“MEAN”

When most people hear that word, they don’t think of an arithmetic average.

Helping you share science effectively.
“I am excited about scientific research. I want young people to realize it’s a viable career option, and I want everyone to realize that [it] makes valuable contributions to society.”

—Brittany Huhmann, member of AGU’s Sharing Science community

Do you want to:

• Inspire the public & next generation of scientists?
• Encourage support for investment in research?
• Raise the profile of your work?

AGU’s Sharing Science program gives you tools, opportunities, and support to effectively communicate science to many audiences, including:

• Journalists
• Policymakers
• Public groups
• Educators & students

Join AGU’s Sharing Science community
www.agu.org/sharingscience