM
Laundry Safety Incidents are Preventable

According to the American Association of Poison Control Centers, in 2012, 6,258 kids aged five and younger were reportedly exposed to single-load liquid laundry packets resulting in injuries from ingestion and eye contact.

The cleaning product industry is built on a solid history of producing safe and effective cleaning products that are used by millions of consumers every day. Technologies and cleaning products are constantly evolving and improving, and these advances often call for changes in how consumers use and store laundry products. And we know that accidents can occur in the home.

The American Cleaning Institute stands ready to help parents of young children understand that the new single-load liquid laundry packets are a new type of product and therefore, need to be handled differently.

How can you assist? As a member of the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences and friend of ACI, we could use your help in spreading the word about our new awareness campaign and consumer call to action.

AAFCS MEMBERS can Be the KEY and Take the PLEDGE to a safe laundry routine with three easy steps…

K Keep single-load liquid laundry packets out of reach of children

E Educate your family and friends about the safe use and storage of these new laundry products

Y You serve a key role in laundry safety

We invite you to stop by our booth #101 to take the KEY Pledge and learn how you can support us in our safety education efforts!

American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences (AAFCS)

Based in the Washington, D.C., area, AAFCS is the only professional association that provides leadership and support to family and consumer sciences (FCS) students and professionals from multiple practice settings and content areas. AAFCS members assist individuals, families, and communities in making informed decisions about their well-being, relationships, and resources to achieve optimal quality of life.

For over 100 years, AAFCS members have been working to improve the quality and standards of individual and family life by delivering educational programs, influencing public policy, and conducting research. They provide research-based knowledge about the topics of everyday life, including human development, personal and family finance, housing and interior design, food science, nutrition and wellness, textiles and apparel, and consumer issues.

You will see AAFCS members in all walks of life—they are early childhood, elementary, secondary, university/college, and Extension educators, administrators and managers, human service professionals, researchers, community volunteers, business people, and consultants who help people achieve a healthy and sustainable world.

AAFCS members receive many benefits, including membership in their affiliates, networking opportunities through AAFCS Communities, advocacy support, the Journal of Family & Consumer Sciences, and discounts on registration fees for virtual and on-site professional development events, group insurance plans, and more. AAFCS also offers industry-recognized pre-professional and professional FCS assessments and certifications, and is the sole accreditation agent in the United States for FCS baccalaureate programs.

Each year, AAFCS brings FCS and allied professionals together at its annual conference and expo to share their knowledge, research, and experience and work on integrated solutions to address current societal challenges. Welcome to the 104th Annual Conference & Expo!

June 26-29, 2013

Welcome!

On behalf of the City of Houston, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2013 American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences (AAFCS) Annual Conference and Expo.

The AAFCS’s role in helping individuals, families, and communities make informed decisions to achieve the highest quality of life is important now more than ever. This year’s conference will provide members and professionals the opportunity to share knowledge, research, and experiences, while working on integrated solutions to address current social challenges.

More than 30 million people visit the Greater Houston area every year to experience our world-class restaurants, appealing museums, and thrilling sports arenas. While you are here, I hope you have time to enjoy some of the many attractions Houston has to offer.

I wish you the best for a successful and enjoyable conference and welcome to Houston!

Sincerely,

Annise D. Parker

Welcome to the AAFCS

104th ANNUAL CONFERENCE & EXPO • HOUSTON, TEXAS

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

On behalf of the Board of Directors, the Annual Conference Planning Advisory Committee, and the staff of the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences (AAFCS), welcome to the AAFCS 104th Annual Conference & Expo: Embracing and Managing Change Through Family & Consumer Sciences!

We encourage you to take time to review the exciting conference program on pages 26 – 68, which gives details for sessions, meetings, and events. You’ll see that the program is packed with ways to build your family and consumer sciences (FCS) knowledge and skills: more than 50 educational sessions, numerous sessions of special interest, and two general sessions with keynote addresses! Plus, meet with top FCS professionals at events like the Curriculum Showcase, Juried Design Showcase and Exhibition, and Poster Sessions.

At our conference, we encourage you to connect with FCS professionals from various practice settings and content areas from across the country. On Thursday, make new connections at the Communities and Affiliates Showcase and Networking, as well as the Expo Grand Opening. Then mingle with colleagues and alumni and enjoy refreshments at University Reunions on Friday night. Students have additional options that evening, including Speed Mentoring (did you reserve your spot?) and the Student Unit Evening of Service to benefit Lil Audrey Safe Place for foster children.

