Greetings!

to the American Academy of Nursing

It gives me great pleasure to welcome all those attending the 2017 Transforming Health, Driving Policy Conference and extend greetings to those visiting Washington, D.C.

I extend special congratulations to the 2017 inductees selected to the Academy for your outstanding contribution to the healthcare field, and celebrate your accomplishments as you prepare to discuss policy issues that will help drive the transformation of our health system and meet the needs of a changing population.

You have my best wishes for a positive and productive conference.

Sincerely,

Eleanor Holmes Norton
American Academy of Nursing’s Mission

To serve the public and the nursing profession by advancing health policy, practice and science through organizational excellence and effective nursing leadership.
The American Academy of Nursing is engaged in a number of initiatives that directly influence health.

These initiatives are aimed at policy, leadership, science, and practice. Throughout the conference, these initiatives will be highlighted; showing how the Academy’s efforts have significant impact. Our Institute for Nursing Leadership, Raise the Voice EdgeRunners, Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science, Expert Panels, Choosing Wisely, and our advocacy around primary care, care coordination and a focus on the determinants of health are all moving forward our vision of transforming health policy and practice.

This year’s conference explores the contributions that nurses are making to drive policy that will create healthier populations. We will highlight nursing initiatives that are transforming health, leading change and influencing policy. As always, the topics are consistent with our strategic goals and are designed to engage you in a dialogue through interactive panels, open forums, poster sessions, a leadership workshop, and our very popular policy dialogues. We are excited to celebrate our new cohort of fellows, our Living Legends, and our Honorary Fellows.

Your Board of Directors look forward to great conversation and fellowship. The Board has worked hard this year on your behalf and during our business meeting will report on the health of the Academy. I want to especially acknowledge our Academy staff led by CEO, Cheryl Sullivan who ensures that we are meeting our strategic goals. And, a sincere thank you to our Conference Planning Committee led by Linda Scott (Chair), PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN along with her committee members: Kaye Bender, PhD, RN, FAAN (Co-chair); Lola Fehr, MS, RN, CAE, PRP, FAAN (CE Liaison); Dana Alexander, MSN, MBA, RN, FHMSS, FAAN; Carole Jennings, PhD, RN, NAP, FAAN; Mary Hagle, PhD, RN, FAAN; Mary Ellen Roberts, DNP, RN, APN, FAANP, FAAN; Margaret Wilmoth, PhD, MS, RN, FAAN; Thad Wilson, PhD, RN, FAANP, FAAN.

I look forward to seeing you all over the next few days. We will learn together!

Sincerely,

Bobbie Berkowitz

PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN

President, American Academy of Nursing
Welcome to the American Academy of Nursing’s 2017 Annual Policy Conference!

Our colleagues on the conference planning advisory committee join us in greeting you for this celebration of the Academy’s culture of recognition, engagement, and philanthropy. We are excited to welcome 171 new fellows, as we gather to celebrate and learn about nursing contributions to improving health and implementing policy.

This year’s policy conference includes well rounded topics with national leaders. The overall theme is on multiple determinants of health and social justice. Thursday afternoon’s opening keynote and moderated conversation Policy Implications Related to Intergenerational Poverty, Social Justice and Building a Culture of Health will be presented by Ralph Smith, former executive vice president of the Annie E. Casey Foundation. Additional plenary sessions throughout the conference will focus on Social Determinants of Health and Equity: Impact of Racism and Institutional Bias; Social Justice, Ethics and Workforce Issues; The Influence of Nursing on Social Justice; and Navigating Troubled Waters to Ensure Social Justice and Health Equity.

This year’s Policy Dialogues once again address high priority topics identified with input from Expert Panels. The topics for this year’s policy dialogues are:

• Cost, Quality, and Access: Impact on the Quadruple Aim
• Intersectional Perspectives on Social Justice and Health Equity Across the Lifespan
• Political Interference in Sexual & Reproductive Health Practice, Education and Research: Policy, Partnerships, and Activism
• Advancing Population Health in a Complex World: Climate Change and Environmental Risk Reduction
• Advocating for Vulnerable Children and Youth within a Challenged Healthcare System
• Policy on Precision Health: Addressing the Intersections Between Omics, Informatics and Bioethics

Thursday Evening, we honor our esteemed Living Legends - Nancy Fugate Woods, PhD, RN, FAAN; Carolyn Williams, PhD, RN, FAAN; Connie Yarbro, MS, RN, FAAN; Elaine Larson, PhD, RN, FAAN; and Linda Cronenwett, PhD, RN, FAAN - for their extraordinary contributions to nursing and healthcare. Saturday, the Academy inducts and welcomes a stellar class of new fellows into our community of excellence.

We invite and look forward to your candid feedback about your experience at the 2017 American Academy of Nursing Health Policy Conference.

Warm Regards,

Linda D. Scott

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

Welcome to the American Academy of Nursing’s 44th annual meeting and national policy conference.

We are focusing on Transforming Health, Driving Policy as we together improve the quality of life for individuals and families and build healthy communities. Your attendance is testament to your dedication to influencing health policy by the dissemination of nursing’s contribution to improved health outcomes.

This year’s conference addresses social determinants of health and equity as we shine a spotlight on the influence of nursing on social justice. The plenary sessions emphasize the recognition of the extraordinary capacity of this profession and organization to address critical issues of bias to the achievement of health equity; the impact of quality care and cultural diversity to contemporary workforce issues; and the importance of an ethical climate. The collective talent of our fellows can impact the generation and implementation of policy strategies to improve the health of the public.

