Frequently Asked Questions
ACN A-List Digital Badges

What is the ACN A-List?

The Applied Client Network's (ACN) A-List is our new education program where you complete online sessions and earn badges to show that you are knowledgeable about your Applied Systems software! Digital badges are an easy way to digitally record and share your experience with your peers. Any badge you earn can be shared with your social media networks, through email and website. This program is exclusive for ACN Advantage members to enhance their professional development and career through these learning journeys.

What are digital badges?

Digital badges are a way to recognize your online continuing education in a format that can be easily shared online. Badges show that you have taken a certain set of online sessions focused on a specific focus and are knowledgeable about that subject matter.

What do I get for completing an ACN A-List journey?

After you complete a badge journey, instructions to obtain your badge will be sent to you via email. You can share that badge with your social networks and peers, along with the knowledge learned from completing each webinar in that journey.

Do I need to watch the online sessions in order?

You do not need to watch the online sessions in the order they appear in the learning center. Your progress will be tracked no matter what order you complete the sessions.

How do I track which sessions I have completed?

After you complete a session, "Watched" will appear on that session, so you can easily track your progress.
