

Marah Casey serves as the Director, Institutional Advancement at Teach For America – Detroit. In this role she leads all aspects of fund development in TFA’s Detroit region to ensure sustainability and growth in pursuit of the mission for educational equity for all children. Marah began her career as a Detroit high school social studies teacher through Teach For America before joining the staff in an external affairs capacity in 2014. Most recently, she served as an Advancement Officer at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, managing corporate and foundation relations and special initiatives focused on advancing diversity, equity and inclusion in American orchestras. Marah is passionate about education and creating accessible opportunities for Detroit students. She serves on the development committee for Loyola High School-Detroit and on the board of directors for the Association of Fundraising Professionals Greater Detroit Chapter. Marah holds a BA in History and MA in Educational Studies from the University of Michigan–Ann Arbor and is currently an MBA candidate at the University of Michigan Stephen M. Ross School of Business.