After reviewing the program, use the Planning Page on page 12 to make it easier to maximize your time at the conference. For those new to AAFCS, be sure to attend the First-Time Attendee and New Member Orientation on Thursday morning, hosted by the AAFCS Membership Committee. It’s a great way to learn more about the conference!

Thank you for choosing the AAFCS 104th Annual Conference & Expo in Houston. In addition to participating in all of the learning opportunities, we hope you take some time to kick up your heels and have fun!

Sincerely,

AAFCS Annual Conference & Expo Attendance

Attendance at the Annual Conference and the Expo is by registration badge only; admission to all events, sessions, and the Expo is restricted to those with a registration badge.

AAFCS Store

The AAFCS Store is located next to the AAFCS Registration Desk in the Pre-Function space outside of the Imperial Ballroom. Several products will be available for sale. You can also make contributions to AAFCS and Lil Audrey’s at the Store.

The Store hours are:

- Wednesday, June 26: 12:00pm – 6:00pm
- Thursday, June 27: 7:00am – 5:00pm
- Friday, June 28: 7:30am – 5:00pm
- Saturday, June 29: 8:00am – 2:00pm

Advance Ticket Sales

Tickets for AAFCS-sponsored meals and special events must be purchased in advance. Because AAFCS must guarantee meal reservations prior to the opening of the conference, educational excursion and meal tickets will not be sold, exchanged, or refunded onsite.

Association Central

The AAFCS Booth area (Association Central) is located in the Expo Hall. Stop by to meet AAFCS staff and network with colleagues and peers.

Communication Devices

The use of cellular phones is permitted during general sessions and educational presentations for special activities as requested. Outside of these special activities, cell phones and pagers should be turned off or silent during presentations as a matter of courtesy to the presenter as well as to other attendees. Thank you.

Endorsements

Presentation of a program or advertisement of a product, service, or viewpoint should not be construed as an endorsement by the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences.

Educational Excursions

Tickets for the Texas Educational Excursions must have been purchased in advance. Tickets for excursions will not be available onsite.

Educational Topics

Participants in the AAFCS 104th Annual Conference will be able to:

1. Identify research-based characteristics of family and individual resiliency across the lifespan.
2. Showcase family and consumer sciences programs that help families adapt successfully to societal changes.
3. Examine ways for all families to become more resilient, including extended and blended families.
4. Identify the dimensions of well-being from a family and consumer sciences perspective.
5. Showcase methods for sustaining well-being through family and consumer sciences knowledge base and practice.
6. Examine methods for maintaining strong nutritional and health standards for families.
7. Showcase family and consumer sciences programs that help families make informed decisions for health and wellness.
8. Determine the dimensions of well-being within the family and consumer sciences context (economic, physical, mental, environmental, nutritional, global, etc.).
9. Examine the development and support of sustainable communities.
10. Examine the psycho-social effect of the near environment (clothing and shelter) on individual and family well-being.
11. Showcase methods to support family, economic, and lifestyle changes through family and consumer sciences knowledge base and practice (economic, physical, mental, environmental, nutritional, global, etc.).
12. Address the lessons learned from economic challenges and help families plan for the future.
13. Examine implications of lifestyle changes that occur throughout the lifespan (financial planning, long-term care, travel, fashion, communication, technology, housing, etc.)

14. Discuss the role of the family and consumer sciences professional in family, economic, and lifestyle changes.

15. Examine ways that lifestyle changes affect families and individuals.

Expo

The Expo is in the Market Place (lower level) of the Houston Hyatt Regency. Companies and organizations from across the United States will present the latest information on new products and services. Because of insurance, children under 16 must be accompanied by an adult at this educational event.

Expo hours are:

- Grand Opening
  - Thursday, June 27
  - 4:15pm - 7:00pm

- Expo Open
  - Friday, June 28
  - 10:00am - 4:00pm

- Networking Breaks
  - Friday, June 28
  - 10:30am - 11:00am and 2:45pm-3:15pm

First Aid/Emergencies

While staying at the Hyatt Regency Houston, we ask that in the case of emergency that you dial extension 55 from any hotel phone. The hotel has trained professionals that will gather the appropriate information to translate to 911 if needed. They will also send trained staff to the emergency location.