For the sixth year, six Policy Dialogues utilize fellows’ expertise to articulate innovative solutions to some of the toughest health challenges facing our nation, states, and local communities. You are invited to participate fully in these Dialogues to help us craft policy responses whether you are a member of an expert panel or not. Extraordinary nurse leaders demonstrate the power of collaboration to enable nurses to lead change to promote health.

We thank you for your active involvement in advancing the voice of the Academy at the national, state, and local levels. On behalf of the Academy staff, we salute the planners, speakers, sponsors, volunteers, and attendees who make this policy conference inspiring and successful. We want you to celebrate the Academy’s new fellows, engage in the conference policy sessions, and take time to network with colleagues.

Warm regards,

Cheryl G. Sullivan
MSES
Chief Executive Officer
LEARNING OUTCOMES
The participants will use conference information and strategies to influence policy and improve healthcare for all populations.

PURPOSE
The participants will be able to identify ways nurses are transforming health and building a better care-delivery system.

CONTACT HOURS
- Participants may earn a total of 12 contact hours for speaker, panelist, and poster sessions.
- Contact hours will be awarded separately for each component.
- Successful completion for obtaining contact hours for presentations requires attendance for full presentations.
- Successful completion for obtaining contact hours for viewing posters requires attending full 30 minute segments; 0.5 contact hours will be awarded for each segment attended.
- Contact hours are awarded by the American Academy of Nursing upon completion of an evaluation form. A link to the form will be provided following the event.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST
No commercial products are discussed in this program, therefore there are no conflicts of interest among planners or presenters.

The American Academy of Nursing is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation.

Opening Keynote: Policy Implications Related to Intergenerational Poverty, Social Justice, and Building a Culture of Health

RALPH SMITH
JD

Ralph Smith is Managing Director of the Campaign for Grade-Level Reading (GLR), an initiative to mobilize communities to third-grade reading proficiency for children from low-income families. The GLR network now includes more than 300 Campaign communities in 42 states. Smith has served on the boards of the Council of Foundations, the Foundation Center, Venture Philanthropy Partners, and the Wells Fargo Regional Foundation. Recently, he retired as Senior Vice President of the Annie E. Casey Foundation and also served as a Cabinet Officer for the School District of Philadelphia (1983–90, 1994–95). Previously, Smith taught Corporations and Securities Law and Education Law and Policy as a member of the Law Faculty at the University of Pennsylvania, during which time he also served as a senior advisor to Philadelphia’s mayor (1990–94). Smith led efforts to design and implement the school district’s landmark voluntary desegregation plan, negotiate some of the nation’s first education reform-driven teacher contracts, and develop Children Achieving, a district-wide blueprint supported by the Annenberg Challenge. Smith has served on the boards of Leapfrog, Inc., and Nobel Learning Communities, Inc.

Dr. Karen Cox started her healthcare career as a licensed practical nurse. Subsequent degrees include an Associate Degree in Nursing from Excelsior College, a BSN from the University of Kansas, an MSN and PhD from the University of Missouri–Kansas City.

Dr. Cox was elected to a two-year term as President-Elect of the American Academy of Nursing, followed by a two-year term as President of the organization (2015-2019). Previously, she was elected to the American Hospital Association, Section on Maternal and Child Health Governing Council, and appointed to the Children’s Hospital Association, Child Health Committee.

Dr. Cox was named a Fellow in the Robert Wood Johnson Executive Nurse Fellowship Program (1999-2002). She is also a Fellow in the American College of Health Care Executives. She was appointed to a term on the National Advisory Council on Nurse Education and Practice, U.S. Health and Human Services. She served as board chair of the National Initiative for Children’s Health Quality. Dr. Cox served as board member and chair of the Health Care Foundation of Greater Kansas City board of directors, a $400 million foundation dedicated to eliminating barriers and promote quality health for the uninsured and underinsured in the Kansas City area. She is a member of the UMKC Board of Trustees.

Dr. Cox has contributed articles to publications including Modern Healthcare, American Journal of Nursing, Nursing Economics, Seminars for Nurse Managers, Journal of Nursing Administration, Nursing Leadership Forum, Nursing Administration Quarterly and Journal of Public Health Nursing.

Interactive Plenary Panel: Social Determinants of Health and Equity: Impact of Racism and Institutional Bias

LT. GEN. (RET.) PATRICIA HOROHO
RN, MSN, MS, FAAN, AONE

Patricia Horoho currently serves as the CEO for Optum’s Military, Veterans, and Federal Government group. Prior to joining Optum, Patty served on the Accenture Federal Services team as the Client Account Lead and Managing Director for Military Health.

In December 2015, Lt. Gen. Patricia D. Horoho completed her four-year tour of duty as commander of the U.S. Army’s Medical Command and 43rd Army Surgeon General. Patty was the first female and nurse in the Department of Defense’s 239 year history to hold these posts.

As a soldier, she served for 33 years and at every level of leadership within Army Medicine, including Surgeon General and Army Medical Command Commanding General; Special Assistant to the Commander, International Security Assistance Force Joint Command, Afghanistan; Deputy Surgeon General; Chief of the Army Nurse Corps; Western Regional Medical Command; Commander, Madigan Army; and, Commander, Walter Reed Health Care System.

