roundtable luncheons

Make new connections, share your ideas and gain valuable insights into what’s next for defense unmanned systems during interactive roundtable luncheons. Attendees will self-select topics of interest during registration and will be assigned to participate in interactive discussions over lunch each conference day.

Each day, sixteen topics will be offered spanning industry issues, technology trends and service specific program discussions. Each table will seat 9 people and be facilitated by a DoD or industry representative who is well-versed in the assigned topic.
