Susan E. Stone, DNSc, APRN, CNM, FACNM, FAAN

Susan Stone, DNSc, APRN, CNM, FACNM, FAAN, is president of Frontier Nursing University (FNU), a private, non-profit, non-residential graduate school of nursing. Headquartered in Kentucky, FNU offers community-based, and distance education programs leading to the DNP and MSN degrees and/or post-graduate certificates in advanced practice nursing specialties.

Dr. Stone has transformed FNU from a small certificate program to a graduate school of nursing. The advanced degree programs are delivered through a combination of distance learning, on-campus sessions, and experience in clinical sites around the country. The majority of graduates live and practice in rural and underserved areas. Ninety percent of FNU's 639 graduates in 2017 reside in rural or Health Professional Shortage Areas.

Dr. Stone was inducted into the Academy in 2012.
