AGU extends its gratitude to all who donate—your contributions are what allow us to continue to enhance connectivity across all of the Earth and space sciences by providing educational expertise, scholarship, and partnership development with other organizations and the public. Your contributions to campaigns like Honor an Educator make it possible to enhance professional inclusivity for teachers and researchers around the world.

The Education Section welcomes your continued support! Please click here to learn more about donating to AGU and the Honor an Educator campaign.

FM22 Abstract Submissions Open

Join us in Chicago! AGU Fall Meeting 2022 will be held in person and online around the world this December 12–16. We encourage you to consider submitting an abstract for an education session and join an international community of scientists, students, and educators in the future. Session abstract submissions will open mid-June—look for updates in AGU’s Connect Community!

Click here to learn more about Fall Meeting 2022.

GLOBE Land Cover Challenge Begins

The GLOBE Program challenges all citizen scientists to participate in the 2022 Land Cover Challenge! Participants from all over the world will be asked to contribute data in the form of observations and photos of the land cover in their local area. This information helps researchers, scientific organizations, and communities at all levels better understand landscapes and how their ecosystems are changing with time.

Training videos and instructions on how to use GLOBE Observer Land Cover, the app that enables participants to document their observations, are available now. Click here to learn more!

JULY 23

GLOBE Land Cover Challenge Ends

AUGUST 3

FM22 Abstract Submissions Close

JULY 11-15

Earth Educators’ Rendezvous

JUNE 30

Rendezvous ‘22 Registration Deadline

The University of Minnesota’s Department of Earth and Environmental Sciences hosts the eight annual Earth Educators’ Rendezvous this July! The Rendezvous program offers opportunities for individuals from all aspects of Earth science education to learn about topics such as new teaching approaches, research programs, and academic career preparation. Save the date and register today!

The registration deadline is June 30—click here to learn more about the 2022 Rendezvous.

JUNE 21

MID-JUNE

FM22 Abstract Submissions Open

Join us in Chicago! AGU Fall Meeting 2022 will be held in person and online around the world this December 12–16. We encourage you to consider submitting an abstract for an education session and join an international community of scientists, students, and educators in the future. Session abstract submissions will open mid-June—look for updates in AGU’s Connect Community!

Click here to learn more about Fall Meeting 2022.

AGU extends its gratitude to all who donate—your contributions are what allow us to continue to enhance connectivity across all of the Earth and space sciences by providing educational expertise, scholarship, and partnership development with other organizations and the public. Your contributions to campaigns like Honor an Educator make it possible to enhance professional inclusivity for teachers and researchers around the world.

The Education Section welcomes your continued support! Please click here to learn more about donating to AGU and the Honor an Educator campaign.

Have a great summer!

The newsletter will return in August, but in the meantime, we at the Education Section encourage you to stay in touch for event updates and deadlines by joining an AGU Connect Community! These inclusive online spaces span a variety of groups, including Academic Leaders, Early Career Scientists, DEI Scientists, and many others.

Click here to learn more and join today!