📍 ALUMNI CHAPTERS

BGS has over 900,000 lifetime members, living in all 50 states and in more than 190 countries around the world.

WE ARE ALL BGS

Beta Gamma Sigma recognizes undergraduate, graduate and doctoral students, as well as distinguished faculty members and individuals who have made a significant impact on the world of business.

WELCOME TO BETA GAMMA SIGMA!

Your acceptance of membership is just the beginning of a lifetime of accomplishments. Your own hard work, coupled with BGS programs and resources, will help you remain the “best in business” for many years to come.

You’re probably already aware that it helps to know someone when you want to advance in your career. BGS helps connect you to the right people. Many new members meet through the BGS Alumni Network or ConnectBGS as soon as they are inducted.

Take a moment to turn to page 11 of this booklet and learn about the things you can do right now to make the most of your BGS membership.

A warm welcome to you as you begin this new chapter in your life. YOU ARE BGS! And we are thrilled to have you as a part of the community!

Tell everyone you know. It's official: you are BGS! Call home and tell them you're now part of the world's most prestigious business honor society, that your years of hard work and dedication have earned you this honor. Your membership is proof that you are the "best in business," and that Beta Gamma Sigma sees in you the potential to be a leader in the business world.

THE BETA GAMMA SIGMA CODE OF CONDUCT

Beta Gamma Sigma is a scholastic honor society, recognizing students primarily on the basis of their academic achievements. At the same time, the Society proudly states as one of its purposes the fostering of integrity in the conduct of business operations and that its membership is composed of those persons of high scholarship and good moral character.

It is clear that the invitation to membership is one that must be earned. First, a prospective member must demonstrate that they have performed academically at a level deserving of the highest recognition. The bylaws of the Society are very detailed on the definition of this qualification.

The articles of incorporation adds that members must be of “good moral character.” This is a more subjective standard, and many, perhaps even most chapters, accept that prospective members meet this standard unless there is compelling evidence to the contrary such as honor code violations or conviction of serious offenses.

The Beta Gamma Sigma ritual expands on this concept and provides some additional guidance:

- Beta Gamma Sigma is the scholastic honor society dedicated to principles and ideals essential to a worthy life as well as to a commendable business career.
- Honor is personal integrity and excellence of character. It is an enduring quality found in all persons who deserve to lead others.

This does not demand that the Society only recognize those who are perfect, for that may not be attainable.

All honorable persons conscientiously seek to recognize, to uphold, and to encourage that which is ethical and that which is just.

With humility, they acknowledge human failings which tend to induce the sacrifice of lofty ideas for base gains. They are aware of the difficulty of distinguishing right from wrong when confronted by a variety of alternative goals and a multitude of pressures and means to achieve those goals. But their honor is coupled with resolute courage. They may falter and they may fail. Yet they rise with renewed determination to do what is right. Their reputations are their most priceless possessions. The philosophy of the judicial system at many universities expresses two significant aims. First, the judicial system is intended to assist students to develop decision-making skills, personal discipline, an understanding of their responsibilities, and personal insight. Second, however, there is an acknowledgment that administrators of the system have a responsibility to protect the rights of other community members and to support the integrity of the academic mission.

Both the Beta Gamma Sigma documents and university Codes of Conduct acknowledge that ethical or right behavior is a goal to be aspired to and that unethical behavior can be a basis for discipline or denial of certain benefits, and in the case of Beta Gamma Sigma that could mean that invitation to membership would not be made.

Should Beta Gamma Sigma or chapters have compelling evidence that members have exhibited unethical, immoral behavior that calls into question their commitment to uphold and encourage that which is ethical may be a basis for withholding or revoking membership. Such action is carefully analyzed to ensure members are being treated fairly and in a manner commensurate with their violation.

THE HONORS FUND

The Honors Fund is an opportunity for Beta Gamma Sigma members to invest in the Society and provide essential leadership education for future generations of BGS members. These philanthropic gifts of support make programs like the BGS Advantage Webinar Series, Alumni Career Design Program, and Ethical Leadership Certification possible every year. We are pleased and humbled to acknowledge the following Beta Gamma Sigma members for their lifetime gifts:
