GREETINGS FROM THE GOVERNOR

As Governor of the State of Nevada, I am delighted to welcome the attendees of the 98th Annual Conference and Expo. I am confident that this year’s conference, “America’s Cultural Kaleidoscope: Challenges and Opportunities” will educate and empower all those present.

We commend every member present for the important role they play in improving the lives of individuals, families and communities. Whether you have traveled a great distance to be here, or consider Nevada your home, we are cognizant of the fact that you have arranged to be here in order to enhance your abilities to develop and integrate essential research and life skills.

Additionally, we applaud the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences for giving families and consumer science professionals a voice, and for working effortlessly on their behalf. Because of all those present, we can rest assured that the challenges of tomorrow will be met with knowledge and professionalism.

While you are here, be sure to take advantage of all that our Great State has to offer. If you ever need assistance, do not hesitate to contact my office.

I wish you the best for a constructive conference and a memorable experience.

Sincerely,

JIM GIBBONS
Governor of the State of Nevada
GREETINGS FROM THE CITY OF RENO!

On behalf of the “Biggest Little City in the World”, it is my pleasure to welcome the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences (AAFCS), as you convene for your 98th Annual Conference and Expo at the Grand Sierra Resort in Reno, June 21 – 24, 2007.

We commend AAFCS for being the only national organization that brings family and consumer sciences professionals together to improve the lives of individuals, families and communities.

Reno is a vibrant, progressive community with something distinctive to offer everyone: entertainment, fine dining, performing arts, museums, beautiful parks, shopping, and the incomparable beauty of our surrounding high desert and the grandeur of the nearby Sierra Nevada Mountains.

During your visit, we hope you will have an opportunity to discover and enjoy Old West hospitality and many of the area’s unique and historic sites. Lake Tahoe, Virginia City and Native American reservations are all within a short drive from Reno.

Good luck and best wishes for a successful conference. I hope you will experience a most enjoyable visit to Reno and will return again and again.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Cashell, Sr.
Mayor

One East First Street, 15th Floor, P.O. Box 1900, Reno, NV 89505
Dear Friends and Colleagues:

On behalf of the Board of Directors and the staff of the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences (AAFCS), welcome to the 98th Annual Conference & Expo: America’s Cultural Kaleidoscope: Challenges and Opportunities! We look forward to exchanging research and devising strategies to help individuals, families, and communities face today’s complex cultural challenges.

Take advantage of the numerous networking and learning opportunities at this unique conference. You’ll find exciting ways to expand your knowledge and renew your spirit, from the powerful keynote addresses and Summit Day sessions to the variety of cutting-edge educational sessions and special events.

We invite you to meet members of the Board and staff and to share your experience and expertise by mentoring a new member, a new professional, or one of our student members. And, we want you to be a part of the new AAFCS Communities, so be sure to attend the orientation and “chat rooms” on Thursday and Saturday.

Thank you for choosing our conference to advance your professional development. Your participation in the conference demonstrates your commitment to shaping the future for individuals, families, and communities.

Relax, re-energize, and use your renewed passion for family and consumer sciences in your practice setting!

Sincerely,

Dixie R. Crase, CFCS
AAFCS President, 2006 – 2007

AAFCS Transitional Executive Director
American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences

Founded in 1909, the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences (AAFCS) provides leadership and support for professionals whose work assists individuals, families, and communities in making informed decisions about their well-being, relationships, and resources to achieve optimal quality of life.

Representing more than 7,000 professionals in family and consumer sciences and allied fields, AAFCS includes members who are elementary, secondary, and post-secondary educators and administrators; Cooperative Extension educators; and other professionals in government, business, and not-for-profit sectors.

AAFCS members receive many benefits, including membership in their affiliates, networking opportunities through AAFCS Communities, public policy tools and advocacy, the Journal of Family & Consumer Sciences, discounts on meeting registration fees, group insurance plans, and more. AAFCS also offers credentials in family and consumer sciences, and is the sole accreditation agent in the United States for educational units offering programs in family and consumer sciences in higher education.

Each year, AAFCS brings FCS and allied professionals together at its annual conference and exposition to address critical topics challenging society, advance their leadership skills, and expand their knowledge. Welcome to the 98th Annual Conference & Expo!

General Information

AAFCS Annual Conference & Expo Attendance
Attendance at the Annual Conference and the Expo is by registration badge only; admission to all events, sessions, and the Expo is restricted to those with a registration badge.

Advance Ticket Sales
Tickets for AAFCS-sponsored meals and special events must be purchased in advance. Because AAFCS must guarantee meal reservations prior to the opening of the conference, meal tickets will not be sold, exchanged, or refunded onsite.

Bookstore
The AAFCS Bookstore is located in the Nevada Conference and Exhibition Center of the Grand Sierra Resort. Several publications and other items of interest will be available for sale.

