American Association of Pharmaceutical Scientists (AAPS) is pleased to announce the launch of bi-weekly online eChalk Talks. These online versions of our in-person workshop “Chalk Talks” will take place on Wednesdays from 11:15-11:45 ET.

eChalk Talks are intended to establish a forum to foster learning, collaboration and discussion on relevant, scientific content to members seeking to enhance their knowledge in a meaningful exchange and to continue their learning and professional development.

eChalk Talks are designed to be a casual conversation intended to bring quick, scientific learning to our colleagues, while also encouraging thoughtful discussion. These bi-weekly online engagements will consist of a 15-minute scientific presentation followed-up with a 15 minutes Q&A session.

The sessions are recorded and archived to the AAPS website so that others can view, share, learn, and discuss.

AAPS will be marketing these sessions to our complete database of members, prospective members, and the AAPS community audience of 85,000.

Requirements

• Title and brief description of presentation (2-3 sentences)
• 4-7 slide PPT presentation
• Presenter’s name, title, contact information, biography and head shot
• Link to your website

For more information and to inquire about leading an eChalk Talk, please contact:

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT TEAM

Erik Burns, EdD, MA, MBA, Director of Corporate Engagement / +1.703.248.4738 / BurnsE@aaps.org

Mary Nugent, Business Development Coordinator, +1.805.490.5024 / nugentm@aaps.org