LT. GEN. (RET.) Horoho is a native of Fayetteville, North Carolina. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1982. She has since been recognized by UNC as a distinguished graduate in 2015 and awarded a Doctorate of Law degree in 2017. She received her Master of Science degree as a clinical trauma nurse specialist from the University of Pittsburgh in 1992. The University of Pittsburgh recognized her as a legacy laureate and as a Distinguished Alumna and Fellow and awarded her the Doctor of Public Service in Nursing and the distinguished School of Nursing Alumna award. She holds five honorary doctorates.

LT. GEN. (RET.) Horoho is a Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing and served as a Distinguished Professor at the Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences Graduate School of Nursing. Patty also holds a Master of Science degree in National Resource Strategy from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

Her military awards and citations include The Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, France’s National Order of Legion of Honor, Chevalier (Knight), Japan’s Defense Cooperation Award Second Class, and the President’s Lifetime Achievement award.

Dr. Lacey has served as Professor and Chair, Department of Nursing at Prince Georges Community College; as Executive Director, Children’s National Medical Center, School Health Program; and as Chair, Department of Nursing, Bowie State University and has been adjunct Assistant Professor on the faculties of John Hopkins School of Nursing and the School of Nursing at University of Virginia at Charlottesville. She has served as Distinguished Scholar Lecturer at James Madison University in Virginia and at Regis College, Westin, MA.

Dr. Lacey is a much sought-after speaker for various professional and civic organizations throughout the United States, Africa, China, South Korea, Mexico, and the Dominon Republic. She has addressed the Congressional Black Caucus Brain Trust Forum. Her work was presented and documented in local and national radio and television programs and publications. She was advisor to President Clinton’s Task Force on Health Care Reform and a member of Clinton/Gore Transition Team Task Force on Health Care Delivery. Her publications convey the message that she is a woman of compassion and commitment, caring for students as well as the homeless.

As a result of her professional and civic activities, she received numerous citations and awards. Among her prestigious professional honors was induction as a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing in 1990, the Georgetown University Distinguished Alumni Award, the ANA Pearl McIver Public Health Nurse Award, the Howard University Hospital Legacy of Leadership Award, and Western Michigan University Greek System Award as Professor of the Year, and most recently the National Black Nurses Association inducted Dr. Lacey as a Fellow into the Institute of Excellence and lifetime achievements. She is an inductee to House of Omega and to Phi Kappa Phi, where she served as President-Elect and President of the Western Michigan University Chapter. She is a member of the National Black Nurses Association, Sigma Theta Tau International Nurses Society, and Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. Sorority. Upon retirement from Western Michigan University, two generous donors awarded $1.5 million to establish the Dr. Bernardine M. Lacey Endowed Chair in Community Health Nursing. Dr. Lacey earned her diploma in Nursing from the Gilfoy School of Nursing, Mississippi Baptist Hospital; a BSN from Georgetown University; an MA from Howard University; and Doctor of Education from Teachers College, Columbia University.

Bernardine Lacey’s reputation transcends from helping the disenfranchised child and the homeless man to the safety and health of children in public schools, especially in the DC area. Dr. Lacey advanced from staff nurse to administrative supervisor at Howard University/ Freemen’s Hospital, to founding Dean and Professor, School of Nursing Western Michigan University.

While at Howard University, Dr. Lacey was the catalyst behind Howard University College of Nursing’s movement to include care of the underserved in the curriculum, being awarded a $1.4 million grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation for the development of a nurse-managed respite center for homeless men, to which she was appointed Project Director.

Dr. Lacey is a much sought-after speaker for various professional and civic organizations throughout the United States, Africa, China, South Korea, Mexico, and the Dominon Republic. She has addressed the Congressional Black Caucus Brain Trust Forum. Her work was presented and documented in local and national radio and television programs and publications. Dr. Lacey earned her diploma in Nursing from the Gilfoy School of Nursing, Mississippi Baptist Hospital; a BSN from Georgetown University; an MA from Howard University; and Doctor of Education from Teachers College, Columbia University.
Antonia M. Villarruel is the Margaret Bond Simon Dean of Nursing at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing and Director of the School’s WHO Collaborating Center for Nursing and Midwifery Leadership. Dr. Villarruel also holds an appointment as Senior Fellow at the Leonard Davis Institute of Health Economics, University of Pennsylvania. From 2009 through June 2014, she served as Professor, Nola J. Pender Collegiate Chair, and Associate Dean for Research and Global Affairs at The University of Michigan School of Nursing.

As a bilingual and bicultural nurse researcher, Dr. Villarruel has extensive research and practice experience with diverse Latino and Mexican populations and communities as well as health promotion and health disparities research and practice both here and abroad. She incorporates a community-based participatory approach to her research. Specifically, her research focuses on the development and testing of interventions to reduce sexual risk behaviors among Mexican and Latino youth. She has been the PI and Co-PI of over 8 randomized clinical trials concerned with reducing sexual and other risk behaviors. As part of this program of research, she developed an efficacious program to reduce sexual risk behavior among Latino youth—entitled Cuídate!—which was disseminated nationally.