Annual Conference Local Advisory Committee (ACLAC) Information Desk

The 2013 ACLAC is hosting an information desk near the AAFCS Registration Desk. They will have information about Houston and the surrounding areas, the Annual Conference, and restaurant services. The AAFCS message board will also be in this area. The 2014 ACLAC will also be hosting an information desk to answer your questions about our 2014 Conference in St. Louis, Missouri. If you pre-ordered a conference t-shirt, you can pick it up here!

Lost and Found

The lost and found is located at the AAFCS Registration Desk.

Parking

Overnight Valet Parking: $30 per night including tax.

Self-Parking: $16.00 per day. This parking lot is right next door to the Hyatt. No in/out privileges.

Product Sales Tables

The committees, communities, affiliates, and small businesses of AAFCS offer a number of products for sale during the conference. Sales tables are located outside meeting rooms: Arboretum (2nd Floor), Cottonwood and Dogwood (3rd Floor), and Sandalwood (4th Floor).

Products are available for purchase during the following hours:

- Friday, June 28, 2013  9:00am - 5:30pm
- Saturday, June 29, 2013  9:00am - 1:00pm

Professional Development Credit

Professional Development Units (PDUs) for AAFCS-Certified Professionals

The FCS Credentialing Center offers credible and national professional credentials for family and consumer sciences professionals. AAFCS offers four credentials: (1) Certified in Family and Consumer Sciences (CFCS); (2) Certified in Human Development and Family Studies (CFCS-HDFS), concentration credential; (3) Certified in Hospitality, Nutrition, and Food Science (CFCS-HNFS), concentration credential; and (4) Certified Personal and Family Finance Educator (CPFFE) credential. Meeting the ongoing professional development requirements to maintain the professional credentials assures potential employers, clients, and the general public that the professional has a commitment to expanding competence and expertise through ongoing participation in professional development activities.
For AAFCS-certified professionals, an official Certificate of Completion has been placed in the Annual Conference packet you received at registration. This form is necessary to verify professional development units (PDUs). Professionals with a CFCS credential can earn up to 42.25 PDUs and professionals with a CPFFE credential can earn up to 39.25 PDUs through attendance at the Annual Conference, including participation in approved educational excursions. PDUs may be earned by attending sessions and viewing exhibits. PDUs are also earned by attending certain meal functions that include a scheduled speaker (see individual descriptions and PDU notations in the program). Remember to document your PDUs on the Certificate of Completion included in your Annual Conference packet!

Continuing Education Unit (CEU) Credit for Certified Family Life Educators

Some AAFCS Annual Conference sessions are approved for CEU credit for the Certified Family Life Educator program through the National Council on Family Relations (NCFR). If you are a Certified Family Life Educator and would like to earn CEU credit, please come to the AAFCS Registration Desk for a list of approved sessions and a certificate.

Registration

The AAFCS Registration Desk is located in the foyer outside of the Imperial Ballroom of the Hyatt Regency hotel. Those who have pre-registered should have their advance registration confirmation when picking up registration materials. Registration materials may only be picked up by the individual who is registered for the conference.

Registration hours are:

- Tuesday, June 25: 5:00pm - 6:30pm
- Wednesday, June 26: 8:00am - 6:00pm
- Thursday, June 27: 7:00am - 5:00pm
- Friday, June 28: 7:30am - 5:00pm
- Saturday, June 29: 8:00am - 2:00pm

Registration List

An alphabetical list of all attendees registered for the AAFCS Annual Conference is available for your review at the AAFCS Registration Desk. Attendees are also encouraged to use the AAFCS Membership Directory (members-only), AAFCS Communities (members-only), Facebook, and LinkedIn to connect with colleagues and presenters.

2013 Senate

Saturday, June 29
10:30am - 12:00pm (credentialing begins at 10:00am)

Only certified senators and members of the board of directors are to be admitted to the reserved seating section. The Senate unreserved seating area is open to all AAFCS members and other Annual Conference registrants on a space available basis.

Please note: Senate ribbons will be given during Senate credentialing beginning at 10:00am.

Smoking

The hotel is completely smoke-free throughout the indoor space. There are designated smoking areas outside the hotel.

