One Size Doesn't Fit All in Fundraising

Your donors are not the same, and your fundraising approach shouldn't be, either. The truth is, from the Matures to Generation Z, giving looks different. Different generations are motivated to give for different reasons. They also give in very different ways. How can you build impactful and sustainable relationships with each generation? In this session learn how to understand their different paths to philanthropy and how to engage them as loyal and long-term donors to your cause.

Join your AFP colleagues for breakfast to learn more from Lynnette Adams, Director of Development at the Community College of Aurora Foundation, Adjunct Faculty Instructor at the University of Denver, and AFP Board member!

Mentors Needed!

The AFP Mentorship program has extended the application deadline to February 26th!

The AFP Mentorship program is looking for experts in the field of philanthropy who want to serve as mentors for colleagues newer to the field. As a mentor you can help share your knowledge, inspire others and address some of the challenges fundraisers face in the field. Mentoring is a rewarding and fulfilling experience, and helps you grow your own professional and coaching skills along with your network!

Become a mentor today!
