UNIVERSITY PARTNER MEMBER PROGRAMS

Help Your Students Grow Their Careers With the CCIM Institute — The Leader in Commercial Real Estate Education

The CCIM Institute's university outreach program is designed to help students and graduates of our University Outreach program achieve their real estate career goals. Our premier CCIM Designation is the one to pursue for professional education, networking opportunities, and industry-leading technology in the commercial and investment real estate industry.

The program is available to both your master's and undergraduate programs. Join the ranks of other participating universities, including Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), Rice University, and Vanderbilt University — to name a few. There is no cost to the university for the basic program. An optional upgrade to the program — designed to help you provide additional value to your students — is available at a small cost. Check out the other side for a full list of benefits by program option.

University Outreach Upgrade Option

In addition to the free program, universities can also choose the optional upgrade. For an annual cost of $1,000 for your undergraduate or graduate program ($1,500 total for both), students in the program will receive all the benefits of the free program, plus a free enhanced student membership.
