AMERICAN ACADEMY OF NURSING

37TH ANNUAL MEETING & CONFERENCE
Greetings
American Academy of Nursing
Annual Meeting & Conference

November 11, 2010

As Mayor of the District of Columbia, I am pleased to extend greetings to the American Academy of Nursing on the occasion of your Annual Meeting and Conference.

This event will provide participants the opportunity to discuss information on issues in an effort to greatly improve healthcare delivery and best practices in the nursing field. As you gather to reflect on your accomplishments, we thank you for your contributions to the healthcare industry.

On behalf of all the residents of the District of Columbia, you have my best wishes for an enjoyable and productive conference.

AAN MISSION

To serve the public and nursing profession by advancing health policy and practice through the generation, synthesis and dissemination of nursing knowledge.
Dear Colleagues:

Since we gathered in Atlanta last fall a lot has changed. The future of health reform implementation, with its supporters, critics, and political maneuvering, remains precarious, but the provisions that ensure greater access to safe and patient-centered health care are promising. I am especially encouraged by the opportunities that are emerging for nurses to take a greater role in leading reforms and innovations in care delivery. With this as backdrop, I welcome you to the 37th Annual Meeting and Conference of the American Academy of Nursing. The conference has returned to the nation’s capital, where we are best positioned to influence policy and advance the mission of the American Academy of Nursing.

The theme of this year’s conference, “Advancing Practice through Innovation, Technology and Policy,” punctuates the recent work of the Academy, which has actively promoted its Raise the Voice campaign, disseminated the technological solutions of the Academy’s Workforce Commission, hosted a successful conference on nursing research, and released recommendations relevant to the Affordable Care Act. Through our plenary and discussion sessions, as well as our expert panel meetings and social events, I am confident that this conference will enhance our work, individually and collectively.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I would like to extend thanks for the significant contributions of the many individuals who helped organize this event, including the Annual Meeting Planning Committee — chaired by Pat Reid Ponte, DNSc, RN, FAAN, and Karen Drenkard, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, CPHQ, FAAN — and the Academy staff.

I believe you will find this year’s conference to be especially relevant in addressing the future of nursing and the issues we face in achieving needed reforms. Let’s use this conference as an opportunity to prepare for an even more productive 2011.

Sincerely,

Catherine L. Gilliss, DNSc, RN, FAAN
President
WELCOME from the Co-Chairs

To Our Esteemed Guests:

Welcome to the American Academy of Nursing’s 37th Annual Meeting and Conference. It is with great anticipation we return to Washington, taking advantage of the chance to influence health policy at the nation’s tactical center. As the American Academy of Nursing’s Annual Meeting and Conference Planning Committee Co-Chairs, we are delighted that you could join us and share your inspiring insights and vision.

This year’s kick off Pre-Conference — Transforming Nursing through Informatics and Technology: Implications for Practice, Education, and Policy — is an outstanding opportunity for nurse leaders to participate in important work of continued leadership in information technology.

In addition, the Annual Conference agenda features thoughtful remarks from a host of prominent speakers, including the Honor able Donna Shalala, President, University of Miami and former Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services; and the Honorable Edward G. Rendell, Governor of Pennsylvania and Chair of the Academy’s Raise the Voice campaign. We are pleased to offer a number of informative breakout and plenary sessions, as well.

Entitled “Advancing Practice through Innovation, Technology and Policy,” this year’s conference will help position attendees to lead the reform of care delivery and best practices. Just like in previous conferences, attendees will have the chance to inform their colleagues and disseminate knowledge to national and international industry leaders, celebrate the achievements of nursing professionals, and induct a new cadre of Fellows who represent the next great leadership of the Academy.

We hope this year’s dynamic program affords you a chance to participate in a variety of events, merging your aspirations to develop professionally and celebrate a little as well.

Warm regards,

Patricia Reid Ponte, DNSc, RN, FAAN
AAN Board Member/Annual Conference Planning Committee, Co-Chair

Karen Drenkard, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, CPHQ, FAAN
Annual Conference Planning Committee, Co-Chair
WELCOME from AAN’s new CEO

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

It is an honor to join you at the American Academy of Nursing’s 37th Annual Meeting and Conference — my first as Chief Executive Officer. It is with immense anticipation and high expectations that I look forward to lively discussions with our Fellowship.

This year’s Pre-Conference, “Transforming Nursing through Informatics and Technology for Practice: Implications for Practice, Education and Policy,” and the Annual Meeting and Conference, “Advancing Practice through Innovation, Technology and Policy,” highlight the extraordinary capacity of this profession and organization to make a difference in people’s lives. Your attendance is further testament to your dedication to improve access to affordable, quality, safe, and equitable care that promotes the health of individuals, families, and communities.