The Bookstore hours are the same as the Expo hours:
GRAND OPENING
Thursday, June 21, 5:00pm – 7:00pm
Friday, June 22, 12:00noon- 2:00pm and 4:00pm - 6:00pm
Saturday, June 23, 10:00am – 2:30pm

Communication Devices
The use of cellular phones and pagers is prohibited during general sessions and educational presentations. Please turn off these devices as a matter of courtesy to the presenter as well as to other attendees. Thank you.

Endorsements
Presentation of a program or advertisement of a product, service, or viewpoint should not be construed as an endorsement by the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences.

Educational Excursions
Tickets for the Nevada Educational Excursions must be purchased in advance. Inquire about availability at the Local Arrangements Committee Information Desk operated by the Nevada Affiliate near the AAFCS Registration Desk.

Educational Objectives
Participants in the AAFCS 98th Annual Conference will be able to:
1. Describe major changes in family and societal demographics.
2. Examine ways to deal with the challenges of socializing children in today's world.
3. Analyze current concerns that affect the health and wellness of individuals, families, and communities.
4. Implement solutions to help individuals and families cope with limited resources and economic pressures.
5. Survey and compare energy alternatives and their impact on housing and the environment.
6. Create productive ways to manage cultural conflicts in business and educational settings.
7. Apply techniques for addressing issues of diversity through civic engagement.

Expo
The Expo is in the Nevada Conference and Exhibition Center of the Grand Sierra Resort. Because of insurance, children under 16 must be accompanied by an adult at this educational event. Companies and organizations from across the United States will present the latest information on new products and services.

Expo hours are:
GRAND OPENING
Thursday, June 21, 5:00pm – 7:00pm
Friday, June 22, 12:00noon- 2:00pm and 4:00pm - 6:00pm
Saturday, June 23, 10:00am – 2:30pm

First Aid
First aid is available through the Security Department.

Local Arrangements Committee Information Desk
The Local Arrangements Committee is hosting an information desk near the AAFCS Registration Desk. They will have information about Reno and the surrounding areas, the Annual Conference, and restaurant services. The AAFCS message board will also be in this area.

Lost and Found
The lost and found is located at the AAFCS Registration Desk.

Parking
The Grand Sierra Resort has both self-parking and valet parking for our guests. Both are complimentary; a gratuity is appreciated in valet. There is no covered parking.
Product Sales Tables
The AAFCS affiliates and other groups offer a number of products for sale during the conference. Sales tables are located adjacent to the Registration Desk in the Nevada Foyer.

Products are available for purchase during the following hours:
  - Friday, June 22, 12:00 noon - 2:00 pm and 4:00 pm - 6:00 pm
  - Saturday, June 23, 10:00 am - 2:30 pm

Professional Development Credit
Professional Development Units (PDUs) for CFCS Professionals
The Certified in Family and Consumer Sciences (CFCS) professional credential is the most credible national credential a family and consumer sciences professional can achieve. AAFCS offers three CFCS credentials: (1) Certified in Family and Consumer Sciences (CFCS), broad field credential; (2) Certified in Human Development and Family Studies (CFCS-HDFS), concentration credential; and (3) Certified in Hospitality, Nutrition, and Food Science (CFCS-HNFS), concentration credential. Meeting the ongoing professional development requirements to maintain the CFCS credentials assures potential employers, clients, and the general public that the CFCS professional has a commitment to expanding competence and expertise through ongoing participation in professional development activities.

For those Certified in Family and Consumer Sciences, an official Certificate of Completion has been placed in the Annual Conference packet you received at registration. This form is necessary to verify professional development units (PDUs). All CFCS professionals can earn up to 33 PDUs by attending Annual Conference sessions, educational excursions, or certain meal functions with a scheduled speaker (see descriptions and PDU notations in this book). Remember to document your PDUs on the Certificate of Completion you received in your Annual Conference packet!

Continuing Education Unit (CEU) Credit for Certified Family Life Educators
Some AAFCS Annual Conference sessions are approved for CEU credit for the Certified Family Life Educator program through the National Council on Family Relations (NCFR). If you are a Certified Family Life Educator and would like to earn up to 1.6 CEU credits, please come to the AAFCS Registration Desk for a list of approved sessions and a certificate.

Registration
The AAFCS Registration Desk is located in the Nevada Foyer of the Grand Sierra Resort. Those who have pre-registered should present their advance registration letter when picking up registration materials. Registration materials may only be picked up by the individual who is registered for the conference.

Registration Hours of Operation:
  - Tuesday, June 19, 2:00 pm - 5:00 pm
  - Wednesday, June 20, 7:00 am - 12:00 noon and 1:30 pm - 6:00 pm
  - Thursday, June 21, 7:00 am - 12:00 noon and 1:30 pm - 7:00 pm
  - Friday, June 22, 7:00 am - 12:00 noon and 1:30 pm - 5:00 pm
  - Saturday, June 23, 7:00 am - 12:00 noon and 1:30 pm - 3:00 pm

Registration List
An alphabetical list of all attendees registered for the AAFCS Annual Conference is available for your review at the AAFCS Registration Desk.

