

Fill Me In

Active circle name-game with lots of fun variations.

How To Play

- 1. Form a large circle, with ample space between people.
- 2. One person steps into the circle, pointing to and calling the name of another person.
- 3. This named-person will then immediately swap positions with the person who called their name.
- 4. Now, in the centre of the circle, this recently named-person calls the name of another person.
- 5. This process of naming and swapping positions repeats itself over and over.
- 6. After a minute or two, introduce two or more people who can point and announce the name of others in the circle.

Variations

- Alternative Moves: Invite everyone to move briskly, or to hop, jump, walk sideways, etc.
- Greetings 1: Invite the person who has called out a name, to introduce themselves by name to the other, perhaps shake hands as they trade places before this newly-name person repeats the process.
- Greetings 2: As the movement of people in the centre of the circle gains momentum, invite people to shake the hand and greet (using the name of) someone as they pass them in the middle of the circle.
- If your group does not have a high level of nameknowingness, consider presenting Who? first.

Leadership Tips, Video Tutorials & More

https://www.playmeo.com/activities/ice-breakers-get-to-know-you-games/fill-me-in/

Benefits

- Simple
- Highly interactive
- Non-threatening
- Active
- No props

Time 5 - 10 min

People Small (8-15 ppl)

© playmeo – the largest online database of interactive group games & activities in the world www.playmeo.com