In a previous role in public service working for Senator Evan Bayh of Indiana, my job description was concise, but profound: “Making government work for the families we serve.” Since becoming CEO in September, the Academy has continued to solidify its stature in Washington, developing relationships with key stakeholders and maintaining the initiatives that harmonize with our objectives and strategic plan. It is my personal goal to ensure this organization works for the Fellows it serves.

On behalf of the Academy staff, we are grateful for the intensive work of all those involved — planners, speakers, volunteers — to make this weekend inspiring and memorable. I look forward to meeting you all and collaborating with you in the future as we transform health care policy and practice through nursing knowledge.

Warm regards,

Cheryl G. Sullivan, MSES
Chief Executive Officer
Conference Objective
The 2010 Annual Conference will provide participants with information and perspectives which position them to lead the reform of care delivery and dissemination of best practices.

Conference Description
The American Academy of Nursing is a key leader in the advancement and improvement of health care delivery through policy and scholarship. The Association supports:

• advancing innovation by nurses at the bed side, and in the community, board room and laboratory
• creating avenues to embed the meaningful use of technology in care delivery
• re-designing care delivery models with a focus on inter-disciplinary collaboration, efficiency, access and patient and family-centered care.

Jean Moody-Williams, RN, MPP

Jean D. Moody-Williams, RN, MPP, is the current Group Director for the CMS Quality Improvement Group (QIG). She has responsibility for the operation of the Quality Improvement Program and the End Stage Renal Disease Networks. The mission is to improve the effectiveness, efficiency, economy, and quality of services delivered to Medicare beneficiaries. Prior to serving as the QIG Director, she served as the Director of the Division of Quality, Evaluation and Health Outcomes (DQEHO) for the Center for Medicaid and State Operations (CMSO) at CMS and was responsible for leading quality improvement efforts for the Medicaid Program.

The Honorable Edward G. Rendell

Edward G. Rendell, Pennsylvania’s 45th Governor, began a second term of office on January 16, 2007, following a landslide re-election victory. As Governor, Rendell serves as chief executive of the nation’s 6th-most-populous state and oversees a $28.3 billion budget.

Governor Rendell’s unprecedented strategic investments have energized Pennsylvania’s economy, revitalized communities, improved education, protected the environment and expanded access to health care to all children and affordable prescription drugs for older adults. He championed and signed into law Pennsylvania’s first comprehensive measure to substantially reform the local tax system by providing urgently needed property tax relief to homeowners. In 2008-09 taxpayers will save nearly $800 million in the first year of statewide property tax relief from gaming revenues.

Governor Rendell is building on his efforts to make government more responsible to the public, and more responsive to the public’s needs. He has annually cut wasteful spending and improved efficiency to save more than $1 billion and is pursuing a legislative agenda that includes commonsense political reforms to put progress ahead of partisanship.

From 1992 through 1999, Governor Rendell served as the 121st Mayor of the City of Philadelphia. Among his many accomplishments as Mayor, Rendell eliminated a $250 million deficit; balanced the city’s budget and generated five consecutive budget surpluses; reduced business and wage taxes for four consecutive years; implemented new revenue-generating initiatives, and dramatically improved services to the City’s neighborhoods. The New York Times called the Philadelphia renaissance under Rendell “the most stunning turnaround in recent urban history.” Before serving as Mayor, Rendell was elected district attorney of the City of Philadelphia for two terms from 1978 through 1985.

The Governor, who served as general chair of the Democratic National Committee during the 2000 Presidential election, has always been active in the community through a variety of memberships on boards, and also teaches government and politics courses at the University of Pennsylvania. An Army veteran, the Governor is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania (B.A. 1965) and Villanova Law School (J.D. 1968). He was born on January 5, 1944.

The Governor and his wife, First Lady Marjorie O. Rendell, a judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, have a son, Jesse.
President Donna E. Shalala

Donna E. Shalala became Professor of Political Science and President of the University of Miami on June 1, 2001. President Shalala has more than 25 years of experience as an accomplished scholar, teacher, and administrator.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, President Shalala received her A.B. degree in history from Western College for Women. One of the country’s first Peace Corp Volunteers, she served in Iran from 1962 to 1964. She earned her Ph.D. degree from The Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University. A leading scholar on the political economy of state and local governments, she also has held tenured professorships at Columbia University, the City University of New York (CUNY), and the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She served as President of Hunter College of the City University of New York from 1980 to 1987 and as Chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-Madison from 1987 to 1993.