2007 Senate
Saturday, June 23, 1:45 pm - 4:00 pm (credentialing begins at 1:30 pm)

Only certified senators, members of the board of directors, and past presidents are to be admitted to the reserved seating section. The Senate unreserved seating area is open to all AAFCS members and other Annual Conference registrants.

Please note: Senate ribbons will be given during Senate credentialing beginning at 1:30 pm.

Smoking
There is no smoking in the Grand Sierra Resort meeting rooms or restaurants. Smoking is permitted in the Casino and casino level bars.

Clothing & Textiles Tour, 9:00AM – 4:30PM

Join us on an outing to the state capital in Carson City. At our first stop, the Marjorie Russell Clothing and Textile Research Center, you will enjoy a fascinating tour of historic Nevada costumes from the 18th century. Created in 1992 under the direction of the Nevada State Museum and the Nevada Historical Society, this study center and storage facility for historic costumes and textiles holds the collections of both founding institutions. It also houses the Jessie Pope Collection from the University of Nevada School of Home Economics. The most significant collection is women’s wear, which ranges from the 18th century to current day fashions. Other collections include quilts, flags, children’s wear, military, and menswear.

Our next stop is a tour and catered lunch at the Governor’s Mansion. This elegant example of Classic Revival architecture was completed in 1909 and designed by George W. Ferris.

Our final stop is a visit to the Nevada State Museum, originally erected in 1870 as the U.S. Mint. It became famous for the Dat So La Lee Washoe Indian baskets and Coin Press #1. The silver dining service from the USS Nevada battleship, fashioned from Nevada silver and gold, is on display. Join the guided tour, Under One Sky (Native American Culture), or view the exhibit, “Interwoven 2007: Visions of the Great Basin Basket-makers.”

$65 per person (5 PDUs)
Tour includes transportation, admission fees, lunch, and all gratuities.

Tahoe Gal Cruise, 10:00AM – 3:00PM

This scenic cruise begins after a beautiful drive from the Grand Sierra Resort. The Tahoe Gal is a replica of the paddle-wheel boats that plied Lake Tahoe in the latter 1800s and early 1900s, primarily used as public transportation prior to the development of roads around the lake. Today, they are used for the enjoyment of tourists and for special events. Your 2-1/2 hour cruise is a historic trip along Lake Tahoe’s West Shore. You will view some of the most lavish real estate California has to offer. During the Captain’s live narration, you will learn interesting facts about Tahoe’s early tourism. One of the estates that will be identified was once owned by Henry Kaiser and was also the site of some scenes in the film Godfather II.

We will also be joined by The Ghost of Mark Twain.

For thirteen years now, in over two thousand performances from Leningrad University in Russia to C-Span, McAvoy Layne has survived, and in fact been preeminent, in preserving the wit and wisdom of “The Wild Humorist of the Pacific Slope”—Mark Twain. Says McAvoy, “It’s like being a Monday through Friday preacher, whose sermon, though not reverently pious, is fervently American.”

McAvoy is author of the biography, Hooked On Twain, and winner of the Nevada award for excellence in school and library service. He portrays the Ghost of Mark Twain in A&E’s biography of Mark Twain and in the Discovery Channel’s Cronkite Award-winning documentary, Adventures of Huckleberry Finn.

$73.00 per person (3 PDUs)
Tour includes lunch, round-trip transportation, and shopping shuttle in Tahoe City.

Be sure to bring your camera and take advantage of the spectacular photo ops!

A Day in Virginia City, 10:00AM – 3:00PM

As you ascend into the foothills, the exciting history of Virginia City and how this boomtown came to life will be revealed. Built on the riches of gold and silver ore, Virginia City was not only known as “the richest place on earth,” but was also the biggest city between San Francisco and St. Louis in the 1860’s. Abounding with 30,000 people and 110 saloons, it was an affluent city with a rowdy population. Today, Virginia City stands as a link to the past—a town vibrant with the activities of visitors, and filled with memories and ghosts of days gone by.

The tour guide will escort you through the downtown, telling legends of “rags to riches” and “riches to rags.”
You will discover the beautiful Victorian mansions built by the mine-owners and stroll through the mines that made them rich. You will also have time to explore the many original saloons and antique shops, or visit old Victorian mansions, museums, and churches.

Then you will travel back in time at a Lady Loftis Fashion Show. As each costume is shown, the narrator describes the person who could have possibly worn the vintage garment, where the ensemble would have appropriately been worn, and the differences between each outfit.

$70.00 per person (4 PDUs)
Tour includes deluxe motorcoach transportation and lunch.

Reno City Exploration, 12:30 PM – 4:30 PM
Welcome to Reno, “The Biggest Little City in the World.” Reno is the center of a growing metropolitan area, which lies in the foothills in the northeastern area of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. Attracting over five million visitors annually, the area has something for everyone. One of the more distinguishing features of the city is the Truckee River, which runs through the city and is popular among anglers, rafters, joggers, and wildlife.

