Manager of Annual Giving

For 58 years, the Regina Humane Society (RHS) has passionately encouraged responsible pet ownership and humane policies, legislation and progressive animal welfare programs. We provide healthy and safe facilities to over 4,000 homeless, lost and abused animals annually and offer compassionate, professional and caring adoption, education and outreach programs as well as animal protection enforcement services. We are the trusted voice for animal welfare in our community and are looking for an experienced fundraising professional to join our team.

Reporting to the Director of Philanthropy (interim Executive Director), the Manager of Annual Giving's (MAG) major area of responsibility is the planning, development and execution of a comprehensive Annual Giving Program for the RHS. This position organizes, plans and implements programs to secure annual and monthly gifts through direct mail and email as well as other marketing tools including online giving and events. The Annual Giving Program feeds the RHS Major Gift program, by engaging and identifying potential major and legacy donors. As a respected member of the fundraising community, the Manager of Annual Giving will have a passion for animals and the people who benefit from sharing their lives with them.

The expertise and education required for this job would typically be attained through the completion of a related post-secondary degree and on-going professional development. A Certified Fundraising Executive (CFRE) designation is considered an asset, or a commitment to attain the Certification. As a fundraising professional, you will have experience in developing and implementing proven strategies for both short and long-term success.

In return, we offer a competitive compensation package including Health/Dental/Vision Care Benefits, Employee Assistance Program, paid vacation and sick time with an annual salary range of $74,000 - $90,000. We promise you the chance to feel great about your job, professional development opportunities and the ability to work as part of a supportive and encouraging team that will change the face of animal welfare forever in Regina's new Animal Community Centre opening in Fall 2023.

If you think you might be who we're looking for to join our pack, raise your paw and submit your resume. A full job description is provided here.