During her tenure, UM has solidified its position among top U.S. research universities and continues to rise in national rankings, including an unprecedented 15-point climb in U.S. News and World Report’s “America’s Best Colleges,” moving from 66th in 2001 up to 51st in 2008. Momentum: The Campaign for the University of Miami, the first billion-dollar capital campaign completed in the state of Florida, raised $1.4 billion in private support for the university’s endowment, academic and research programs and facilities. UM’s Coral Gables campus hosted the first 2004 Presidential Debate and in 2007, in partnership with Univision Network, presented the first-ever Democratic and Republican presidential candidates’ forums in Spanish.

In 1993 President Clinton appointed her U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) where she served for eight years, becoming the longest serving HHS Secretary in U.S. history. At the beginning of her tenure, HHS had a budget of nearly $600 billion, which included a wide variety of programs including Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, Child Care and Head Start, Welfare, the Public Health Service, the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

As HHS Secretary, she directed the welfare reform process, made health insurance available to an estimated 3.3 million children through the approval of all State Children’s Health Insurance Programs (SCHIP), raised child immunization rates to the highest levels in history, led major reforms of the FDA’s drug approval process and food safety system, revitalized the National Institutes of Health, and directed a major management and policy reform of Medicare. At the end of her tenure as HHS Secretary, The Washington Post described her as “one of the most successful government managers of modern times.” As Chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, she led what was then the nation’s largest public research university. She successfully strengthened undergraduate education, the university’s research facilities, and spearheaded the largest fundraising drive in Wisconsin’s history. In 1992, Business Week named her one of the top five managers in higher education.

She served in the Carter administration from 1977-80 as Assistant Secretary for Public Development and Research at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. In 1980, she assumed the presidency of Hunter College of the City University of New York.

She is a Director of Gannett Co., Inc., and the Lennar Corporation. She also serves as a Trustee of the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation. In 2007, President George W. Bush handpicked Shalala to co-chair with Senator Bob Dole the Commission on Care for Returning Wounded Warriors, to evaluate how wounded service members transition from active duty to civilian society. She was appointed chair of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Initiative on the Future of Nursing, at the Institute of Medicine in 2009.

President Shalala has more than three dozen honorary degrees and a host of other honors, including the 1992 National Public Service Award, the 1994 Glamour magazine Woman of the Year Award; in 2005 she was named one of “America’s Best Leaders” by U.S. News & World Report and the Center for Public Leadership at Harvard University’s Kennedy School of Government.

In June 2008, President Bush presented her with the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation’s highest civilian award. She has been elected to the Council on Foreign Relations; National Academy of Education; the National Academy of Public Administration; the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; the American Philosophical Society; the National Academy of Social Insurance; the American Academy of Political and Social Science; the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences.

In 1992, Business Week named her one of the top five managers in higher education.
Peter Pronovost, MD, PhD, FCCM

Dr. Peter Pronovost is a practicing anesthesiologist and critical care physician, teacher, researcher, and international patient safety leader. Dr. Pronovost is a Professor in the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine (Departments of Anesthesiology and Critical Care Medicine, and Surgery); in the Bloomberg School of Public Health (Department of Health Policy and Management) and in the School of Nursing. He is also Medical Director for the Center for Innovation in Quality Patient Care, which supports quality and safety efforts at the Johns Hopkins Hospitals. In 2003 Dr. Pronovost established the Quality and Safety Research Group to advance the science of safety. Dr. Pronovost and his research team are dedicated to improving healthcare through methods that are scientifically rigorous, but feasible at the bedside. Dr. Pronovost holds a doctorate in clinical investigation from the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

The author of more than 340 articles and chapters in the fields of patient safety, ICU care, quality health care, evidence-based medicine, and the measurement and evaluation of safety efforts, Dr. Pronovost is also a frequent speaker on the topics of quality and safety leadership and implementation of large scale change. He chairs the JCAHO ICU Advisory Panel for Quality Measures, the ICU Physician Staffing Committee for the Leapfrog Group, and serves on the Quality Measures Work Group of the National Quality Forum. He also serves in an advisory capacity to the World Health Organizations’ World Alliance for Patient Safety, and is leading WHO efforts to improve patient safety measurement, evaluation, and leadership capacity globally.

Dr. Pronovost has won several national awards for his research, including the 2004 John Eisenberg Patient Safety Research Award. He was also one of 25 individuals awarded a coveted MacArthur Fellowship in 2008, known popularly as the “genius grant”.

Time magazine named Dr. Pronovost one of the world’s 100 “most influential people” in 2008 for his work in patient safety — specifically a checklist for intensive care unit procedures inspired by the airline industry’s routine safety checklist. Dr. Pronovost’s work in innovating ways to improve patient safety and care are changing the way, not just how the U.S., but also the world thinks about medical care. The magazine’s annual list recognizes people “whose power, talent or moral example is transforming our world.”