Your tour will begin near the University of Nevada-Reno, at the Wilbur D. May Center, located in Rancho San Rafael Park. The May Center was developed by the estate of this worldly gentleman, who was the son of the founder of the May Company retail chain. The museum reflects the life of Mr. May, who was a pilot, big-game hunter, art collector, inventor, artist, author, rancher, and philanthropist. Several rooms of his ranch have been reconstructed at this site. The gallery is a compilation of his more than 40 trips around the world, and exhibits a treasure of priceless antiques and collectibles. You can also see various styles of gardens in the outdoor area.

The next stop is the National Automobile Museum, located a short distance from the May Center. The collection was one of the many hobbies of William Harrah, founder of the famous Harrah’s Hotel/Casino chain. Housed in an architecturally-unique structure, the museum showcases a century of one-of-a-kind, vintage, bizarre, special interest, classic, and famous celebrity-owned vehicles. There are four period streets, which serve as galleries, each focusing on a particular era of the automobile. Even visitors who are not particularly interested in automobiles find themselves intrigued, fascinated, and thoroughly pleased that they chose to visit this unique museum.

$45.00 per person (3 PDUs)
Tour includes transportation and museum entrance fees. Comfortable shoes are recommended.

A Nevada Style Evening, 6:00PM – 9:00PM
Nevada is part of the “Old West” and this excursion is sure to give you a feel for what this area is famous for. Just a short drive from the Grand Sierra Resort, you will take a step back in time and experience a western-style cook out. Along the way you will hear stories of the mining days and take in spectacular scenery. Once you arrive at “Washoe Flats,” you will have a private area for a Nevada-style barbeque, complete with western band and local entertainment.

$70.00 per person (1 PDU)
Your tour includes a three-course dinner and deluxe motor coach transportation. Comfortable shoes and a light jacket are recommended.

“AAFCS Communities: Be a Part of It!” Orientation and Organization Meeting
Join us to learn how the AAFCS Communities concept can help you collaborate, both in person and virtually, to explore best practices and new ideas, share knowledge, and discover solutions to the professional challenges you face every day. You’ll learn the “who, what, when, and how” of AAFCS Communities. We’ll share the simple guidelines that have been developed and ask where your specific family and consumer sciences-related topical areas lie so an AAFCS Community can be formed around your passions.

Core to communicating with colleagues in your Communities will be an AAFCS electronic shared web space. Our demonstration will show how intuitive, convenient, and effective this tool will be in allowing you to connect with other Community members.

Deliberation—Key to Informed Public Policies
Public policies supportive of a cultural kaleidoscope depend on thoughtful deliberation of issues that may divide rather than unite people. Public deliberation is a structured dialogue around a challenging public issue in which three possible solutions are considered. Deliberation provides an opportunity for individuals to reason and discuss, consider the views of others, and analyze consequences and trade-offs associated with options while respecting and valuing one another. It is finding common ground. Learn from members who have been engaged in creating settings for deliberation on issues such as obesity, affirmative action, immigration, and “no child left behind.” (1.5 PDUs)

Moderator: Carol L. Anderson, CFCS
Presenters: Sue E. Williams, Lindsey M. Shirley, Marlene S. Lobberecht, CFCS, and Sharon Hoelscher Day, CFCS

Food Stamp Families Team Up for Fun and a Healthier Lifestyle
By teaming six- to eight-year-old children with parents/caregivers, Food Stamp families learned how eating healthy snacks and being physically active can be fun and inexpensive. The session will cover the development, implementation, and evaluation of a six-week English/Spanish program that resulted in 97% of participants reporting positive behavior changes, including eating healthy snacks and/or being physically active. You’ll learn more about the curriculum through demonstrations and hands-on learning. Find out how to duplicate this program in your community. (1 PDU)

Understanding the Impact of Meth Use on Individuals, Families, and Communities
With the growing prevalence of methamphetamine abuse across the country, it is being associated more often with increasing rates of child abuse and neglect, overburdening of the foster care system, property crime and identity theft, lost human capital, and an increasing number of permanent “meth orphans” and broken families. Develop a basic understanding of methamphetamine use and its prevalence in our communities—learn how its use and production has had an impact on the lives of children, families, and communities—and find out what you can do to address this growing problem. (1.5 PDUs)

Age-Related Acceptance and Tolerance: Creating Vital Intergenerational Programs

The two most vulnerable groups in our society are children and senior adults. However, these two groups have been separated both geographically and emotionally, and age-related biases and stereotypes are reciprocated. Therefore, in the 21st century, intergenerational programming is not just a nice idea—it’s necessary! By combining the ages, an array of intergenerational opportunities become possible: sharing, caring, and respect flow in many directions. Ultimately, intergenerational programming contributes to “America’s Cultural Kaleidoscope” by helping children and senior adults to free themselves from stereotypes. Receive examples of quality intergenerational interactions and discuss concepts that could be integrated into your existing programs! (1.5 PDUs)