In addition to her research, Dr. Villarruel has assumed leadership in many national and local organizations. She currently chairs the IOM Roundtable on the Promotion of Health Equity and the Elimination of Health Disparities. She also co-chairs the Strategic Advisory Council of the AARP/RWJ Center for Health Policy Future of Nursing Campaign for Action. Most recently, Dr. Villarruel was a member of the National Academy of Medicine Committee on Educating Health Professionals to Address the Social Determinants of Health, resulting in the report “A Framework for Educating Health Professionals to Address the Social Determinants of Health” (2016).

She has received numerous honors and awards: membership in the Institute of Medicine and selection as a Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing; elected member of the John Morgan Society; 2015 International Nurse Researcher Hall of Fame, Sigma Theta Tau International; and The Edge Runner Award, American Academy of Nursing. Villarruel earned her BSN from Nazareth College, an MSN from the University of Pennsylvania, and her PhD in nursing from Wayne State University. She is a registered nurse in both Michigan and Pennsylvania.

One of Jana Lauderdale’s key contributions in leadership is in the area of research with indigenous populations. In this context, she ensures respect and tribal traditions remain constant to benefit both the tribe and the researcher. The second key contribution is her leadership role as an advocate to decrease health disparities in American Indian (AI) health. Jana’s effective and sustained contributions to decreasing health disparities among American Indians includes a program of community-based participatory research that informs research models and health related tools for working with native populations as well as conceptual scholarship disseminated in national and international publications.

Dr. Lauderdale’s past work as a member of the Transcultural Nursing Society’s representative to the American Academy of Nursing’s Expert Panel on Global Nursing and Health, culminated in the creation of the “Guidelines for Practice with Culturally Competent Nursing Care”. This product resulted in publications with international significance with data from 34 countries. The guidelines are applicable to practicing nurses throughout the world and provide a template to guide clinical practice, research, education and administration as part of a global effort to reduce health care inequities.

The American Academy of Nursing and the International Congress of Nursing in Geneva, Switzerland have both endorsed the Guidelines.

A seminal contribution to nursing science is her research studying the impact of culture on health behaviors and health disparities research. Dr. Lauderdale’s community-based participatory research initiatives with academic and community teams helps to build trust, respect, and adds transparency to a process, which for many indigenous tribes helps to break down “old scars” left by past, uninformed researchers in the way indigenous research practices must be carried out. Past research includes barriers and successes to tobacco cessation among select Plains Indian tribes; breast health in Comanche women, and barriers to HPV vaccination by AI youth and caregivers in Comanche Nation and the Porch Creek Band of Indians. She also understands the significance of culturally tailored research approaches. For example, Native navigation across the cancer continuum and talking circles for breast health are two such projects that used traditional native communication approaches in data collection. Dr. Lauderdale’s current project is entitled, “HPV vaccine barriers: Perceptions of Hispanic and African American childbearing women”. Her research findings are improving outcomes and strengthening evidence-based practice for the benefit of AI communities.

Dr. Lauderdale consults on numerous university grants that focus on developing strategies to increase minority nurses in the workforce and to assist faculty in strengthening cultural competency in their curriculum and classroom settings. Her student mentoring is inclusive, but specifically targets minority-nursing students and includes both academic and professional mentoring. These initiatives have led to an increased understanding of how students from various diverse backgrounds study, learn and what leads to their success in nursing academic programs. Additionally, her educational scholarship has served to broaden the worldview for interdisciplinary faculty of the importance of incorporating diversity and inclusion concepts into the allied health curriculums.

Interactive Plenary Panel: Social Justice, Ethics and Workforce Issues

LINDA BURNES BOLTON
DRPH, RN, FAAN

Linda Burnes Bolton is Vice President for Nursing, Chief Nursing Officer, and Director of Nursing Research at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles. Her research, teaching, and clinical expertise include improving nursing and patient care outcomes, organization performance, quality care, and cultural diversity within the health professions. She is co-investigator of the regional Collaborative Alliance for Nursing Outcomes research team. Dr. Burnes Bolton is a past president of the American Organization of Nurse Executives, American Academy of Nursing, and the National Black Nurses Association. She has provided leadership for several state and national programs, including service as chair of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation National Advisory Committee for Transforming Care at the Bedside, Veteran Affairs Commission on Nursing, and vice chair of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Initiative on the Future of Nursing at the Institute of Medicine. She is a trustee at Case Western Reserve University and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. She was named one of the top 25 women in health care in 2011 by Modern Healthcare magazine. She received Lifetime Achievement awards from the National Black Nurses Association and the American Organization of Nurse Executives.

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6

Interactive Plenary Panel: Social Justice, Ethics and Workforce Issues

She was named a Living Legend in 2016 by the American Academy of Nursing. Dr. Burnes is the inaugural chair holder of the James R. Klinenberg, MD and Lynne Klinenberg-Linkin Chair in Nursing. The University of New York awarded her a Doctorate of Science degree in 2015.

Dr. Burnes Bolton received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Arizona State University (ASU). She completed her Master of Science in Nursing, Master in Public Health, and Doctorate in Public Health from University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA).

