Raising the Bar for Philanthropy - Capital Campaign Strategy, Successes, and Lessons Learned

Join JCC's Executive Director Jonathan Lev as he shares the strategy, successes, and lessons learned during the JCC's $30+ Million Cornerstone Capital Campaign. Jonathan will be joined by panelists Roberta Levin, Capital Campaign Donor; Heidi Dormody, Boulder JCC Director of Advancement; and Susan Rona, Boulder JCC Interim Senior Director of Programming; to lend insight and expertise on completing a successful capital campaign. Capital campaign expert, Tami Vinson, CFRE, will moderate the panel discussion.

The JCC's successful $30+ Million Cornerstone Capital Campaign was driven by vital volunteer leadership, fulfilled its zero-debt pledge, and created a gathering place that has deeply impacted the Boulder community. "It's a gravitational force pulling people together," Lev said, "It has galvanized the community, encouraging both philanthropy and connection.

Join AFP for this stellar panel on May 16th at the Boulder JCC, Levin Hall 6007 Oreg Ave, Boulder.

What Does a Prescription Transparency Bill Have to do with Fundraising?

Great question! In this case, it may have to do with where the funding comes from. HB19-1296 - Prescription Transparency Bill is going through the legislature and pertains to potential reporting mandates on nonprofits who receive donations of $1,000 or more from pharmaceutical companies. This bill has a section that would require "Certain nonprofit organizations to compile and submit to the commissioner an annual report indicating the amount of each payment, donation, subsidy, or thing of value received by the nonprofit organization or its executive director, chief operating officer, board of directors, or any member of the board of directors from a prescription drug manufacturer, PBM, or health insurer and the percentage of the nonprofit organization's total gross income that is attributable to those payments, donations, subsidies, or things of value." You can see where this could get hairy, plus it puts the burden of reporting on the non-profit. The bill is being monitored and many members of the committee recommended either re-writing the entire bill, amending it to put the burden of reporting on the drug company, or scrapping the entire thing. Our friends at the Colorado Nonprofit Association are tracking this bill and will share more as information is available.