Diversity Awareness: Meeting the Challenges of Our Kaleidoscopic Classrooms

In this interactive session, we’ll examine the issue of diversity and the challenges educators face in kaleidoscopic classrooms. Curricula, instruction, and methods of communication must change in order to meet the needs of the students, families, and communities we serve. We’ll discuss all areas of diversity, including how cultural differences, immigration, and refugee status have created additional challenges for educators. Then we’ll examine biases and assumptions that may exist in ourselves, our classrooms, and our schools. Take away teaching strategies, activities, and resources from the presenter’s national Teacher of the Year award-winning program. (1.5 PDUs)

Supporting Immigrant Parents in Socializing Their Children

Case studies show that immigrant families face these unique challenges when rearing their children: cultural miscommunications, acculturation issues with peers of children, and a cultural divide with schools. Immigrant mothers have also been found to have difficulty identifying normal development and parent-child interactions. This suggests the need for intervention through parent education and support. Explore strategies for supporting immigrant families and building on their strengths as they aspire to provide environments that will foster their success. (1.5 PDUs)

Presenters: Arminta L. Jacobson, CFCS, and Ruth Ann H. Ball, CFCS

Uncovering the Essential Elements in Assimilating Immigrant Families

Learn about the findings of a 10-year study on the assimilation of immigrants, which is presented in aggregate for the first time. The study uncovers and analyzes the most essential elements facilitating the assimilation of immigrants into a new culture. The principal researcher attempted to have student researchers live with the immigrant family in its new home for six months. Family members included grandparents, parents, and children. The findings offer a new perspective on many customs and question some regulations that shaped present and past education practices for immigrants coming into the United States. (1.5 PDUs)

Designing a University Course to Foster a Global Community
Family and consumer sciences professionals want to help their students develop into responsible and productive members of the global community. Learn about a university general education course that explores the increase in numbers of immigrant families and elderly people, global nutrition and food insecurity, world health problems, cross-cultural housing, family economics, and home-owned businesses. This workshop will help you design a university course that better prepares students for cultural challenges and opportunities in the U.S. and abroad. (1 PDU)

  Presenter: Caryl Lynn Johnson

10:30am - 11:30am ........................................................ Nevada 3
Respecting Diversity and Exceptionality in the FCS Classroom
Education has a strong correlation with individual success. Many who select family and consumer sciences as a career technical pathway are students who have exceptionalities and come from diverse cultures. The teacher’s role as an educator is to ensure that all students, regardless of culture, family structure, or disability, have a safe and supportive learning environment that challenges their thought processes and respects their unique differences. Learn about the rationale for the National Standards on Learning Environments and discover strategies and resources that enhance learning and facilitate respect for diversity. (1 PDU)

  Presenters: Melinda K. Swafford and Helen T. Dainty

10:30am - 11:30am ........................................................ Sierra 2
University Students Collaborate to Build a Family’s Foundation
FCS students from different program areas worked together with Habitat for Humanity to build a home for a single mother and her children. Students created an activity book that provided age-appropriate activities (family and child development), prepared a family budget (FCS), organized closets (fashion merchandising), provided input on paint colors, cabinets, flooring, and furniture placement (interior design), and created a recipe box filled with inexpensive, healthy recipes (nutrition). As a result, FCS majors applied the knowledge they had gained in their classes to improve the quality of life for this family. Learn how to integrate this project into your program. (1 PDU)

  Presenters: Michelle L. Toews and Karol Blaylock

10:30am - 11:30am ........................................................ Nevada 2
Incorporating Diversity Into Extension Programs and Clubs
This interactive workshop will help you appreciate the diversity within your club/program. Learn how to make sure members of your club/program feel included and vital. Find out how to maintain a respectful environment, as well as recruit and retain underrepresented groups. And, gain insight to ensure that your Extension programs are reaching a diverse audience. This workshop will provide you with a great way to introduce “diversity” discussions to your club/program. (1 PDU)

  Presenters: Kelly J. Quinn and Amena Anderson

Using Technology to Cultivate an Appreciation of Multicultural Design
Multicultural influences are the hottest trend for fashion, interiors, cuisine, and every other area of life. So is developing an appreciation for all cultures, including one’s own. These influences also simplify the design process, enrich the design, and enable students to experience the process that successful designers use. Learn how to locate and use multicultural resources for fabric, fashion, accessory, costume, and interior design using readily available software.
Also find out about affordable resources for learning about fashion trends. The lecture/demonstration includes projects and ideas for secondary and college courses. (1 PDU)

Creating Successful Relationships in a Diverse Workplace

Relationships within the workplace can drain our energy and collapse our spirit, or they can lift us to new heights of success. Diversity and culture are just two of the many factors that have an impact on relationships within the workplace. Social and emotional intelligence can help us navigate the sometimes treacherous waters. Successful workplace environments focus on differences as strengths and the changing kaleidoscope as opportunities for growth. Learn strategies that will help you integrate what you know with how you behave to increase your understanding, empathy, and ability to adapt and cope with “different” people. (1 PDU)

