China is the second-largest economy, with growth and broad innovation across industries. Meanwhile, the current China-US valuation disparity is at a record high. Fundamental analysis suggests an attractive entry point, yet volatility persists. How can investors keep their long-term exposures while turning current volatility into potential returns? The answer could lie in the depth of China's options market, which has paved the way for tools such as covered calls and defined outcome strategies, generating options income and allowing investors to fine-tune their risk/reward profile.

Join KraneShares CIO, Brendan Ahern, and KraneShares COO, Jonathan Shelton, as they discuss:

- ▶ The latest developments in China's internet sector
- ▶ KWEB's volatility and its implications for investors compared to other global markets.
- ▶ The risk/return benefits of applying covered call and other structured outcome strategies to KWEB
- ▶ Comprehensive Q&A

Investors can submit questions to dan.langlais@kraneshares.com & bill.fagan@kraneshares.com.
