Learning Needs Analysis

Conducting a learning needs analysis (LNA) helps you to develop your people and organizational capability.

Blended Learning

Blended learning is the foundation for all of our programs. We incorporate the perfect blend of formal, informal, online and classroom techniques to increase your employees' knowledge retention. Our technology enables social learning communities and encourages collaboration across teams and business units.

Together with key stakeholders and line managers, we design an engaging program to help your employees gain a comprehensive, multi-faceted understanding of key topics, develop technical skills, and achieve specific business goals.

Graduate Trainee Programs

Our completely customized Graduate Programs provide an engaging learning journey that is specifically designed to help graduates quickly understand how your organization works and what's expected of them, whilst developing their professional skills, commercial awareness, and product knowledge to immediately deliver results.

About Us

We work with organizations to help them adapt to ever-changing people challenges by drawing up and executing practical, collaborative and efficient Human Capital programs relevant to their specific work conditions and requirements.

eNESST also exists to support organizations seeking to reinvent their training policies into innovative cost-cutting measures, yet efficient enough to quickly implement personnel's newly acquired skills to the workplace.

Our process for organizations starts with a training requirement analysis and specifications, followed by testing, orientation and then implementation. The learning material is then packaged and "locked" and privately secured for access only by the organization's employees.

Our pursuit to develop an agile and an engaging digital learning experience has led us on a journey of:

RE-ESTABLISHING

learning outcomes by focussing on content that meets the need of the hour

RE-BUILDING

content with an emphasis on maintaining the value of human connections and meaningful interactions, and the exchange of ideas and thoughts

RE-INVENTING

learning solutions hosted on multiple platforms and delivering varied outcomes

RE-DESIGNING

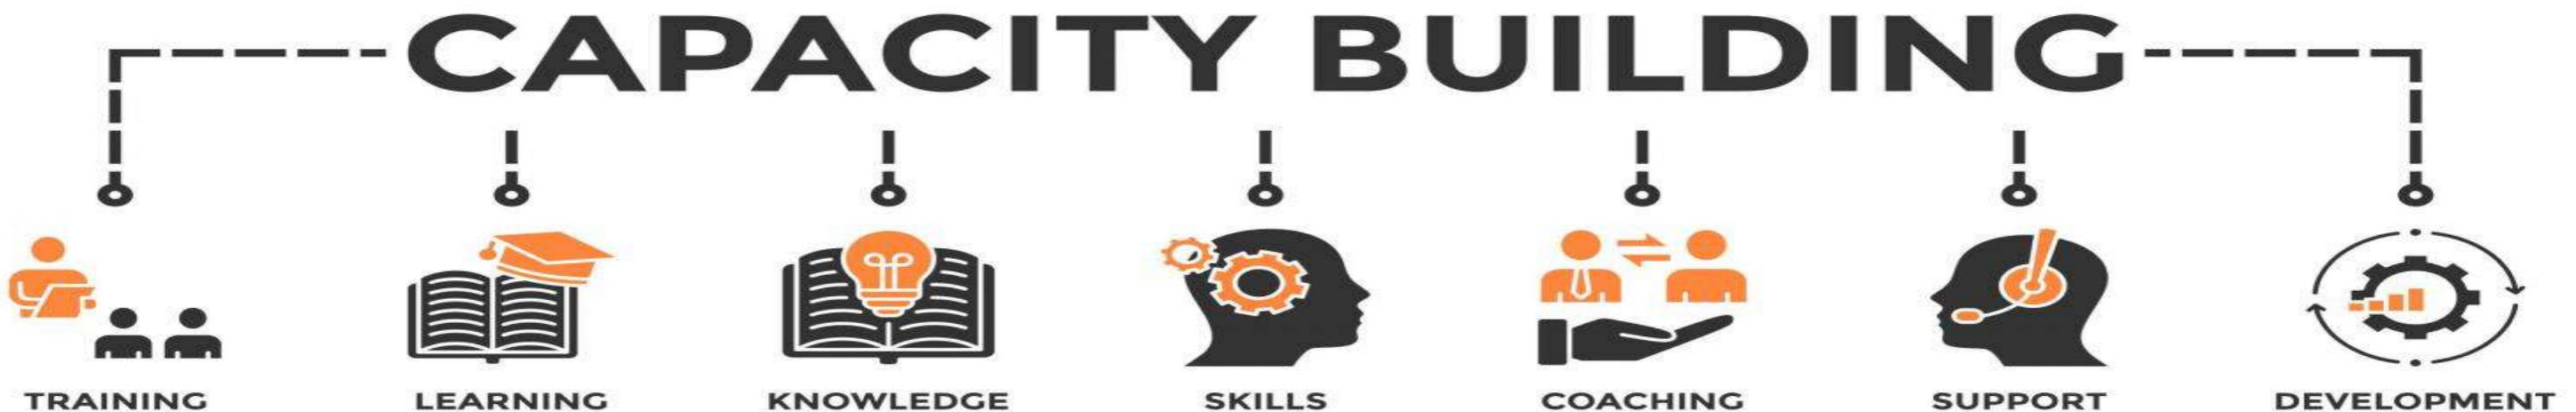

digitally engaging solutions to maintain focus and make learning enjoyable

RE-THINKING

the end-to-end experience and mapping a learning journey for an enhanced Customer Journey and Learning Experience

RE-CONNECTING

with our learners and communities by supplementing learning with free webcasts, and opportunities to engage in Q&As and discussions