Promoting Health and Wellness Among Alaskan Natives Through Extension Programs

Alaska has more cases of botulism than any other state in the nation. Many Native Alaskans live a subsistence lifestyle that involves food preservation techniques such as canning, drying, and fermenting. As villages have moved away from the traditional methods, occurrences of botulism have risen. Challenges that impact Extension agents’ successes in bringing researched-based information to the rural villages include the defined protocol for entering communities and the lack of a road system. Learn about methods for serving traditional tribes and the use of technology in long-distance education delivery. (1 PDU)

Students Speak: Developing Leaders From Diverse Backgrounds Through Career and Technical Student Organizations

More than ever before, schools are challenged to educate disadvantaged students. Career and technical student organizations (CTSOs), such as Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA), provide a wonderful opportunity for less affluent students, including minority, low-income, single-parent, cohabitation, and immigrant students, to develop leadership and employability skills. Find out how the presenters have successfully used CTSOs to reach lesser-served populations, including state officer groups that are more than 50% minority.

Exploring Diversity Through Experiential Learning
To read about a group or an individual’s experience can be moving, but participation in the experience can be life changing. The ethnographic or diversity experience provides a springboard for exploration of cultural, ethnic, religious, and socioeconomic factors that transcend age or grade. With integration of experiential learning in the classroom or with self-guided study, a foundation is built for deeper understanding, tolerance, and celebration of the unique characteristics that are part of the changing kaleidoscope of America. Learn how to expand your traditional teaching methods to include ethnographic and diversity experiences. (1 PDU)

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Dr. James A. Banks
Professor, University of Washington, and Author

America’s Cultural Kaleidoscope—Challenges and Opportunities

As a fifth grade teacher in Chicago, then as a graduate student at Michigan State University, and as a professor at the University of Washington beginning in 1969, Banks has pursued questions related to education, racial inequality, and social justice in more than 100 journal articles and 20 books. Widely considered the “father of multicultural education in the U.S.,” he has received numerous awards and honors for his research and professional service, including the National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS) Distinguished Career Research Award. During his keynote address, Banks will explore the ways in which the ever-changing culture of America affects education, family life, and the work force from both a historical and contemporary perspective.

Concurrent Sessions

9:20am - 10:40am ........................ Silver State 3
Addressing Cultural Diversity Through Universal Teaching Approaches
With more diversity than ever in the world today, human sciences professionals are presented with both challenges and opportunities. Professionals must give learners various ways of acquiring and demonstrating information and knowledge, tap into learners’ interests, offer learners appropriate challenges, and increase learners’ motivation. Gain a more in-depth understanding of cultural diversity and how to make learning more universal in both formal and informal settings. (1.25 PDUs)

The FCS Profession: Meeting the Challenges of America’s Kaleidoscope
This session will showcase how FCS professionals are implementing teaching, research, and service programs to engage ethnic and economic minorities in developing policies related to health care, elder care, child care, institutional food preparation, environmental stewardship, and community strengthening. These domestic and international programs address issues of diversity and overcoming barriers to full societal participation. Hear from five panel members who will highlight their specific efforts to help ensure that diversity in America fosters unity rather than divisiveness. (1.25 PDUs)

Presenter: Tahira K. Hira

Panelists:

Mary P. Andrews, IFHE-US president, will discuss her long-term involvement in supporting NGOs that work to empower women in both national and international settings.

Mary J. Beaubien, Dominican Sisters, will demonstrate how her work in Johannesburg, South Africa, with women and girls in income generation activities is leading to strengthening families and communities.

Janett A. Gibbs, retired Extension home economist, will discuss the successful mobilization of resources to rebuild home economics programs in Schools of Grenada after the devastating hurricane in 2004.

Leah Keino Kagima, assistant professor, Iowa State University, and Sidiga Washi, Ahfad University, Sudan, will demonstrate their work with FCS teacher education and programs in Sudan and Rwanda.

Deborah T. Tippett, CFCS, professor, Meredith College, will share the details of her general education course on global questions.

Cultural Diversity—Understanding and Meeting the Challenge
Formerly the dean of Arizona State University’s College of Education, Dr. García recently stepped down to assume the role of VP for education partnerships. He has published extensively in the area of language teaching and bilingual development. Dr. García is currently chairing the National Task Force on Early Education for Hispanics, funded by the Foundation for Child Development and the Mailman Family Foundation. At the Annual Conference, García will provide information on effective schooling for linguistically and culturally diverse student populations as they are deeply affected by immigration, culture, language, and demographic shifts. Open Forum—Discussion of Milestones Reached as Part of the Plan, “Transforming AAFCS: New Era of Action”

Together, AAFCS members, leaders, and the Board embarked on a major transformation journey in the spring of 2006 with the intent to position our Association for the “next 100 years” following our Centennial Celebration, which kicks off in June of 2008. The AAFCS Board will share with you the major accomplishments in our Association’s plan, “Transforming AAFCS: New Era of Action.”

