Jim Cypert of Fayetteville died November 12, 2020, at the age of 86. He married Gaye Warren, his high school sweetheart, in 1956. He graduated in 1956 from the University of Arkansas with a bachelor's degree in business and received his law degree in 1959. In 1959, Jim joined Crouch, Jones, and Blair Law Firm in Downtown Springdale, later becoming senior partner and practicing for 56 years before retiring in 2015. Jim was very active throughout his life in his profession, community, and church. His fervent commitment to law began early as he was President of the Arkansas Young Lawyers in 1962. Beginning in 1976, Jim was active in the Arkansas Bar Association. He served the Bar as a member of the House of Delegates (1976-1979), Chairman (1978), Director (1980), and, eventually, President of the Bar (1981). He was honored with several awards on behalf of the Bar including the Arkansas Bar Foundation Special Award (1980) as well as the Lawyer-Citizen Award (1986). Additionally, he was chosen as a member of the Arkansas Supreme Court Committee on Specialization. Throughout his life, Jim was honored for his service to the law and his community. He was appointed as a delegate for the 1964 Democratic Convention.

Paul L. Davidson of Bentonville died November 22, 2020, at the age of 73. Following his graduation from high school, Paul served in the United States Marine Corps.

Allen Paul Roberts of Camden died January 15, 2021, at the age of 81. He attended college at the University of Arkansas. In 1964, Allen finished law school at the University of Arkansas and began his law practice in Fort Smith. In 1966, he moved to Camden, where he resided and continued to practice law until his death. Allen was passionately devoted to the law and to bettering American legal institutions. He was a strong believer in the genius of the law as a mechanism for articulating and defending the rights of all Americans. He was an early supporter and defender of the Civil Rights Movement in the South. Allen served in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Don Martin Schnipper of Hot Springs died January 4, 2021, at the age of 81. After high school, he attended Tulane University and the University of Arkansas. At the university, he met and married the love of his life, Mary Ann Evans. Don attended the University of Arkansas School of Law. Upon his graduation from law school, they relocated in 1964 to Hot Springs to begin and establish his legal career and practice. Schnipper, or Schnip to his legions of friends, was the consummate lawyer's lawyer. He found his life's calling when he joined Jim Chesnutt and Ray Smith in 1964 at the then-Wood, Chesnutt and Smith Law Firm. Smith, Schnipper, and ultimately Philip M. Clay grew their practice at their decades-long offices located at 123 Market Street in Hot Springs. Don proudly maintained an AV rating as an attorney throughout his long legal career. While his law practice thrived, he also maintained a keen interest in community and statewide activities. He was a former president of the Arkansas Bar Association, a founding member of the Five States Past Presidents' Bar Group, past president of the Greater Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Hot Springs Country Club, past president of the Arkansas Alumni Association, a founder of the original Magic Springs, numerous boards at the First United Methodist Church, and a member of virtually every other civic or community organization in the area.
