

FRIDAY FCS

FAMILY AND CONSUMER SCIENCES EDUCATION

Follow us on our social media platforms!

ok_state_fcseducation

OkState FCS Education

OKState FCS Education

OKState FCS Education

GOOD AFTERNOON!

It's a pleasure to provide messages about our Family and Consumer Sciences Education program at Oklahoma State University!! These newsletters are sent to our current OSU students in the program, OSU alumni of the FACESD, HEECS, and HEED programs that I have email information for, and other supporters of our FCSE program. Please feel free to reply to add your insights! You are also welcome to share this message with others you think would like to know more about how our students are learning to make life-long impacts on individuals, families and communities in our content areas!!

FEBRUARY 13, 2026

Today's newsletter focuses on a student in our undergraduate program in Family and Consumer Sciences Education. Be sure to follow us on social media as shown above for other news! Jaci Morris, an FCSE freshman student from Minco, helps develop the content for us.

Santana Scrapper is a former Oklahoma FCCLA state officer who came to the program from Stilwell High School; she is shown to the right and in her recent field experience with Karin Davis, FCS Apparel Design Instructor at Tulsa Tech: Choosing Family and Consumer Sciences has truly been one of the best decisions I have ever made, because it aligns so deeply with who I am and the kind of impact I want to have on others. A huge part of that decision came from my advisor, whose constant support, encouragement, and belief in me never wavered even when I doubted myself. The Family and Consumer Sciences degree program at Oklahoma State University has only reinforced that choice; it is not only incredibly detailed and well-structured, but also genuinely supportive of students as individuals. I have felt challenged, encouraged, and cared for every step of the way, and that combination has helped me grow both academically and personally. The staff at OSU are diligent in everything they do, always making sure students feel supported rather than overlooked. Their dedication, approachability, and genuine care have made my experience at OSU not just successful, but truly meaningful. I am beyond excited to be stepping into this profession and putting everything I have learned into practice. I cannot wait to be in the classroom, making a difference in students' lives and doing the work I am truly passionate about.

Paula J. Tripp, Ph.D.
Family and Consumer Sciences Education Program Coordinator
Teaching Professor paula.j.tripp@okstate.edu

DEPARTMENT OF
HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY SCIENCE

@okstate_EHS