CYNDY HYLTON RUSHTON
PHD, RN, FAAN

Cynda Hylton Rushton is the Anne and George L. Bunting Professor of Clinical Ethics in the Johns Hopkins Berman Institute of Bioethics and the School of Nursing, with a joint appointment in the School of Medicine’s Department of Pediatrics. A founding member of the Berman Institute of Bioethics, Dr. Rushton co-chairs the Johns Hopkins Hospital’s Ethics Committee and Consultation Service. An international leader in nursing ethics, Dr. Rushton in 2014 co-led the first National Nursing Ethics Summit, convened by the Johns Hopkins Berman Institute of Bioethics and School of Nursing. The Summit, supported by strategic partners from nine national nursing organizations and seven collaborating organizations, developed a Blueprint for 21st Century Nursing Ethics. Her current scholarship in clinical ethics focuses on the moral suffering of clinicians, the development of moral resilience, and designing a culture of ethical practice. She is currently implementing and evaluating the Mindful Ethical Practice and Resilience Academy (MEPRA) to cultivate moral resilience in nurses. Dr. Rushton is the recipient of three post-doctoral fellowships: a Robert Wood Johnson Nurse Executive Fellowship (2006–2009); a Kornfeld Fellowship in end-of-life, ethics, and palliative care (2000); and a Mind and Life Institute Fellowship in Contemplative Science (2013–2014). She has served on the Institute of Medicine’s Committee on increasing rates of organ donation and was a consultant to its project When Children Die. She was also appointed the first chair of the Maryland State Council on Quality Care at the End-of-Life, has been recognized twice as one of Maryland’s Top 100 Women, and is an American Academy of Nursing “Edge Runner.” She is a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing and a Hastings’ Center Fellow.
Connie M. Ulrich is the Lillian S. Brunner Chair in Medical and Surgical Nursing and a Professor of Bioethics and Nursing at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, with a secondary appointment in the Perelman School of Medicine, Department of Medical Ethics and Health Policy.

Dr. Ulrich was trained in bioethics at the National Institutes of Health in the Department of Bioethics under Drs. Christine Grady and Marion Danis. Her national and international bioethics program of research has focused on advancing empirical bioethics in both clinical practice and research using innovative mixed methodology approaches. These studies include a focus on the day-to-day ethical issues, stress, and ethics preparedness of healthcare providers as well as concerns related to informed consent and the benefits and burdens associated with participation in cancer clinical trials. She is currently funded by the National Cancer Institute (RO1CA196131-01A1) to examine factors important in clinical trial participation, including differences in how patient-participants view the informed consent process in relationship to retention and how they make decisions related to their clinical trial, including advance care planning. She has also received funding from other federal and state agencies, including the Fogarty International Center, the Pennsylvania Tobacco Funds, and the National Postdoctoral Organization, in conjunction with the Office of Research Integrity, to address the responsible conduct of research for faculty and students.

Dr. Ulrich has published in leading medical, nursing, and bioethics peer-review journals and has published a book entitled Everyday Ethics: Ethical Issues and Stress in Nursing Practice. Her most recent book is to be published by Springer Nature with her colleague Dr. Christine Grady and is entitled Moral Distress Among the Professions. Dr. Ulrich also worked with her colleagues Drs. Ann Hamric, Christine Grady, and Nancy Berlinger to publish the first Hastings Center Special Report: “Nurses at the Table: Nursing, Ethics, and Health Policy.” Dr. Ulrich has mentored many undergraduate and graduate students. She has also served as a bioethicist on several DSMBs appointed by the National Institutes of Health and is a fellow in the American Academy of Nursing, past Co-Chair of the Bioethics Expert Panel, and a Salzburg Global Fellow.

G. Rumay Alexander is President-Elect of the National League for Nursing and the Associate Vice Chancellor and Chief Diversity Officer at The University of North Carolina (UNC) at Chapel Hill. She is also a professor at the university’s School of Nursing. She has a compelling record of leadership and advocacy for diversity and inclusive excellence in academia, in the workplace, in national nursing professional organizations, and in her consultant activities. Her passion centers on intentional efforts to resource the proper understanding and judicious application of equity and multicultural concepts for students, faculty, personnel, and the patients served by UNC graduates. This includes the facilitation of system-wide efforts for giving respect to the many dimensions of human difference as well as the lived experience of difference.

Dr. Alexander is known for helping organizations succeed in their missions. High impact initiatives, numerous consultations and presentations nationally and internationally, and her professional organization work devoted to generational equity bear witness to her game-changing works. She has guided individuals in academic, corporate, healthcare, and religious organizations to explore marginalizing processes, multiple perspectives, and the vicissitudes of lived experiences of difference and has authored numerous articles, books, and book chapters. Her passion for equity of opportunity and penchant for holding courageous dialogues to steward and promote human flourishing has led to appointments on landmark healthcare initiatives, including the Commission of Workforce for Hospitals and Health Systems of the American Hospital Association and the National Quality Forum’s steering committee for the first national voluntary consensus standards for nursing-sensitive care. She is a two-term member on the Board of Governors of the National League for Nursing and the American Organization of Nurse Executives. In 2010 she was the American Organization of Nurse Executive’s Prism Award recipient for workforce diversity leadership, and in 2013 the National Student Nurses’ Association bestowed her with their most prestigious award of Honorary Membership. In addition, she received the Southern Regional Education Board’s M. Elizabeth Carnegie Award in 2013.

