

Colleen Curran

Colleen has extensive board experience – both serving and leading on boards as well as reporting to them. She currently serves as Advancement Manager for Cleo Parker Robinson Dance (CPRD) in Denver Colorado. Prior to CPRD, she served on the Board of Trustees for Colorado Ballet from 2015-2023 in various roles including co-chair of the board through the COVID pandemic and as Chair of Advancement. She worked with Nathan Yip Foundation (NYF) to create the Rural Grants program in 2016, serving as chair of this committee for its first few years of operation, and continues to work with NYF on their Rural Education Advisory Committee. Colleen served on the national alum board for Sacred Heart Schools in the US as the Western Region Representative from 2017-2019. Colleen was born in Nebraska and raised in Texas – both of her degrees are from the University of Houston (Go Coogs!!) with an undergrad in History/minor Spanish and an MEd in Educational Leadership. She is a (slow) runner, true crime podcast junkie, recipe hacker, cat lover, Netflix and Prime binger, and reader! Most recent read: “Good Enough” by Kate Bowler.