Moving to AAFCS Communities as a way to structure our membership is a recommendation for action approved by the 2006 Senate. At the Open Forum, you will have the opportunity to hear about the policies and procedures that have been developed for AAFCS Communities. The intent of these policies has been to allow AAFCS members to take action on a topic for which they have a real passion and interest. The Board will also respond to your questions.

As part of our transformation, the AAFCS Board has also addressed the need for a business plan that aligns the AAFCS strategic plan with the budget for our operations. Come to this forum to learn about and provide input on this management tool wherein our Association has strategic objectives, addresses sustainability, conducts market analysis, sets long-term financial goals, and aligns priorities with resources. AAFCS’ finances will be reviewed during the forum with special emphasis on an overview of our investments and the approved balanced operating budget for FY 2007-2008.

This Open Forum is one you won’t want to miss. It’s a chance for a two-way exchange. Come to learn. Come to have your voice heard on AAFCS matters!

P.A.R.T.N.E.R.S. Program
"P.A.R.T.N.E.R.S." is a unique and innovative program through which special education students are teamed with regular education students to develop positive social and academic relationships. All students gain knowledge and skills through participation in peer-developed units focusing on community living and personal growth. Students in the program cooperatively contribute in all aspects of the P.A.R.T.N.E.R.S. Sundae Shoppe in-school business, designed to promote career and technical skills and knowledge to special populations. The program contributes to decreased stereotypes, positive peer attitudes, advocacy for individuals with special needs, and a more harmonious school culture.

My ABC Project: A Brighter Child—Building Today’s Classroom
My project enables child development students to teach young children reading skills. The students develop an ABC notebook, pictorially depicting the sounds of the letters of the alphabet as well as blends, digraphs, and dual sounds. Then they apply their knowledge by teaching young children, especially those at risk, in our local school district.

Fashion: More Than Meets the Eye
Researchers indicate that current apparel industry trends reflect growth in several areas at a time when fewer and fewer students are entering college programs prepared to begin study of these more advanced areas of the clothing field. My third-year clothing program provides the knowledge needed to help students bridge the gap between high school clothing classes and basic skills required to enter a fashion-related course of study in college.

Nutrition and Wellness
The primary focus of “Nutrition and Wellness” is to help students combine the fitness and nutritional aspects of a healthy lifestyle by emphasizing healthy nutritional choices, developing a fitness plan, differentiating between wellness myths and realities, integrating science principles as related to nutrition, and practicing wise consumer decisions. Applied activities, DVDs and videos, PowerPoint® presentations, Internet research, guest speakers, and field trips help them develop nutrition and wellness awareness and knowledge.

Crunching the Numbers Before You Eat
Currently over 20% of 5 to 11 year olds and an alarming 29% of 12 to 18 year olds in North Carolina are overweight. "Crunching the Numbers" is a multi-faceted effort to increase awareness of the long-term effects of inactivity and poor eating habits on our young people. Through FCS courses, the goal is to convince people that by “crunching the numbers” and being attentive to nutrient intake and activity level, or making even incremental lifestyle changes, they can reap valuable wellness benefits.

“Teen Issues”—Families From Different Cultures
Intolerance, racism, bigotry, sexism, ageism, violence, and ableism all have a major impact on families. To address these challenges, I developed a unit called “Families From Different Cultures” for my Teen Issues class. The three areas of primary focus are aging families, families with differing abilities, and families from different cultures. These areas address the needs of the community of Big Lake as our population becomes older, lives with disabilities, and gains more culturally-diverse residents.

The Science of Nutrition: Expanding and Applying Nutritional Knowledge
This project involves physicians coming to Southwest School and giving presentations on not just basic nutrition and health, but also the science behind nutrition and its cultural implications. Several topics are explored, including discussing the nutritional contents of the Total Parental Nutrition Bag, how nutrition affects different cultures and society, as well as discussing the old vs. new food pyramid(s). The goal is for students to critically think about nutrition and apply that knowledge to create their own food recipes.

Generations and the Future of Association Participation
Dr. Arthur C. Brooks, who specializes in studying associations and nonprofit organizations, will discuss the perception that members of Generation X and Y are not “joiners.” Contrary to this commonly held assumption, Generation X and Y workers show every indication of joining associations at even higher rates than Baby Boomers.

His presentation will examine behavioral trends in generations, strategies for engaging younger members, and what these trends mean for the future of associations. Brooks’ research identifies the benefits that younger workers will seek and demand in return for membership, including identifiable career advantages, sense of professional community, and the opportunities to serve. FCS Alliance representatives, affiliate leaders, and those interested in attracting and retaining members are encouraged to attend. (1 PDU)

Mothers in Prison: Their Stories and Programs to Support Them
Being a mother in prison is extremely challenging and frustrating. This feminist narrative research focused on learning how incarcerated mothers understood mothering, observing how mothering evolved through their prison experience, and telling their stories. Inmate mothers told stories of how they were mothered, how they mothered from the “outside,” and what it was like to mother from the “inside.” Though painful, each of the women found the process of creating her “herstory” to be healing. Pivotal to this process was engaging in intense self-reflection and participating in prison intervention programs and a mother-child support literacy program. (1 PDU)

Our Giving Culture
In Brooks’ latest book, Who Really Cares, he outlines strategies for expanding the ranks of givers, for the good of all Americans. A top scholar of economics and public policy, he has spent years researching why America has split into two nations: givers and non-givers. Brooks was surprised to find that conservatives really are compassionate—far more compassionate than their liberal foes. Strong families, church attendance, earned income, and the belief that individuals, not government, offer the best solution to social ills—all of these factors determine how likely one is to give. During his presentation, Brooks will present more information about his research findings and explain how you can apply this knowledge to your fundraising efforts.