Dr. Alexander holds a baccalaureate degree in nursing from the University of Tennessee Knoxville, a master’s degree in nursing from Vanderbilt University, and a doctor of education degree from Tennessee State University.
Julie A. Fairman is the Nightingale Professor in Honor of Nursing Veterans at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing and is Chair of the Biobehavioral Health Sciences Department. Her research focuses on 20th-century healthcare issues, in particular, the history of APRNs and health policy as it relates to competition, scope of practice, and service models. She has published four books (two as co-editor), and her work has been published in the NEJM, the Lancet, and Health Matrix. Dr. Fairman is Co-Director of the RWJF Future of Nursing Scholars program and is Director Emeritus of the Barbara Bates Center for the Study of the History of Nursing. She is an AAN and Philadelphia College of Physicians Board member and serves on the Advisory Board of Lehigh Valley Health Network’s Division of Education. Dr. Fairman served as the 2009 IOM/AAN/ANF Scholar in Residence and worked on the Future of Nursing report.

MarySue V. Heilemann is an Associate Professor at the UCLA School of Nursing and an Associate Director of the National Clinical Scholars Program at UCLA. With expertise in media-based interventions, methodologically rigorous qualitative research, and community mental health, Dr. Heilemann is pioneering a new model for nursing science that features Transmedia (storytelling over multiple digital platforms). Her aim is to showcase nurses as part of dynamic, interactive media-based health interventions that are needed, compelling, and useful to patients, families, and communities as well as nurses themselves. Fueled by insight from participants as partners and drawing on previous qualitative and quantitative research with Latina adults in the United States, Dr. Heilemann integrates issues of motivation, resilience, intergenerational cultural expectations, social justice, and gender concerns in her work. She aims to tailor content to enhance socio-cultural relevancy and therapeutic value. Using Transmedia, she has collaborated with Hollywood script writers and Latino actors to create relatable stories for research that combine everyday lived experiences with the challenges of recognizing, reducing, and managing symptoms of depression and anxiety among second generation, English-speaking Latinas. The accessibility of these interventions via the internet through smart phones, tablets, or computers expands the promise of Transmedia for reaching hundreds of thousands of viewers.

With a focus on Latinas’ perceptions of nurses, Dr. Heilemann became keenly aware of popular media portrayals of nurses. This included misrepresentations that obscure the actual work of clinical nurses, often providing the public with inaccurate views of nursing. While digging into the reasons behind persistent patterns of negative media portrayals, Dr. Heilemann expanded her scholarship and sought to deepen the dialogue related to depictions of nurses on television, film, and social media. By directly inviting media makers and scholars to the table, she created national symposia at UCLA in 2011 and 2012 focused on Media Representations of Nurses. This brought together over 300 filmmakers, nurses, administrators, producers, journalists, screen writers, directors, actors, activists, faculty, and students. The knowledge generated at the symposia included explorations of how media images of nursing have evolved historically. This has implications for how perceptions impact the ability and inclination of stakeholders today to recognize nurses as advanced clinicians and leaders, to support salaries that are properly aligned with nurses’ contributions, to provide access to proper educational resources, and to allow nurses equal participation in policy development. Dr. Heilemann served as Guest Editor for a 2012 special volume of Nursing Outlook that featured original scholarship created for the 2011 symposium. In June 2015, she gave the National Institute of Nursing Research Director’s Lecture entitled “From the Silver Screen to the Web: Media Portrayals of Nursing.” She frequently speaks and consults on the topic and is currently engaged in a collaboration with media researchers to further investigate the impact of media portrayals of nurses.
THE HONORABLE SHIRLEY NATHAN-PULLIAM
RN

Senator Nathan-Pulliam is currently serving her first term in the Maryland State Senate representing District 44. She previously represented District 10 as a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from 1994-2015. She is the first Caribbean-born person and first Afro-Caribbean American registered nurse elected to the Maryland General Assembly. Senator Nathan-Pulliam worked for many years as a quality assurance coordinator, head nurse, and team leader at hospitals in Baltimore and currently owns and operates two health care companies that provide personal care services to clients in their homes and adult medical daycare services for the elderly and disabled.

She has been a leading advocate for improved health care and health disparities reduction in Maryland. Senator Nathan-Pulliam has sponsored hundreds of bills, including legislation creating the Office of Minority Health and Health Disparities within the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. She currently serves on several committees, including the Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs Committee, Maryland Medicaid Advisory Committee, the Joint Committee on Children, Youth, and Families The Senator is a member of the Legislative Black Caucus of Maryland, and the Women Legislators of Maryland.

Senator Nathan-Pulliam holds an AA from Baltimore City Community College, a BSN from the University of Maryland, and a Masters in Administrative Science from The Johns Hopkins University, Carey Business School. Among her numerous awards and honors is the naming of the Shirley Nathan-Pulliam Health Equity Lecture Series by the University of Maryland School of Public Health Center for Health Equity and the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. Additionally, Sen. Nathan-Pulliam has been named one of Maryland’s Top 100 Woman by The Daily Record three times, which led to her induction into the Circle of Excellence. Her 2014 interview with The Historymakers was recently made a part of the collection of the Library of Congress.

