

Housing Charges for Students with Accommodations

Students with accommodations in Campus Housing should not pay more than they would have otherwise paid simply because they are receiving an accommodation. The following points demonstrate how their “otherwise” rate may be determined in various situations.

- Point 1: If a student self-assigns to a room and then receives an accommodation, the student will continue to pay the rate of their previous assignment rather than an increased rate for their accommodated room.
  - Example: If a student assigns themselves to a Bettie Johnson Hall 4x2 room, and are accommodated to a Cardinal Towne 1x1 room, they would pay the rate of their previous 4x2 assignment.
- Point 2: If a student does not self-assign within the Campus Housing Portal, the student will be charged the rate of where they could have been placed had they self-assigned. Campus Housing will determine what rooms were available to the student at the time their request was made; the student will be charged the least expensive rate that was available to them at that time.
  - Example: If a student applies for a housing accommodation on a date when the least expensive housing available is a Bettie Johnson Hall 4x4 room, the student will pay the rate of that 4x4 rather than the rate of their accommodated room.
- Point 3: If a student participates in an LLC which requires that they live in a particular set of rooms, the student will pay the least expensive rate other students in that LLC can pay.
  - Example: If a student participating in an LLC requires a 1x1 room as an accommodation, but the other students participating in the LLC live in 2x2 rooms, the student will pay the 2x2 rate.
- Point 4: If a student is offered a room that meets their accommodation need but chooses a room that is more expensive, the student will pay the rate of the more expensive room.
  - Example: If a student has an accommodation for a private bedroom and has the accommodation met in a 4x4 room in Bettie Johnson Hall but chooses to live in a 2x2 room in Cardinal Towne, the student will pay the rate of the 2x2 in Cardinal Towne.
