Brent Stanger, ARA

Brent Stanger, ARA, is based in Twin Falls, Idaho. He is a Certified General Appraiser in the State of Idaho and began working in the appraisal profession in 1992.

Brent's appraisal experience includes many property types in Idaho and Nevada. He has a great deal of experience in appraising large commercial irrigated farm properties, livestock ranch operations and recreational ranch properties. His appraisal practice has also included considerable appraisal work with eminent domain and condemnation proceedings, commercial properties, yellow book work and some agriculturally based specialized facilities.

Brent joined ASFMRA in 1995. He received the Accredited Rural Appraiser, ARA, designation in 1999. He served two years on National Accreditation Committee and six years on the Appraisal Education and Accrediting Committee with two of those years as the Committee Chairman. He has served as an instructor since 2005 for most of the ASFMRA appraisal courses and has participated in the development and review of much of the latest appraisal education curriculum.

In 2013, Brent received the HE Buck Stalcup Excellence in Education award from the ASFMRA. Brent presently works with Farmland Reserve, Inc. as a Lease Portfolio Manager over approximately 60,000 acres in the Pacific Northwest Region; within the States of Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Montana. He and his Wife have resided in Twin Falls, Idaho since 1992. They have two grown children and enjoy spending outdoor time together with family and friends.