Survey

Your feedback about your AAFCS Annual Conference & Expo experience is very important to AAFCS. The information we receive helps us in planning future conferences to better meet your needs. On July 2, AAFCS will post a link to the 104th Annual Conference & Expo online survey on the AAFCS homepage (www.aafcs.org). You will have two weeks to complete the survey. In order to help you complete the survey as accurately as possible, we have provided some topics for you to consider during the Annual Conference & Expo:

- Reasons for attending the Annual Conference & Expo
- Value of the Annual Conference events and sessions
- Open hours and value of the Expo
- Suggestions for future conferences
- Reasons why you would attend next year’s conference

We look forward to receiving your feedback in the online survey.

Make Simple Changes to Start Living a Healthier Life Today!

Chronic health conditions remain on the rise in the United States and these conditions, such as diabetes and high cholesterol, among others, can be very expensive to treat. Primary prevention—stopping a disease process before it starts—is the most effective and efficient way to stop these chronic conditions in their tracks and/or reduce their impact. With that in mind, what affects your health the most? You may be surprised to know that simple changes can improve your health status. A review of several longitudinal studies has shown there are four main factors that impact health and wellness. These are Access, Environment, Genetics, and Lifestyle. You’ll learn about each factor and some of the things you can do to maximize the best and minimize the worst of these factors for a healthier life.

Recognition of 50-Year Members

AAFCS warmly congratulates those who attained 50 membership years in 2013. They were invited to share a favorite professional memory or milestone, and any advice to future FCS professionals.

Shirley Lake Barber, Saint Paul, Minnesota
Memory/Milestone: I had the privilege of participating in the Scottsdale Conference when our profession changed its name. What a marvelous opportunity. My 36-year career in Extension family education provided opportunities to touch the lives of thousands.
Advice: FCS offers life skills training for ourselves and those we influence. Professional participation offers leadership development, updated research-based learnings, and a vast network with others. Take advantage and participate. Doing so makes a difference for you and those with whom you interact. 50 years pass quickly!

Ella Mae Bard, Granville, Ohio

Nancy C. Billings, CFCS, Retired, Huntsville, Alabama
Memory/Milestone: During my career as a classroom teacher, I held leadership positions as the ALFCS president, AAFCS vice president of finance, and IFHE-US director of finance. Interacting with professionals in our country and around the world created many special memories. My students’ letters nominating me for state and national teacher awards created a special milestone.

Elizabeth S. Brown, Skillman, New Jersey

Kathryn T. Bryan, CFCS, Fort Worth, Texas
Memory/Milestone: As a new Texas Tech University graduate, my first mentor and supervisor was Anna Bines, home service director with Texas Electric Service Company. She expressed the importance of my involvement in our professional organization (AHEA) at that time. Now, as an entrepreneur, I echo her advice to both retirees and young professionals. The friendships and professional relationships developed through AAFCS continue to open doors of opportunity to continue growing and making a difference in the future of the family.
Advice: Take every opportunity to apply your skills and share your knowledge. Ask questions of those who have gone before you and think “outside the box” as you follow your passion.

Betty J. Church, CFCS, Retired, Peoria, Illinois
Memory/Milestone: College alumni at the University of Illinois activities, and teaching in the Family and Consumer Sciences Department at Bradley University for 42 years.
Advice: Become active in your professional organizations - local, state, and national.

Glenda Cramer, Minneapolis, Minnesota
Memory/Milestone: Being selected as Minnesota’s FIRST Teacher of the Year in the spring of 1974.
Advice: As you begin and continue to teach, remember YOU are a LEARNER being taught by colleagues, supervisors, parents, and, yes, at times, by the STUDENTS themselves!

Gwen Daluge, Janesville, Wisconsin

Carol M. Donisi, Tucson, Arizona

Judith Y. Egolf, CFCS, Retired, Warsaw, Indiana

Marjorie C. Feller, Cissna Park, Illinois

Carolynne K. Fooshee, Jacksonville Beach, Florida
Memory/Milestone: With a degree in vocational home economics and art, I was armed and “called to service”: fifty years of teaching, volunteering in FHA and 4-H, teaching bible studies, participating in numerous other organizations, owning a business, and raising a family—the equivalent of an enriched life! Memories of taking students to activities all over the US are too numerous to count. Just ask me sometime about an FHA trip to Texas by way of Chicago! As an FREF trustee and Duval County foundation officer, I help provide high school seniors scholarships. Meeting those students, each year, who dream of a successful career provides tremendous satisfaction. Still living in Jacksonville Beach, FL, I run into former students and they remark: “You made learning fun and made a difference in my life.” I continue to be blessed!

