

ELMC² 2026 SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The Emerging Laboratory Managers Collaborative Conference (ELMC²) is specifically designed for laboratory professionals to help them transition to, or more effectively lead in, management - whether they are laboratory professionals pressed into management without any training, someone who aspires to join the ranks of management, or an experienced manager who just wants a refresher. This one-of-a-kind all-virtual event prepares medical laboratory professionals to thrive in management positions.

ASCLS invites industry and educational programs to support this mission through sponsorship and engagement in the 7th Annual ELMC².

ELMC² ENGAGEMENT PACKAGES

As an entirely virtual meeting, ELMC² allows companies and organizations to directly engage meeting attendees where they are, which includes educational programming, networking opportunities, and social events. The partner listing in the digital meeting hub should be used to give attendees access to key information directly and provide a means for further engagement, either through a virtual meeting room hosted by conference partners or a custom microsite that can be used to track engagement and facilitate remarketing.

Engagement packages are designed to be right-sized and all-inclusive for any partner's needs. However, we anticipate that some individual companies will have unique needs that require custom solutions. ASCLS is pleased to work with partners to develop customized solutions that meet the partner's business goals for their investment and participation. Please direct any questions to ascls@ascls.org.
