Adding an Associate Doctoral Program Membership to current program membership(s)

Added benefits

- Eligible for the Multi-program discount of either $1,000 or $1,500 per program
- AUPHA membership access for Doctoral students at no additional cost to the program, saving the students the cost of a Doctoral Student Individual membership, currently $155.
- $500 Foster G. McGaw Scholarships to award annually

Membership Dues Cost Comparison

Multi-program discount for two program memberships

Adding an Associate Doctoral program membership to one current program membership makes each program eligible for a $1,000 multi-program discount.

The current program saves $1,000, the new Associate Doctoral program saves $1,000, and the added cost overall is $2,455 - the difference between the current Associate Doctoral Program membership dues of $4,455 and the combined $2,000 in multi-program discounts.

Multi-program discount for three or more program memberships

Adding an Associate Doctoral program Membership to two current program membership makes each program eligible for a $1,500 multi-program discount.

Each current program saves an additional $500, the new Associate Doctoral program saves $1,500, and the added cost overall is $1,955 - the difference between the current Associate Doctoral Program membership dues of $4,455 and the combined $2,500 in additional multi-program discounts ($500 for each of the two current programs and $1,500 for the added program).