

Research Analyst

Company: Confidential (Banking Sector)

Location: Lahore

Job Description:

Responsibilities of the candidate:

- To prepare and present macro-economic analysis to internal and external stakeholders. This would entail analytical overviews about the general state of the economy and its probable future trends.
- Keep abreast of the latest monetary policy dynamics with particular focus on emerging trends and thoughts from the SBP. This would involve keeping an eye on data releases and policy thinking.
- Create financial models to assist the trading desks.
- Provide timely analytical reviews, presentations and data as required.
- Maintain data on major economic indicators as required by internal and external customers and strive to maintain and launch economic indicators on domestic economy such as CPI and PMI
- Assume the role of economic advisor to the desks and suggest them products and strategies relevant to the emerging economic scenario.
- Making presentations to ALCO, MANCOM and/or any other fora as required on the state of global and domestic economy. Presentations would be focused, insightful and thought provoking to stimulate the debate for policy formulation.
- Remain on top of macroeconomic data releases and create predictability of these data points.
- Be recognized as a team player and maintain cordial and professional relationships with Treasury's internal and external customers.
- Strive to engage in personal development through special training, learning activities and professional certifications.

Qualification/Work Experience

- Undergraduates/Graduates from renowned business schools with majors in Finance /Economics /Maths /Stats

-CFA candidates are encouraged to apply.

- 1 to 5 years of experience (fresh graduates are also encouraged to apply)

Interested candidates can forward their CVs to nataliafarrukh@gmail.com. Application Deadline: 20 September 2023