Message from Division Chair

Dear IM Division Members,

I hope you are safe and well. As you are aware, the transition to a 2020 virtual Annual Meeting is in development. This year's conference theme of "Broadening Our Sight", offers us the opportunity to reconnect with friends – and to make new ones – while challenging our thinking and expanding our horizons with respect to both teaching and research, in a new virtual format.

Program Chair Katherine Xin and PDW Chair Bill Newbury have been hard at work building the IM Division's academic program and are currently at work planning for the transition to the virtual format. We are extremely grateful for their work, particularly since it has magnified as a result of the change in format. Bill's efforts have led to an IM Division PDW program which will feature select PDWs and our division's Doctoral Faculty Consortia (co-chaired by Stav Fainshmidt and Chengguang Li), Junior Faculty Consortia (co-chaired by Birgitte Groggaard and Liena Kano), Paper Development Workshop (chaired by Nandini Lahiri), and "Meet-the-IM Editors" session (chaired by Grazia Santangelo). Katherine had the huge job (and it is a huge job!) of putting together the program which includes symposia and paper sessions, covering the vast array of topics that comprise our field of International Management. The program highlights include sessions featuring nominees for best paper awards and finalists for the D'Amore-McKim Northeastern University Best Dissertation Award. In addition to enjoying paper presentations and engaging with the other friendly members of the IM Division, join us for some informal discussion about leading-edge IM issues at the Thought Leadership Café. We will recognize several special honorees this year - Yves Doz (IM Division Eminent Scholar Award), Rosalie Tung (IM Division Outstanding Service to the Global Community Award), Kendall Roth (IM Division AmorePacific Outstanding Educator Award), and Minyoung Kim (IM Division FIU Emerging Scholar Award) – in addition to the winners of the paper and dissertation awards at the IM Division Business Meeting. Details on specific times for sessions and the business meeting are available in the message from Katherine who has been finalizing the virtual program. (Continued on p.2)

The IM Division runs through the efforts of a remarkably large number of volunteers. Treasurer Malika Richards does an amazing job of watching over the IM Division's finances and serving as a key interface with the AOM office. Chei Hwee Chua, as Chair of the Communications Committee does a remarkable amount of work behind the scenes, overseeing the outward-looking face of the Division (and keeping the rest of us in line – no easy task, indeed!). The IM Division owes huge debts of gratitude to all of the members of our various committees, which are chaired by Beth Rose (Professional Achievement), Alvaro Cuervo-Cazurra (Eminent Scholar), Grazia Santangelo (Research), Davina Vora (Dissertation), Carl Fey (Teaching), Ali Taleb (Online Teaching Resources), Luiz Ricardo Kabbach de Castro (Membership Drive), Denise Dunlap (Scholarship and Engagement), Sali Li (Online Research Resources) and Jason Sigler (Doctoral Student).

Several committees have introduced exciting new events to interact with divisional members and we appreciate their initiative and willingness. The first of these events spearheaded by Carl Fey and the Teaching Committee, a webinar titled, “The Future of International Business Teaching: Content and Methods in a post COVID-19 World” drew an audience of 150 participants! Under the leadership of Ali Taleb, the Online Teaching Resources Committee offered two webinars titled, “Transitioning to Online Teaching amid Covid-19 Pandemic Outbreak: Perspectives, Prospects and Insights” and “Experiential Learning for Remote Courses: Reflections & Best Practices” which were also very popular. The Membership Drive Committee led by Luiz Ricardo launched the IM Global Podcast Series, with the first episode featuring Ruth Aguilera's insights on “Corporate Governance and International Management”. More information on these initiatives is included at the end of this message.

Please see the IM Division website (<https://im.aom.org/im-division-committees/>), which is ably managed by Dennys Eduardo Rossetto, to learn more about the committees and their membership. If you are interested in joining this group of wonderful IM Division volunteers, please let me know.

There is another key set of volunteers... the IM Division Executive Committee (EC). For the past year, I have had the great pleasure of working with Beth Rose, Jaeyong Song, Katherine Xin, and Bill Newbury as EC members. After the conference, Beth will rotate off the EC – but it is good to know that she will not go far, as she will still be involved as a member of the Professional Achievement Awards committee. She is also leading an initiative for IM Research Workshops in Africa and India to expand the reach of the division in those locations. Thank you, Beth, for your energy and commitment to the IM Division as a member of the EC for the past five years! At the same time, the EC will gain a new member – please join me in welcoming Grazia Santangelo, who will be the PDW Chair for the 2021 conference in Philadelphia. The EC is delighted to have Grazia on board, she joins us with years of tremendous service to the IM Division in her prior role as Chair of the Research Committee.

We could not do this without our generous sponsors. We are deeply grateful to AmorePacific, CEIBS, Florida International U., George Washington U., CIBER, Georgetown U., McDonough School of Business, Hong Kong U. of Science and Technology, Northeastern U., D'Amore-McKim School of Business, and the U. of South Carolina for their support of various awards. Thank you so much to all of our sponsors!

