

2023 Public Lands Alliance Convention and Trade Show Attendee Waiver of Liability

All 2023 Public Lands Alliance Convention and Trade Show (PLA 2023) attendees (including participants, exhibitors, volunteers, speakers, and their guests participating in PLA 2023) are required to complete this waiver.

Attendance at the 2023 PLA Convention and Trade Show (PLA 2023) exposes participants to frequent and close personal contact with others. Such contact exposes participants to, among other hazards, the possibility of infection from influenza, the still-present COVID-19 virus and its variants ("COVID"), and other communicable diseases. Risk of exposure may result from the actions, omissions, or negligence of others who may attend PLA 2023 or their families, colleagues, or others with whom they may have contact. Participants may slip and fall, collide with other persons and objects, and over-exert themselves in activities involving some heightened level of physical activity.

I am an adult participant (18 years or older) and understand that there are inherent risks in attending PLA 2023. I assume ALL risks of attending PLA 2023 and moving within and among its various activity and social sites, inherent and otherwise, and whether or not described above. I agree to release, indemnify and not to sue PLA, its officers, Board directors, volunteers, and staff with respect to any and all claims of injury, illness or other loss, including death, related in any way to my registration in PLA 2023, including participating in its activities, moving about presentation and exhibit venues, meals and private and convention social gatherings of any nature. These agreements of indemnity and release include claims arising from the negligence, but not the willful and wanton misconduct, of a released party. These agreements include losses suffered by reason of COVID or other illness, including cancellation of PLA 2023 registration.

Furthermore, I agree to comply with all COVID-related procedures and participation requirements that may be implemented by PLA, the Oregon Convention Center, and event hotels and venues.