

The Complete Curb-to-Curb Communication Tool for Techs

XOi Technologies is transforming the way field service professionals do business through innovative smart technology. The easy-to-use app streamlines and improves field work by enabling photo and video documentation, on the job remote training and support, and providing access to an extensive knowledge base of equipment documentation, saved job history, training videos, and more.

“When customers compare us with other providers, the added value of XOi’s Vision will help differentiate our service offering. We believe video and streaming communication with customers will become standard in our industry and we see Vision as an opportunity to adopt technology early and enhance our customer experience now.”

- TD Industries

“XOi was one of the fastest technology implementations processes I have overseen in my career. It was so fast because the technicians really see the value in it. Residentially, it is essential to our customers now. Commercially, our techs could not go back to a world where they did not use XOi at every site.”

- Haller Enterprises

35% increase
in the number of service requests completed

24% increase
in the average revenue value of each service request

40% decrease
in the number of second truck rolls

We’d love to speak to your MIX group.

Contact info@xoi.io to schedule a presentation or personalized webinar.