

Benjamin Williams Bio

Benjamin Williams is a multi-faceted and collaborative leader with 15+ years of experience across multidisciplinary projects and cross-functional teams in the nonprofit sector. Ben has demonstrated commitment to achieving strategic organizational objectives through funding strategy development, community impact initiatives support, and capacity building consulting. As a Director of Corporate Relations with The United Way for Southeastern Michigan, Ben manages a partner portfolio responsible for $1M in annual revenue through consultative engagement and sales to fund direct service programming and community-funded partners. Ben also specializes in leveraging arts, education, and culture to connect with communities of color, build inclusive spaces, and provide avenues of exposure. This is evident in his current leadership as Executive Director of Motor City Sings; a nonprofit organization that drives exposure and destigmatization of mental health resources through music, culture, and authenticity.