

Elevate your game

We're well aware that the responsibilities of admission and enrollment professionals have grown exponentially over time. That's why AISAP was created as the only association that has admission and enrollment management professionals as our sole mission and focus.

Join our vibrant community of professionals who are willing to share their experience and insight in all aspects of independent school and private school admission and enrollment management.

Educate.

Simply put, AISAP membership gives you the information and knowledge needed to advance your institutional mission, your work and your career.

Education and Training

Increase Your Skills and Knowledge

Regardless of your tenure, continuing education is the key to your success. And each session is linked to the AISAP Learning and Development Framework so you can create a path for personal professional development.

Membership benefits with regard to education and training include:

- Free access to hundreds of live and archived webinars
- A reduced rate for our CAEP® certificate, which includes online lessons designed for admission and enrollment management professionals
- Continuing Education Credit (CEC) courses
- Micro-Credentials and Credential designation opportunities that verify mastery of professional standards

Events

Connect With Your Colleagues

- Reduced rates on all AISAP Professional Programs such as our regional events for Directors
- Reduced rates for our signature event held in July—the Annual Institute—with keynote speakers, sessions on admission and enrollment, financial aid, and marketing communications
- The opportunity to participate in a cohort group which will continue to meet throughout the year

Financial Aid Professional Development

Best Practices

We recognize the critical importance of financial aid's place in enrollment management. That's why we've partnered with Alisa Evans as an AISAP Strategic Knowledge Partner. Alisa is the premier knowledge source and practitioner in the field of financial aid strategy and implementation.

Together, we offer members the tools, strategies, and network you need to tackle the financial aid issues that keep you up at night with:

- Online courses throughout the year featuring hands-on instruction
- Software-specific training for SSS, FACTS, and TADS users
- The AISAP Financial Aid Institute immediately preceding the annual AISAP Institute

360 Assessment

Consulting Service for Members

If you're like many schools, you may not have written a strategic enrollment management plan. Or prepare for board meetings in a consistently data-driven way. Or have effective strategies in place to plan for leadership or staffing transitions.

The goal of 360 Assessment is implicit in its name—a holistic review of your admissions operations and your strategic enrollment plan. The deliverable? A customized road map for improving the functioning and efficiency of your admissions office to help you reach enrollment goals.
