

ADVOCACY

We're Strengthening Your Profession

In addition to basic membership benefits, ANFP strives to represent your interests. We want the nutrition and foodservice profession to be as strong as it can be. Here's how we are strengthening YOUR profession:

Advocacy

ANFP serves as the national voice for ANFP members. Our government advocacy efforts support the expertise and regulatory directive of Certified Dietary Managers and ensure that your skills and talents are recognized.

ANFP has a Political Action Committee (PAC) and representation in Washington, D.C., to gain visibility and secure meaningful legislative results that benefit ANFP members. Government advocacy staff members also assist chapter volunteers in their state legislative initiatives.

The Nutrition & Foodservice Education Foundation

The Nutrition & Foodservice Education Foundation (NFEF) supports the goals of ANFP and works to strengthen the overall nutrition and foodservice profession in several ways.

- Education: The Foundation provides educational opportunities to help advance the careers of promising individuals who are committed to the field of nutrition and foodservice. It also helps support general education initiatives aimed at strengthening the profession overall.
- Best Practices and Standard-Setting: The Foundation supports initiatives that lead to strong standards of quality for the profession and to the development of best practices.
- Research Support: The Foundation encourages and supports research intended to help advance the profession and ensure dining experiences that are nutritionally sound, safe, and fulfilling.
- Public Awareness: Through consumer outreach, the Foundation helps raise public awareness of the importance of proper nutrition and foodservice management in achieving good health.

Earn Certification and Advance in the Workplace

CDM®|CFPP® | Certified Dietary Manager
Certified Food Protection Professional

Many members of ANFP decide to participate in the Certified Dietary Manager (CDM) program (which includes the Certified Food Protection Professional designation — CFPP). By earning your CDM, CFPP certification, you will join the top levels of nutrition and foodservice managers in the field.

How to Become a CDM, CFPP

A Certified Dietary Manager, Certified Food Protection Professional (CDM, CFPP) has the education, training, and experience to competently perform the responsibilities of a dietary manager and has proven this by passing a nationally-recognized credentialing exam and fulfilling the requirements needed to maintain certified status. The CDM, CFPP also demonstrates specific competency in the area of food safety and sanitation.

Earn the Credential in 3 Steps

1. Qualify to Take the CDM, CFPP Certification Exam.

There are five ways to qualify! You may start by completing an ANFP-approved foodservice manager training program. Or, you may already have a two-year or four-year degree in foodservice management, nutrition, or culinary arts. You may qualify through a combination of training and experience. Or, you may qualify through your related military training. Details about how to qualify are on the CBDM website at www.CBDMonline.org/eligibility.

2. Register for the Certification Exam.

Offered year-round at more than 200 sites, the exam gives you a chance to prove your competency in the marketplace by earning the CDM, CFPP credential.

3. Pass the Exam and Complete Your Certification Process.

Once you have passed the exam, you can apply for certified status. As an ANFP member, activation is automatic.

Once you earn the credential, you will need to maintain it with continuing education and keep up your annual certification fee.

The CDM, CFPP is more than the letters after your name. It is a career path that demonstrates your commitment to excellence in nutrition and foodservice management, and defines you as a highly-qualified professional in your field.
