Stay...Just A Little Bit Longer

We know how tempting it can be to leave a conference a little early to miss traffic, but the last session of RMPI is not to be missed! Zach, Abbey and Elena will each be facilitating highly engaging sessions worth your time.

- Statistics and Stories: Achieving Balance in Your Case For Support with Zach Hochstadt and Abbey Meyers. The most successful fundraisers know that fundraising campaigns are most effective when communications balance the right mix of emotion and urgency.
- The Connection Between Evaluation and Fundraising with Elena Harman. Help donors answer the question: How will I know my dollars are making a difference? Elena will help us tackle the intersection of fundraising and evaluation; helping us think about, talk about, and use evaluation differently.

These sessions promise to help you, as fundraisers, connect your donors to your projects, programming, and mission!

Register today (early bird rate until August 9th)!

Entrepreneurs, Philanthropy and Giving: Recent Study Shared by AFP Global

AFP Global recently featured an article on Entrepreneurs as Philanthropists that provides insights on how entrepreneurs view charitable giving. Findings suggest entrepreneurs give more time and money and identify more strongly with charitable giving than non-entrepreneurs. Entrepreneurs are also more likely to have discussed philanthropy with a financial advisor and are more likely to plan for legacy giving.

Read the article on AFP Global to find a link to the full Fidelity Investments report, and consider how you can approach your entrepreneur donors to further your organizational mission!