The U.S. House of Representatives’ Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, chaired by Henry A. Waxman (D-CA), released a report strongly endorsing Dr. Pronovost’s ICU infection prevention program, noting that its use has the potential of saving thousands of lives and millions of dollars throughout the United States. And Maryland Senator Barbara Mikulski recently drafted a health care bill based almost entirely on Dr. Pronovost’s work.

Dr. Pronovost is currently leading several large national and international safety projects.

Karen Donelan, EM, ScD

Karen Donelan, EM, ScD is Senior Scientist in the Mongan Institute for Health Policy at Massachusetts General Hospital and a member of the faculty in the Department of Medicine at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Donelan is a survey researcher whose focus has been on assessments of health systems and services by patients, the public and health professionals. She has led research efforts in more than 20 nations and has published extensively in major nursing, medical and health policy journals.

Over the past 15 years, Dr. Donelan has led several major research efforts to assess workforce issues for nurses and physicians in the US and abroad amidst major changes in health care systems and financing. She is currently a collaborator with Dr. Peter Buerhaus of the Vanderbilt School of Nursing on several projects assessing the image of nursing and the nursing shortage as part of the evaluation team of the Johnson & Johnson Campaign for Nursing’s Future, and is Principal Investigator of a project funded by the Henry Jackson Foundation to assess recruitment strategies for the military nurse workforce, working with Uniformed Services University Graduate School of Nursing Dean Adasue Hinshaw and her colleagues.

At MGH, Dr. Donelan is also involved in research and programmatic efforts to enhance access to care for all patients, but especially underserved populations, including racial and ethnic minorities and people with limited English proficiency. Dr. Donelan was previously the founding Managing Director of the Harvard Opinion Research Program at the Harvard School of Public Health and the co-founder and senior Vice-President of a consumer health care company.

Dr. Donelan holds degrees from Harvard and Radcliffe Colleges, the Harvard Graduate School of Education, and the Harvard School of Public Health. She is married to a clinical oncologist and has 3 children ages 19, 17 and 13.
A NURSING LIFE: SERVING THE NATION
A Nursing Live: Serving the Nation is an inspiring photo-journalism project that has documented the work of the American Academy of Nursing’s Edge Runners, the nurse innovators at the center of the Raise the Voice campaign. The American Academy of Nursing has embarked with photojournalists Susan Sterner and Tyrone Turner to reach new and broader audiences with A Nursing Live. The goal of this project is to generate fresh visual narratives highlighting the impact of Raise the Voice-recognized services, centers and individuals. The first complete documentaries are available for viewing at the A Nursing Live: Serving the Nation booth, located in the Independence Foyer.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF NURSING
Annual Meeting & Conference Policies

ADMISSION TO SESSIONS
Official name badges will be required for admission to all AAN sessions. All Annual Meeting & Conference attendees receive a name badge with their registration materials. Name badges should be worn at all times inside the Grand Hyatt Washington, as badges will be used to control access to sessions and activities. Attendees are cautioned against wearing their name badges while away from the hotel as badges draw unwanted attention to your status as visitors to the Washington, DC area.

ADMISSION BY TICKETS
Admission into the Living Legends Celebration Reception and the Induction Ceremony and Soiree are included in the FULL registration price. The SATURDAY only registration fee includes admission to the Induction Ceremony and Soiree. Your registration packet should include all tickets, including any tickets purchased for guests. If you feel you are missing a ticket, please check with the HELP DESK. Tickets will be collected at the door by ushers.

ATTIRE
Appropriate dress for the Annual Meeting & Conference is business casual. A jacket or sweater is recommended as temperatures in meeting rooms may vary. Dress for the Living Legends Ceremony & Reception is formal business attire (suits and ties for men, business-like dress with jackets for women). Dress for the Induction Ceremony is cocktail-to-formal, with black tie optional for men.

CELL PHONE PROTOCOL
Please ensure that cell phone ringers are turned off during all sessions.

EMERGENCY & FIRST AID
The Grand Hyatt Washington is fully prepared to handle emergency requests and first aid. Pick up any house phone for immediate assistance and contact an AAN staff person for support. Remember to note all emergency exits within the hotel.

EVALUATIONS
In AAN’s continued effort to be green, again this year meeting evaluation is being online. You will be notified how to access it after the meeting. Please take the time to complete the evaluation form. Your input and comments are essential in planning future Annual Meeting & Conferences.

EXHIBITS
Location: Independence BCDE

Remember to stop by and visit this year’s exhibitors. Show your support of the new programs and products displayed at this year’s conference.