EDUCATIONAL SESSIONS — BLOCK FIVE

1:30pm - 2:30pm ...................................................... Teton 1
A New Look at Involvement Patterns of Nonresidential African-American Fathers
Utilizing the culturally relevant model, this session will focus on involvement patterns of African-American nonresidential fathers with their children. Involvement patterns of African-American nonresidential fathers has been minimally addressed in the literature. Sparse attention has been given to the experiences of children with their nonresidential fathers (Amato & Keith, 1991), and ethnic perspectives are particularly lacking (Lawson & Thompson, 1999; Pleck, 1997). African-American nonresidential fathers are typically described in pejorative ways that reflect absence, abandonment, or incompetent parenting (Leite & McKenry 2006). This presentation challenges the pejorative view of nonresidential black fathers and offers a culturally relevant model. (1 PDU)

Diversity in the FCS Classroom: Fresh Teaching and Learning Strategies
Faced with the concept of teaching students about diversity, many FCS teachers will ask their students to prepare foods from other cultures. While this strategy may open the dialogue, there are many new and innovative approaches that can be used. In this session, you will first define and explore your understanding of diversity. Then you will learn about fresh teaching strategies for all content areas of FCS and how to adapt these strategies for your own classroom. Lastly, you will develop a philosophy and related teaching/learning strategies that will enable you to teach respect for and acceptance of diversity. (1 PDU)

Presenters: Nancy E. Thompson and Julie P. Wheeler

A Common Thread: Examining Cultures Through Bread
Found on most dinner tables around the world, bread is generally acknowledged as the staff of life. Learn to appreciate similarities and differences across cultures by examining the cultural significance of bread in family traditions and celebrations. Examine recipes from households around the world in the context of family customs. Explore ideas for integrating the cultural significance of bread into classrooms and community venues. (1 PDU)

Preparing High School Students for Leadership Roles in Fashion and Interiors
Clothing and textiles programs are being eliminated because they are not relevant to the current job market, administrators consider them antiquated, and students lack interest in them. Learn how one state revamped its program to prepare students for leadership roles in today’s fashion, merchandising, and interior design careers. The two-year program offers advanced skills in technology, design, and critical thinking and includes career development, applied academics, basic business practices, leadership, and life and employability skills. Students can pursue entry-level careers in the design, manufacture, or sales of apparel or home furnishings or a degree in fashion or interiors. (1 PDU)

Developing Cultural Competence Among Children in Non-Diverse Environments
Research states that in order for white children to understand multiculturalism and diversity to a point of cultural competence, they must make connections with individuals from diverse backgrounds. However, there are areas of the nation that do not afford that opportunity. What of those children? Learn how to use play environments, activities, and materials to help you develop cultural competence in children while working and living in a predominately white environment. Photographs, video clips, and examples of play materials will be shared. (1 PDU)

Presenter: Mikki Meadows, CFCS-HDFS

1:30PM - 2:30PM ..............................................................TETON 2
Celebrating Cultures in the FCS Classroom
With the influx of diverse populations entering the FCS classroom, new teaching strategies are needed to meet the needs of these learners and increase their success. Within the last year, our FCS program has been converted to an international baccalaureate curriculum, which incorporates the areas of interaction into the classroom as well as cultural sensitivity into each of our disciplines. Our IB magnet school was developed through a grant as we joined the Northwest Suburban Integration District. Explore methods and strategies to help your FCS classroom meet the needs of diverse populations. (1 PDU)

Annual Conference & Expo Online Survey

Your feedback about your AAFCS Annual Conference & Expo experience is very important to AAFCS. The information we receive helps us in planning future conferences to better meet your needs. On June 26, AAFCS will post a link to the 98th Annual Conference & Expo online survey on the AAFCS home page (www.aafcs.org). You will have two weeks to complete the survey. In order to help you complete the survey as accurately as possible, we have provided some topics for you to consider and take notes on during the Annual Conference & Expo:

• Annual Conference theme and educational objectives (see page 9)
• Reasons for attending the Annual Conference & Expo
• Overall value of the Annual Conference and sessions
• Quality and relevance of the keynote speakers
• Value of the educational excursions
• Open hours and value of the Expo
• Usefulness of the onsite program book
• Types of continuing education units or credit available
• Suggestions for future conferences
• Reasons why you would attend next year’s conference

We look forward to receiving your feedback in the online survey.