Advice: Remember you’re “called to service.” Continue learning, get involved, be an example, and take your family along with you on life’s exciting journey.

Carole S. Fromer, CFCS, Retired, S. Glastonbury, Connecticut

Memory/Milestone: Following years of leadership in Connecticut, including president of the state affiliate, I co-chaired the AHEA Eastern Regional Meeting, served as AHEA president (1989-1990) and dedicated the King Street headquarters building in Alexandria, VA. On the CT and AHEA Boards of Directors and the AHEA Foundation Board, I worked with many outstanding colleagues and have numerous fond memories of these experiences.

Advice: Be dedicated and sincere. Enjoy the experience of working in and contributing to one of the finest and most meaningful professions having a positive impact on our world.

Frances H. Gailey Read, Oneonta, New York

Memory/Milestone: Completed 33 years as a professor in the AAFCS Accredited program at SUNY College at Oneonta and completed a Ph.D. program at The Ohio State University.

Advice: Strengthen the profession by your dedicated leadership . . . Do not be afraid of going beyond your depth in promoting professional goals.

Caryl L. Gonzales, Nipomo, California

Memory/Milestone: Favorite memories are meeting the wonderful people in the organization, and the ability to teach students all the aspects of home economics. I belong to a local organization and we still get together and learn more about the profession. FCS is lifelong learning and meeting wonderful people!

Sharyl L. Heavin, Lompoc, California

Memory/Milestone: Teaching at junior colleges, being the head of the test kitchen for DCS & Fisher Paykel, and doing consumer testing for many companies.

Advice: Education is the most important part to our future. Keep updating your knowledge, so to help others.

Beverly J. Henderson, Madison, Wisconsin

Judy C. Henne, Fernandina Beach, Florida

Memory/Milestone: Assisting people with intellectual disabilities develop sufficient skills to live within the community of choice as independently as possible.

Constance L. Howell, Milford, Delaware

Advice: Stay involved and volunteer for new activities.

Louise J. Hyers, Athens, Georgia

Jessie J. Kilian, Platteville, Wisconsin

Memory: People—the many wonderful and interesting people I’ve met, taught, worked with, or had as a part of my career and life.

Advice: Step outside of your comfort zone and try new experiences.

Jennie C. Kitching, CFCS, Retired, Trenton, Texas

Memory: Selection as an AHEA leader, one of 75 named, at the 75th anniversary meeting. It was a wonderful surprise!

Advice: Say “I’ll be glad to” when you’re asked to do something—even if it’s new, hard, difficult, unfamiliar, or scary. You will benefit from new experiences and challenges. Your FCS background has prepared you for many things—even if you don’t know it yet!

Trease L. Layton, Lawton, Oklahoma

Advice: Always keep learning and seeing the opportunities beyond your current focus and try to exceed expectations in your work. Stay flexible: opportunities for work and service come at unexpected times taking you on pathways that develop your skills and knowledge and provide a richer professional life. The concept of Servant Leadership should be inherent in our careers.
Judith S. Lynd, CFCS, Retired, Rochester, New York
Memory/Milestone: My most memorable experience was receiving the AHEA-VRA fellowship in rehabilitation. The fellowship allowed me to enter the field of homemaker rehabilitation on the ground level and transfer core FCS skills to a medical setting, enabling individuals with disabilities to achieve the highest degree of independence possible in their daily lives.
Advice: Think out of the box…look for non-traditional ways to use your educational background in family and consumer sciences to meet the challenges of today’s changing world.

Carriemae G. Marquess, Tallahassee, Florida

Olga R. Marshall, Mankato, Minnesota

Eleanor A. McCullin, Surprise, Arizona
Advice: Remain true to yourself and your ideals.

(Linda) Jean Hutson Meredith, Amherst, New York
Advice: Stay connected to your professional organization. It helps you see the big picture while you stay focused on your little corner of the world.

Eileen R. Nill, Erie, Minnesota

S. Kay Obendorf, Ithaca, New York
Memory/Milestone: My career has been with the College of Human Ecology at Cornell University where I participated in the transformation of the college that is vibrant and successful.
Advice: Our professional efforts should be built on sound research.

