Registration For RMPI 2021 Is Now Open!

Themed “Purpose and Possibility” - RMPI 2021 will provide nonprofit professionals the opportunity to brush up on fundraising skills, network, and set intentions for a post-pandemic era where a world of possibility lies ahead.

DISCOVER YOUR PURPOSE, REIMAGINE WHAT'S POSSIBLE.

Attend RMPI.

Building upon the success of last year's virtual conference, RMPI 2021 will take place on September 9-10, and will be brought to you wherever you access the internet. New this year – there will be in-person watch parties so you can network with others according to your own comfort level and geography (stay tuned for more to come on that).

Register for RMPI to learn from an incredible selection of engaging and informative speakers, and join us for an enlightening fireside chat with keynote speaker, Edgar Villanueva, the globally-recognized racial justice activist, philanthropist, and author of “Decolonizing Wealth: Indigenous Wisdom to Heal Divides and Restore Balance.”

AFP members can register for just $119 and non-members for $129 – and if you sign up by July 16, you will get $10 off with the early-bird discount!

The Importance of Time Management in Leadership

Our personal and professional lives move in the direction of our strongest thought. As leaders in the non-profit sector, we are often asked to share our knowledge and experience, and we can be pulled in several different directions that may not always best serve the mission of our organization. John Wolfkill, Executive Director of the Community College of Aurora Foundation, will discuss how we can improve our attention management, remove our cognitive biases, and remove distractions to become more proactive in leading to success. As leaders, we focus the attention of others to accomplish a goal and John's session will help us recognize what changes we can make to be more successful leaders.