Last – but certainly not least – I want to acknowledge the IM Division members from around the world, who contribute in a myriad of ways, from submitting and presenting their ideas, to serving as reviewers, to helping to create the community that characterizes our Division. When I think of the AOM, I think of the IM Division... and that is due to each and every one of you. Thank you – and see you at the virtual meeting!

With best regards,

Anu Phene

AOM 2020 IM Division Virtual Main Program Highlights

THE 80TH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ACADEMY OF MANAGEMENT

Welcome to join us as we embark on our new journey towards the virtual #AOM 2020 Annual Meeting! The virtual meeting takes place during its originally scheduled dates, 7-11 August.

In addition to the terrific PDW sessions (which Bill Newbury describes elsewhere in the newsletter), we have 80 IM Division-sponsored sessions on offer, several in collaboration with other divisions, sharing a broad range of insights. Specifically, we have 14 symposia (synchronous and asynchronous), covering the breadth of the IM field. Three symposia, including the IM Division showcase symposium will be synchronously presented, providing the opportunity for interactive discussion. We have in total 50 paper sessions, including nine sessions featuring the finalists for IM Division awards. All proceeding paper sessions and award winning paper sessions are in live format, allowing for simultaneous interactions.

The IM Division Plenary Session chaired by Beth Rose in real-time format will take place on Friday, 10:30 am – 12:00 pm (EDT).

In this session, a panel of senior and early-career researchers, Rebecca Reuber (U. of Toronto), Tarun Khanna (Harvard U.), Jesper Edman (Waseda U.), and Charles Stevens (Lehigh U.), will begin a wide-ranging and interactive discussion about future research directions for the broad field of International Management. There will be plenty of time for questions from the audience.

The IM Division Thought Leadership Café will take place on Sunday, 10:30 am – 11:30 am (EDT). Join us and have conversations with our thought leaders Dana Minbaeva (Copenhagen Business School), Ravi Ramamurti (Northeastern U.) and George S. Yip (Imperial College), all of whom are innovative and creative researchers. I trust the conversations will be lively, wide-ranging, and thought provoking.

The finalists for the D'Amore-McKim School of Business, Northeastern University Best Dissertation Award will present their doctoral research live on Sunday, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm (EDT). These young scholars will be giving us insights on a wide range of interesting topics in our field.

IM Division Business Meeting will take place on Monday, 10:30 am – 11:30 am (EDT) in real-time open format, where you can catch up on the division's news and learn about the winners of our many awards. In addition to recognizing the recipients of the paper and dissertation awards, and the best reviewers for the year, we will honor the winners of the IM Division's Outstanding Service to the Global Community Award (Rosalie Tung, Simon Fraser U.), the IM Division AmorePacific Outstanding Educator Award (Kendall Roth, U. of South Carolina), along with the IM Division FIU Business Emerging Scholar Award (Minyoung Kim, U. of Kansas). Please join us at the business meeting and celebrate with the award winners on their achievement and contribution to the field and to the IM Division.

Last, but not the least, allow me to express my heart-felt thanks to everyone who submitted papers and symposium proposals to the IM Division, and to all of those wonderful colleagues who served as reviewers. Without your support and hard work, it is impossible to have such a wonderful line up of our programs in this challenging year. My special thanks goes to Beth Rose who served as the associate editor for this year's program and has offered a lot of help and insights in shaping the program that we all will benefit at this year's conference.

The virtual meeting format offers participants the opportunity to experience more of everything without the scheduling conflicts and time constraints that accompany an in-person conference. I look forward to meeting you at AOM's first-ever virtual Annual Meeting!

AOM 2020 IM Division Virtual PDW Program Highlights

Hello IM Division Members! After what I am sure has been a difficult last several months for all of us, I am happy to provide details on our 2020 IM Division Virtual PDW Program. Our PDWs will primarily be asynchronous, with only certain sessions being delivered at an assigned time. Given the virtual nature of the conference, I have arranged the sessions into four themes below. We are also co-sponsor of numerous other PDW sessions with other divisions, so the following is just a subset of the total IM Division PDW opportunities available at the conference.

First, we have four sessions focused on Junior Scholar Career Development. These are important to the development of our future division members and leaders, and include:

IM Division Doctoral Student Consortium, led by Stav Fainshmidt and Chengguang Li (Aug. 8, 10:30 am – 12:30 am EDT + asyn; application and pre-registration required).

IM Division Junior Faculty Consortium, led by Birgitte Groggaard and Liena Kano (Aug. 8, 12:30 – 2:00 pm EDT + asyn; application and pre-registration required).