Antonia B. Palazzolo, Rocky Hill, Connecticut
Memory/Milestone: I think most of us have many special memories from our careers. What I learned was that it is our students who teach us! I am thankful for the exposure I had to all the cultures that are in Hartford, CT. We always need to be open to where we are sent and be ready to adapt our info for them.
Advice: Adopt the techniques that move our profession forward. . . We need to be the leaders of families.

Josephine T. Ploetz, Belle Plaine, Minnesota
Memory/Milestone: Being named Teacher of the Year in 1995 for Minnesota AFCS—It was a pleasure to work at the high school level with wonderful students.

Inez Roberson, San Diego, California

Adeline P. Schaubert, Bismarck, North Dakota
Advice: AAFCS is one way to meet new friends, stay in touch with classmates, and even locate a job.

Sarah Moore Shuffner, Liberty, North Carolina
Memory/Milestone: Choosing “a” milestone from 50 years in a profession—impossible! Working with students and colleagues for all to achieve success over a career lifetime… and celebrating accomplishments with them—immeasurable! I learned early in my career that “in order to achieve success, I must first help others succeed.”
Advice: Future FCS professionals—tap all the opportunities, advice, and resources available through AAFCS and from your mentors and colleagues. Being an active professional, being a leader, and being successful in your chosen career path means life-long learning with passion.

Mary E. Schuman, Indianapolis, Indiana
Memory/Milestone: My “roots” in home economics served me well throughout my nearly 39-year career with Purdue Cooperative Extension Service. One of my greatest satisfactions was seeing the 4-H youth go on to successful careers of their own. It was especially gratifying to see many join Extension as an agent/educator.
Advice: Never stop learning, always stay current and flexible and willing to embrace change …and always remember, you are a role model for those who are searching for or just beginning their own career.

Arlene H. Simek, Mitchell, South Dakota
Memory/Milestone: A vivid memory for me is when the field of home economics was renamed family and consumer sciences. It was necessary to adapt to change in our society and to use technology in the classroom and everyday activities. There was a need to promote the program so it became important to proceed with assessment and employ instructional improvements and also develop and revise curriculum to meet the present and future challenges in today’s changing world.
Advice: Be proud to be an FCS professional and display this in all your professional responsibilities and personal life.
Mary Jean Stobb, Little Falls, Minnesota

Memory/Milestone: In the mid-60’s, I was “in the orchard when the apples started falling.” As an Extension agent in Mille Lacs County, MN, I was asked to prepare Native Americans to care for homes that were being built by Bureau of Indian Affairs (if you had only ever had a dirt floor, would you know how to care for linoleum?). Training community leaders in basic homemaking skills was one my most satisfying work efforts; we had some laughs and a few tears, and the ladies were extremely effective at sharing information and skills with their peers with new homes.

Advice: Be ready to roll with the punches. If you have a life plan, realize that it may not always turn out as you would like. Life has a way of changing our directions and we need to be able to adapt to new life circumstances. Use your basic planning skills from home management training.

Fay B. Strickler, New Holland, Pennsylvania

Memory: An FCS career provides many opportunities to pursue your interest in areas of expertise in a variety of settings. My career in business and Extension opened doors for opportunities in leadership roles at the national level in my professional organizations, which I shall always treasure.

Shirley A. Vernon, CFCS, Retired, San Jose, California

Memory: A special memory I have in my career is being honored at my community college FCS Department Fashion Show with family, students, and friends to share the evening with. To date, several students and faculty continue to meet for brunch as a way to stay in touch. The bond with students has made teaching a meaningful career.

Advice: Some advice that I would give to future FCS professionals is to maintain your professional connections to the profession through whatever means you can whether it be on the national level through professional membership and state or local involvement. The support you receive and the effort you make will always be of value to you.

Carole A. Vickers, Harlingen, Texas

Memory: Chairing the Home Economics Defined Committee brought greater understanding of the foundation of the profession and provided opportunities for challenging discussions with colleagues from across the nation—a genuine treat! And I’ll always remember “Gracious Living Section” meetings and the joy of the spoof of ourselves.

Advice: Attend as many AAFCS and state-sponsored meetings as you can. Get involved! You’ll grow!

Dorothy J. Williamson, Belding, Michigan

Memory: A favorite memory is doing an intergenerational class involving a clothing class of senior high school students and senior citizens. Just watching the joy on the students’ faces (and senior citizens) as they worked one-on-one was worth the effort of planning.

