Associate/Full Professor

About Northeastern:

Founded in 1898, Northeastern is a global research university and the recognized leader in experience-driven lifelong learning. Our world-renowned experiential approach empowers our students, faculty, alumni, and partners to create impact far beyond the confines of discipline, degree, and campus. The Bouve College of Health Sciences has over 200 faculty members, with approximately 2,000 undergraduate and 2,400 graduate students. It is the leading national model for education and research in the health, psychosocial and biomedical sciences and supports the University's mission of educating students for a life of fulfillment and accomplishment and creating and translating knowledge to meet global and societal needs.

Creating an environment where students thrive begins with the faculty. Faculty of the School of Nursing in the Bouve College of Health Sciences is a diverse and committed group of professionals who are highly qualified, nationally known, and characterized by a range of experiences in nursing practice, research, and education that reflect an extensive degree of excellence. The ultimate goal is to advance the School of Nursing's position to one of the nation's top research schools of nursing.

The wide range of programs offered by the School of Nursing from baccalaureate through DNP and PhD degrees highlights the responsiveness of the School to the healthcare needs of individuals and communities in the state, nation, and globally. The School of Nursing is committed to co-creating an environment conducive to incubating innovative ideas and strategies aimed at creating a more dignified patient-family-centered healthcare system.

About the Opportunity:

The School of Nursing invites applications from highly-motivated candidates for a full-time tenured position. This is an academic year, benefits-eligible position as a Full or Associate Professor in the School of Nursing commensurate with the candidate's qualifications.

Responsibilities:

Responsibilities include having a strong program of research supported by external funding, participation in the development, instruction, and evaluation of baccalaureate through doctoral courses, and academic advising. The School seeks candidates whose research, teaching, and service reflect an integration of diversity and inclusion. Candidates should be prepared to provide evidence of how their research, teaching, and service have prepared them to contribute to the commitment to diversity and inclusion. The anticipated start date for this position is the 2022 - 2023 academic year.

Qualifications:
Qualifications require evidence of an established area of research and scholarship, teaching excellence in graduate through doctoral courses, demonstrated excellence and commitment to supporting a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment. The candidate should have a PhD in Nursing or related field and eligibility for RN licensure in Massachusetts by the appointment start date.

Additional Information:

Salary and rank will be commensurate with education, training, and expertise/record of excellence and includes an outstanding benefits package http://www.northeastern.edu/hrm/benefits/index.html.

All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, disability status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

To apply, visit https://aptrkr.com/2605991