Diana J. Mason is the Senior Policy Service Professor and Co-Director of a new Center for Health Policy and Media Engagement at the George Washington University School of Nursing. She is Professor Emerita at Hunter College, City University of New York, where she was the inaugural Rudin Professor of Nursing and co-founder and Co-Director of the Center for Health, Media, and Policy until 2016. Dr. Mason is the immediate past President of the American Academy of Nursing, former editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Nursing, and co-producer and moderator of a weekly radio program on health care issues since 1985. She is the lead editor of the award-winning book Policy and Politics in Nursing and Health Care, now in its seventh edition, and the author of over 200 publications. Her scholarship focuses on health policy and what can be learned from nurse-designed models of care. Dr. Mason is the Co-Principal Investigator for a study funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to explore how nurses address building a culture of health in their innovative models of care; the study is a collaboration between the American Academy of Nursing and the RAND Corporation. She is a member of the board of directors for the Primary Care Development Corporation and Public Health Solutions and a member of the National Advisory Board for Kaiser Health News. She holds two honorary doctorates and has earned numerous awards for her teaching, policy leadership, publications, and journalism.
SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES  |  SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7
Closing Keynote: Navigating Troubled Waters to Ensure Social Justice and Health Equity

SHEILA P. BURKE
RN, MPA, FAAN

Sheila P. Burke is Adjunct Lecturer in Public Policy at Harvard Kennedy School’s Malcolm Wiener Center for Social Policy. She served as a lecturer and Executive Dean of the school from 1996–2000. Previously she had been Chief of Staff to former senate Majority Leader Bob Dole (1985–1996), a professional staff member of the Senate Committee on Finance (1979–1982), and Deputy Staff Director of that committee (1982–1985).

From 2000–2007 she served as Undersecretary and then Deputy Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. She is a member of the National Academy of Medicine, serving on its National Council, and a fellow of the National Academy of Public Administration and the American Academy of Nursing. She serves on the adjunct faculty at Georgetown University and is a Distinguished Visitor at the O’Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law, Georgetown Law Center. She serves on several boards, including the Kaiser Commission on the Future of Medicaid and the Uninsured, Ascension Health Care, the Commonwealth Fund, Abt Associates, Board of Regents of the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences, and Board of Directors of Chubb Insurance. She served as a member of the Medicare Payment Advisory Commission (MedPac), 2000–2007, and the Kaiser Family Foundation, 1999–2008, where she served as Chair of the Board.

Burke, who also serves as a Senior Public Policy Advisor and Chair of the Government and Public Policy practice at Baker Donelson Caldwell & Berkowitz, holds a Bachelor of Science from the University of San Francisco in addition to her Masters in Public Administration from Harvard University.

CLOSING KEYNOTE MODERATOR:
ANGELA BARRON MCBRIDE
PHD, RN, FAAN

Angela Barron McBride is Distinguished Professor and University Dean Emeritus at Indiana University School of Nursing. She received her bachelor’s degree in nursing from Georgetown University, her master’s degree in psychiatric-mental health nursing from Yale University, and her PhD in developmental psychology from Purdue University. She is known for her contributions to women’s health, particularly the psychology of parenthood, and to psychiatric nursing. Her first book, The Growth and Development of Mothers, was recognized as one of the best books of 1973 by both The New York Times and the American Journal of Nursing. She went on to author Living with Contradictions: A Married Feminist (1976) and How to Enjoy A Good Life with Your Teenager (1987), which was a selection of Psychotherapy Book Review. Her book Psychiatric-Mental Health Nursing: Integrating the Behavioral and Biological Sciences (co-edited with Joan K. Austin) earned a 1996 Book-of-the-Year Award from the American Journal of Nursing. In recent years, she has focused her scholarly attention on leadership development—how to orchestrate a career, the nursing leadership demanded by IOM’s quality reports, and how the informatics revolution is changing practice. In 2011, Springer published her latest book, entitled The Growth and Development of Nurse Leaders, which won the PROSE Award that year for the category “Nursing and Allied Health” (PROSE Awards are the premier awards for outstanding professional and scholarly publishing in the United States).

Her own leadership experience includes serving as president of Sigma Theta Tau International (1987–89) during the building of the International Center for Nursing Scholarship in Indianapolis and as president of the American Academy of Nursing (1993–95). She has served on various statewide and national policy-shaping boards, which include the National Advisory Mental Health Council of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration (1987–91); NIH’s Office of Research on Women’s Health (1997–2001); and Indiana University Health (2004–16). Passing on her leadership savvy, she spent 15 years designing the annual leadership conference sponsored by the National Hartford Center of Gerontological Nursing Excellence, has chaired the national advisory committee for the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation’s Nurse Faculty Scholars Program, and was the founding chair of the national advisory council for the American Academy of Nursing’s Institute for Nursing Leadership.

For her contributions, she has been honored with various professional awards—for example, the “Outstanding Contributions to Nursing and Health Psychology” award of the American Psychological Association’s Division on Health Psychology, Sigma Theta Tau International’s Melanie Dreher Award for her abilities as a dean, the Ross Products Pioneering Spirit Award of the American Association of Critical-Care Nurses, the Melva Jo Hendrix Award for Leadership of the International Society for Psychiatric Nurses, and the National League for Nursing’s President’s Award—and seven honorary doctorates, elected to the National Academy of Medicine, and designated as a Living Legend by the American Academy of Medicine.

ADMISSION TO SESSIONS
Official name badges will be required for admission to all Academy sessions. All Policy conference attendees receive a name badge with their registration materials. Name badges should be worn at all times inside the hotel, as badges will be used to control access to sessions and activities. Attendees are cautioned against wearing their name badges outside the hotel, as badges draw unwanted attention to your status as visitors to the Washington, DC area.