Advice: Join your association and network, network, network!! Every national conference has provided wonderful resources no matter what your profession.

Janice R. Wissman, CFCS, Manhattan, Kansas

Memory/Milestone: Receiving the AAFCS Distinguished Service Award in 2011 is a special memory that caps a very satisfying career, which began with teaching home economics in Anaheim, California, after graduation from Kansas State University in 1963, and culminates with 45 years as a university professor and administrator while balancing work and family.

Advice: Become involved in AAFCS! Ever since attending my first national AHEA/AAFCS meeting as an undergraduate student, I have reaped many benefits of active involvement in our professional organization, including professional development related to research and practice, and connections with others who share the same passion for creating healthy and sustainable families.

Merrilyn Cummings, CFCS

“...is passionate about the family and consumer sciences profession and her zeal has been made manifest in her many superior achievements, her outstanding contributions to the profession, and her leadership in AAFCS at so many levels.” - Betty Chamness Trost, CFCS

Merrilyn N. Cummings, CFCS, and 45-year member of AHEA/AAFCS, is a dynamic, highly respected FCS leader. Merrilyn has sustained commitment to the FCS profession since her years as a Connecticut 4-H member, where her leadership skills were first honed, through her retirement. As a University of Connecticut undergraduate, Merrilyn was a leader in the home economics club and a student member of AHEA. During graduate work at Cornell University, she was awarded an AHEA Ellen H. Richards Fellowship. In her career as an FCS teacher in Connecticut, a teacher educator at Texas Tech University, and department head and director of teacher education at New Mexico State University (NMSU), Merrilyn has served as a mentor and role model for an extraordinary number of colleagues and students, to whom she has passed on leadership skills, a wealth of knowledge, and passion for FCS.

Merrilyn has excelled in her teaching, research, and service endeavors. She has distinguished herself in leadership roles at all levels, including president, vice president, and secretary of the New Mexico Affiliate of AAFCS. Merrilyn chaired the AAFCS Professional Marketing and Membership and Nominating Committees and was a member of the AAFCS Resolutions Committee. She served on the National Board of Directors of FCCLA, as treasurer of the National Association of Teacher Educators for FCS, and as membership chair of the FCS Education Association. Her research efforts have resulted in 92 refereed publications and many presentations. Merrilyn co-authored the textbook, Creative Instructional Methods.

Her efforts have been rewarded with many honors including AHEA Leader, AAFCS Outstanding University Educator Award, NMAFCS Professional of the Year, three university teaching awards, and the FCS Industry Leader Award at NMSU.

Nancy Granovsky, CFCS

“...has greatly influenced national and international advances in family economics, as well as the quality of NIFA’s extension programs on multiple levels.” - Caroline E. Crocoll, CFCS

Nancy Granovsky, professor and family economics specialist, Texas AgriLife Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System (TAMUS), has made exceptional contributions to the profession during her 43-year career as a family and consumer sciences educator. A member of AAFCS since 1965 and AAFCS certified since 1987, Nancy has been a continuous leader in the Texas Affiliate serving in many capacities, including president and treasurer, and in the Association, including serving on the Board of Directors, as a member of the Finance and Properties Committee, Bylaws Committee, Strategic Planning Committee, and many roles within the International Section.

Nancy had made many contributions to the field of family economics through her work with Operation R.E.A.D.Y, serving military families facing deployment; Money 2000, a statewide initiative focused on debt reduction; and Wi$eUp, for Generation X and Y women via the web.

Her service to the profession has extended well beyond the borders of the United States—from her early work with the Peace Corps to her leadership within the International Federation for Home Economics as president. Nancy Granovsky has been recognized as a Leader within AAFCS, Texas Affiliate of AAFCS, Texas AgriLife Extension, and Texas A&M University.
Bernice Carter Richardson

“… is well known for her continuous efforts to enhance and sustain secondary family and consumer science programs. She is a well-known spokesperson for the centrality of family and consumer sciences for family survival and well-being.” - Virginia Caples

Bernice Carter Richardson has served the family and consumer sciences profession in an exemplary manner as a teaching, research, and outreach scholar throughout her career. In these areas, she has served as a public school teacher, professor of undergraduate and graduate instruction, chairperson of the Department of Home Economics, now Family and Consumer Sciences, and researcher in family life, aging, and child and adolescent development.

