

Teaching Journalism & Mass Communication

A journal published by the AEJMC Small
Programs Interest Group

Vol. 15, no. 2 (2025) <https://community.aejmc.org/smallprogramsinterestgroup/publications/journals>

i Editor's Note Michael Longinow

RESEARCH ARTICLES:

- 1 Developing an Anti-Dehumanization Pedagogy
Anyun Chatterjee and David T.Z. Mindich
- 11 GenAI in Mass Communication Education: Interviews with Instructors
Azhar Iqbal, Shanawer Rafique, Blessing Tapiwa Jona, and Hyunjin Seo
- 22 Professional Extension of the Classroom: Local News Editors' Perspectives on News-Academic Partnerships Lara Salahi and Christina C. Smith
- 31 Beyond the classroom: How do students evaluate political information after information literacy course? Olushola Aromona

TEACHING ARTICLES:

- 42 Using Audio Quizzes to Assess Student Learning in an Online Asynchronous Summer Podcasting Course Chad Whittle
- 45 Environmental Journalism Training from the Gobi to the Grand Coulee: Reflections on Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL) in Mongolian and U.S. classrooms
Derek Moscato, Bayarmaa Boldbaatar, and Ariunzaya Norovsuren
- 49 Critique through Exploration: Critical AI Studies Michael Hoye
- 53 Building Industry-Ready Journalists: A Practical Approach to Design and Storytelling Ecaterina Stepaniuc
- 57 From the Streets to the Syllabus: Teaching Journalism Framing Through Protest Coverage Mamunor Rashid
- 61 Making Communication Theory Tangible Through Public Engagement Projects
Norzita Yunus
- 65 Close the Gap: Preparing journalism students in Gen AI skills for the industry
Pallavi Guha

- 70 Preparing Students for the Marketplace and Connections to the AI Revolution
Rachel Kaplan
- 73 Editing rules will be memed: Using memes to support writing practice in journalism courses Volha Kananovich

BOOK REVIEWS:

- 77 Teaching Crisis with Clarity: How Effective Crisis Communication Bridges Theory and Practice Cessna Winslow
- 79 Risks of Unconditional Belief in Students' Stories Gil Carter and Cheryl Chambers