

Emily Bottie loves helping organizations advance their missions and connect with their communities through events. Her career began as a Fundraising Coach at AVON 39 The Walk to End Breast Cancer and continued at the American Cancer Society and Campus Compact, where she developed engaging events and impact-driven fundraising campaigns. She is now a Senior Manager at Blue Pallet Events, where she oversees the production of national event series such as Breakthrough T1D Walks, applying her deep fundraising expertise and operational acumen to ensure the success of each event. She excels at crafting successful fundraising strategies, recruiting and training volunteers, forging impactful partnerships, and planning and executing unforgettable participant experiences.

Originally from Maine, Emily resides in Boston, MA and holds a BA in International Relations from Boston University.