Bernice considers one of her major accomplishments leadership provided for the accreditation of her department by AAFCS. Also, she has served AAFCS admirably on state and national levels as an officer, chair, and member of numerous committees and commissions. In addition, she has been active with the International Federation for Home Economics and engaged in consultancies in Tanzania and South Africa. Although currently retired, she continues to work tirelessly for the profession and in civic/community engagement.

Did you know AAFCS has a revised Code of Ethics?

In March 2013, the AAFCS Board of Directors approved revisions to the AAFCS Code of Ethics as proposed by the AAFCS Ethics Committee. Aligning with the AAFCS Mission and Core Values, the revised code:

- Provides a more logical sequence of information to teach and guide ethical professional practice
- Provides enhanced clarity of ethical concepts critical to professional practice
- Identifies integrity as a primary principle central to ethical practice
- Eliminates redundancy and excessive language not central to the focus and purpose of the code
- Provides a tool that strengthens the continuity of messages being communicated to AAFCS membership and to constituencies beyond concerning the standards of professional conduct.

YOU need to become familiar with YOUR Code of Ethics!

AAFCS Legacy Society

The Legacy Society represents the past, present, and future of AAFCS. By remembering AAFCS in their estate plans or deferred gift arrangements, these individuals ensure AAFCS continues to be recognized as the driving force in bringing people together to improve the lives of individuals, families, and communities. Those who remember AAFCS in their planned giving are invited to join in the AAFCS Legacy Society. The Legacy Society provides a way to recognize and thank donors during their lifetimes, and inspire others to leave their own legacy gifts.

Meet us in St. Louis in 2014!

American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences
105th Annual Conference & Expo

JUNE 25 – 28, 2014 • Hyatt Regency St. Louis at the Arch • St. Louis, Missouri

For our 105th Annual Conference & Expo, come to St. Louis, host city of the 1904 World’s Fair and home to the nation’s tallest monument, the Gateway Arch!

Gather new FCS research and strategies on topics such as:

● How technology influences families on a local and global scale
● What implications global consumerism has on families
● How family and consumer sciences impacts families worldwide
● How families achieve sustainable lifestyles in the US and abroad

Learn from these international leaders during the keynote addresses!

● Dr. Geraldine Hodelin, IFHE Immediate Past President and International Year of the Family Committee Chair
● Marsha Wallace, Founder, Dining for Women

Watch www.aafcs.org and our Facebook page for updates!
Share your new research and successful strategies, especially those that address the following Annual Conference objectives:

Advancing technology to promote healthy families
- Examine the use of technology to connect youth and adults in multi-cultural, at risk, and international settings.
- Explore interactive instructional technology methods in family and consumer sciences education.
- Analyze the local/global influence of technology on individuals and families.
- Investigate advances in technology as it relates to family and consumer sciences content areas (e.g., personal and family finance, nutrition and wellness, clothing, human development, housing, etc.).
- Analyze ways technology can increase quality of living for special needs and at-risk populations.
- Identify the benefits vs. risks of using technology.

Creating conditions for sustainability
- Explore methods of production/distribution and management that are environmentally/socially friendly.
- Implement strategies to be used by individuals and families for economic stability.
- Identify strategies to achieve sustainable lifestyles in the US and abroad.
- Investigate sustainability in family and consumer sciences content areas.
- Explore implications of global consumerism.

Examining health, wellness, and living well
- Promote partnerships and collaboration on international health issues.
- Explore technologies impacting health issues in the US and abroad.
- Examine the implications of current and emerging food trends on the health of the family.
- Address the factors that contribute to obesity across the lifespan.
- Discuss the issues surrounding health and wellness across the lifespan (e.g., food insecurity, obesity, economics, access).
- Assess techniques to advocate health and safety across the lifespan.

Advocating for individuals, families, and the profession
- Develop strategies to advocate for children and families within public policy arenas.
- Examine best practices to advocate for diverse populations.
- Showcase successful strategies to advocate for family and consumer sciences programs in various educational settings.
- Utilize strategies to determine the impact of family and consumer sciences worldwide.
- Expand the capacity of youth to develop advocacy skills on local, state, national, and global levels.
- Build leadership capacity to produce global advocates.

Exploring economic issues impacting healthy and sustainable families
- Integrate the concept of economic trends and conditions with the concept of healthy and sustainable families in instruction and research.
- Analyze current and future family economics and resource management needs and solutions.
