

Patrice Chikonyora

Patrice Chikonyora is a capable young professional with an analytical background who holds a bachelor's degree in Banking and Investment Management and accreditation certificates in Professional Ethics, Economics for Markets, Introduction to Wealth Management, and Foreign Exchange Fundamentals from Corporate Finance Institute. With a drive for continuous learning, he currently enrolled at Swansea University in Management (Finance), MSc. Currently outside of work, where he is employed as Customer Consultant by one of the big financial banks in Zimbabwe, The Commercial Bank of Zimbabwe and responsible for customer focus and organizational customer service growth as the Avondale Branch Service Ambassador, he is engaged in a project called Banking Reimagined that examines how fintech is reshaping the finance industry and how probable it is to have an impact on banking conventional service delivery.

To use his skills to give back to the society, Patrice volunteers as a Finance Assistant Manager for a non-profit making organization group with a cause to assist the blind in our society called White Cane foundation Trust. In his spare time, he loves to catch up on finance book publications and follow up on global economic current affairs.