Writing an Award-Winning Dissertation: Advice from Prior IM Division Dissertation Award Finalists, led by Davina Vora (asyn)

Creating Impactful Research as a Junior Scholar: Advice from IM Division FIU Business Emerging Scholars, led by Aya Chacar (asyn)

A second set of sessions focus on Research and Publishing. These include:

IM Division Meet the Editors, led by our new E.C. member, Grazia Santangelo (asyn)

IM Division Paper Development Workshop, led by Nandini Lahiri (asyn; application and pre-registration required)

Building Meaningful International Collaborations, led by Charles Wankel and Agata Stanusch (asyn)

Third, as we are all Educators, we also have a group of PDW sessions focused on various aspects of improving our teaching and educational programs, which has become a strong focus during this COVID-19 era. These include:

Designing Innovative Executive Education Programs that Make Impact in a Changing World, led by Charles Fey and Andreas Schotter (Aug. 8, 12:00 pm – 2:00 pm EDT)

Update Your Teaching Game Plan: Case Teaching Innovations, led by Harry Lane and Paul Beamish (asyn)

Teaching Global Leadership: Exercises, Curriculum Development, and Best Practices, led by Davina Vora (asyn)

How to Enhance the Effectiveness of IM Practices: Providing Value to Stakeholders of IB Education, led by Yongsun Paik (asyn)

A final area that we highlight in our PDW program that is central to many in the IM Division is Institutions and Culture. Here we note:

Researching National Innovation Ecosystems: Institutions, Infrastructure, and Firms, led by Joseph Cheng (asyn)

Culture in Management Research: Best Practices for Use of the GLOBE Culture & Leadership Dimensions, led by Stephen Ute and Mary Sully de Luque (Aug. 7, 10:30 am – 12:00 pm EDT)

Widening the Lens: Cultural Industry Research in International Business, led by Stephanie Wang and Qian Gu (Aug 8, 12:00 pm to 2:00 pm EDT).

We hope these sessions provide insightful experiences that complement the main conference program organized by Katherine Xin. I look forward to seeing you virtually at the AOM Meeting in August!

William (Bill) Newbury

Online Teaching Resources Committee Webinar Series

The Online Teaching Resources Committee (OTRC) chaired by Ali Taleb (MacEwan U., Canada), has organized a series of practical and timely webinars including two sessions on remote teaching of IB/IM this summer.

These two webinars were recorded and the recordings will be posted on the OTRC's webpage shortly:

<https://im.aom.org/teaching-resources/>. Keep a look out for our announcement when they are posted. Below are their descriptions:

Webinar 1: Transitioning to Online Teaching amid Covid-19 Pandemic Outbreak: Perspectives, Insights & Experiences

Facilitator: Joo Seng Tan (ajstan@ntu.edu.sg) – Nanyang Business School, Singapore

Panelists: Kurt Beyer (U. of California, Berkeley, USA), Kajari Mukherjee (Indian Institute of Management, Indore, India), & Pi-Shen Seet (Edith Cowan U., Australia).

The Covid-19 global pandemic has disrupted education. Classes pivoted from in-person to online mode almost overnight as universities shut all across the world. The unplanned, sudden and seismic shift to online teaching at scale – with no training and little preparation – has created both challenges and opportunities, even as faculty have been stretched professionally and personally. What have been the biggest challenges in transitioning to online teaching? How have these challenges been addressed? What important pedagogical considerations had to be made in online teaching? How were these considerations put into practice, and have they been effective? We will discuss these and other questions as part of this webinar. We invited three faculty, one from U.S.A., one from India, and one from Australia, to the panel, to share their perspectives, insights and experiences.

Webinar 2: Experiential Learning for Remote Courses: Reflections & Best Practices

Facilitator: Rimi Zakaria (zakariar@uww.edu) – U. of Wisconsin – Whitewater, USA

Panelists: Bill Newbury (Florida International U., USA), Bill Schiano (Bentley U., USA), and Vas Taras (U. of North Carolina – Greensboro, USA)

Experiential learning has long been regarded as a highly effective instructional strategy. With further expansion of remote teaching, the question remains how to incorporate multi-cultural and experiential opportunities in online classes. In this webinar, participants will learn about a variety of experiential learning approaches including using cases, simulations, and real-world consulting projects in remote settings. A panel of international business and management professors will share their observations and experiences on the topic. Participants will learn about the best practices and pedagogical implications at the intersection of experiential and distance learning.

Feel free to contact Ali Taleb, OTRC Chair (TalebA@MacEwan.ca) should you wish to join the committee or have suggestions for future sessions of the OTRC Webinar Series.

Teaching Committee Webinar

“The Future of International Business Teaching: Content & Methods in a post COVID-19 World”

This webinar discusses how teaching content, methods, and program design will likely evolve post COVID-19. How on-line teaching can be best used in the future is also discussed. While this webinar is targeted for faculty teaching international business, faculty teaching other disciplines in a business school will likely find parts of it to be of interest as well.

Watch the recording of the webinar here:

https://youtu.be/WAB9h_IMuWc

Panelists:

- Carl F. Fey, Professor, Aalto U.
- Sri Zaheer, Dean, Carlson School of Management, U. of Minnesota
- Harry Lane, Prof., Northeastern U.
- Andreas Schotter, Associate Prof., Ivey School of Business