Conference App
Download the iPhone, Pad or Android App at: https://aan2017.quickmobile.mobi or by searching American Academy of Nursing in the App Store or Google Play. Need help? Come visit us at the App Help desk in the Conference Lounge located in Marquis Salon 15 on Meeting Level 2 or email us at hello@lcwco.com.
ADMISSION BY TICKETS

Admission into the Living Legends Ceremony & Dinner and the Induction Ceremony & Soiree are included in the price of a full conference registration. The Thursday and Friday only registration fee includes admission to the Living Legends Ceremony & Dinner, and the Friday and Saturday only registration fee includes admission to the Induction Ceremony & Soiree. Your registration packet will contain all tickets, including tickets purchased for the Leadership Workshop and Luncheon, boxed lunches, or additional ceremony tickets purchased for guests. If you believe you are missing a ticket, please check with the registration desk. Tickets will be collected at the door by ushers.

ATTIRE

Appropriate dress for the policy conference is business casual. A jacket or sweater is recommended as meeting room temperatures may vary. Dress for the Living Legends Ceremony & Dinner is formal business attire (suits and ties for men, business-like dress for women). Dress for the Induction Ceremony & Soiree is cocktail-to-formal, with black tie optional.

CELL PHONE PROTOCOL

Please ensure that cell phones are silenced during all sessions.

Continuing Education

Continuing Nursing Education Contact hours must be purchased for $50.00 to receive credit for attendance at this year’s meeting. Contact hours will be awarded separately for each component. Successful completion for obtaining contact hours for presentations requires attendance at complete sessions. Successful completion for obtaining contact hours for viewing e-posters requires attending full 30-minute segments; 0.5 contact hours will be awarded for each segment attended. Attendees can earn a total of 12 hours by attending all plenary sessions and e-poster sessions and by completing the online evaluation form after the meeting.

Floral Orders

Flowers on Fourteenth is the preferred florist of the Academy. Please contact them directly at (202) 667-7888 with any questions regarding pre-ordered flower arrangements. Flowers will be distributed by Flowers on Fourteenth for Saturday evening and may be claimed between 4:00 pm and 5:30 pm in Marquis Salon 14. After 5:30 pm, any flowers not claimed will be left unattended with the recipient’s name on a table in Marquis 14. To keep the induction ceremony flowing without disruption, flower arrangements MAY NOT be presented to a new Fellow during their induction. We ask that you please respect this policy.

Emergency and First Aid

The Marriott Marquis Washington is fully prepared to handle emergency requests and first aid. In case of an emergency, pick up any house phone for immediate assistance and contact Academy staff for support. Remember to note all emergency exits throughout the hotel.

Evaluations

The meeting evaluation will be available online at the completion of the conference. Notification will be sent via e-mail to all attendees. Please take the time to complete the evaluation form; your input and comments are essential in planning future Academy Policy Conferences.

E-Poster Sessions

To quote the Academy’s first president, Dr. de Tornyay, “We are a small group charged with setting the course for a large and essential profession.” The effectiveness of the Academy, in part, depends on a healthy Development Fund. The Academy’s Rheba de Tornyay Development Fund is challenging each Fellow to establish their presence in the Academy. The ways in which a Fellow’s presence can be felt includes active participation on an expert panel or committee; sponsorship of a new Fellow, Living Legend, or Honorary Fellow; or donation of a monetary gift that is at a level meaningful to them. When you consider a gift to a new Fellow, please consider a gift to the Rheba de Tornyay Development Fund. You may donate online at www.AANnet.org or on-site at the Academy Shoppes.

GROW YOUR PROGRAMS WITHOUT STRETCHING YOUR RESOURCES

“We have limited financial resources, faculty availability, and clinical placement options, many nursing schools simply cannot meet the growing demand for practice-ready RNs. That’s where we come in.”
Dan Briggs, Founder | Orbis Education

- We are the leading outsourced program manager of nursing degree programs that combine online and experiential learning.
- We create innovative academic-practice partnerships between nursing schools and healthcare systems to produce clinically prepared graduates.
- We have expertise in the full range of nursing programs, from pre-licensure BSN to MSN, NP and DNP.

Remove the barriers to enrollment growth.

IDEAL FOR BUSY NURSES
PACE DETERMINES PRICE
EXPERIENCE HELPS LEARNERS MOVE FASTER

Offer the MSN that moves at the speed of health care.

Busy nurses often don’t have time to earn their Master of Science in Nursing degrees—a gap that can affect your future nursing leadership. Capella’s MSN FlexPath Program makes it easier for your nurses to learn while balancing work and personal life. With FlexPath, there is no pre-set schedule or deadlines, and no exams. Nurses advance by demonstrating their competencies through authentic assessments at their own pace to graduation. Start developing today the nurses who will lead your organization tomorrow with Capella’s MSN FlexPath Program.

Capella’s MSN FlexPath Program
She began her career helping sick children. Today, she’s helping shape the future of pediatric health care.

In her journey from nurse to COO, and now to President of the American Academy of Nursing, Dr. Cox’s belief that all children – regardless of their families’ ability to pay – deserve the best health care possible has never wavered. Her leadership in quality and safety, and her commitment to psychosocial care for the whole family, is changing the way pediatric health care is practiced here and across the country.

Your colleagues at Children’s Mercy are honored to work alongside you every day. Congratulations!

27 million more Americans have health insurance, and the strain on providers has never been greater.

Amid the uncertainty of the American health care landscape, the GW School of Nursing is steering the policy debate toward a focus on patient-centered care from the heart of Washington, D.C. We aim to advance policies that address workforce shortages, gaps in care and the needs of underserved populations.
